Mother Grieves for Missing Sons

Mrs. Kenneth Klein, mother of three boys who have been missing since late Nov. 10, rests at her Minneapolis home while a search goes on. Caps of two of the boys were fished from the cold Mississippi river Nov. 13, but otherwise no trace of them has been found. Mrs. Klein is holding pictures of the three missing boys and another son. They are (left to right) Daniel, 4; David, 6; and Kenneth, Jr., 8, the missing three, and Gordon, 9. The pictures were taken several years ago. (AP Wirephoto).

Sewer, Pay Items Face Councilmen

Bid Is Made for Fund to Improve Drains in Mid-City—'Freeze' Is Asked

Mayor Sends Letter

Newkirk Tells Council BPW Favors 'Relief Sewers'

The Common Council last night received requests for favorable action on salary increases and $40,000 needed to improve mid-town sewers.

The alderman also acted on a claim settlement, referred a new claim for reported sewer damage to the corporation counsel, and authorized bond anticipation notes to cover the recent purchase of two new fire trucks.

Alderman-at-large Joseph Kelly referred to the finance committee the request for salary increases from the Ulster County Chapter Civil Service Employes Association, which asks for the freezing of the $240 bonus granted in 1951 and seeks consideration of a new increase.

Says Letters Sent

A letter from Lt. James P. Martin, of the local police, who is president of the association, informed the council that letters had been sent to the heads of city departments asking that provision be made for the pay boost.

This communication explained, he said, that at a recent meeting of the association's salary committee, "I was instructed to request of you when making up your budget for 1952 to include the freezing of the $240 bonus received for 1951 and also to place an item in your budget requesting your board to include a 15 per cent raise, or if this is not possible to include an item for another bonus for 1952 of at least 15 per cent."

Voted in Favor

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk informed the council by letter that the Board of Public Works voted recently in favor of construction "relief sewers" on a section of Broadway, Staples, Levan and Andrew street at an estimated cost of $40,000 and he asked the aldermen to authorize the money.

The improved sewers, the mayor explained, will relieve surcharge in an area serving many large structures which were built since the original sewer was installed. These include the high school, hospitals, M.J.M. School and additional high school buildings.

The proposal was left with the finance committee for a report at a later meeting.

To Pay for Trucks

On recommendation of Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly, the aldermen voted to authorize bond anticipation notes in the sum of $17,500 to cover the cost of two fire trucks recently placed with Cordts and Rapid Hose Companies. A bond ordinance covering this sum was adopted in April.

The council authorized the mayor to present the city's application petitioning the New York State Youth Commission for the usual aid in defraying expenses of the local recreation program.

A letter from Andrew J. Murphy, 3rd, head of the local recreation department, explained that the annual allotment from the commission is $2,158.

Clam Is Filed

Miss Mary Grabiec, of 57 Murray street, filed a claim for $1,129, for damage which she says, came from a defective city sewer. It was referred to the corporation counsel.

The claimant's letter said that in 1946 during heavy rains basement rooms in her house were flooded due to stoppage of a city sewer. It damaged furniture, a stove and floor covering, and was found to be caused by a "huge rolling pin" she said.

A claim was filed on this, she said, and was disallowed, but since then the house has started

General Is Seen As Possibility

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's newest blast at the Truman administration increased talk among some Republicans today of his possibilities as a 1952 presidential candidate.

But Senator Bricker, a backer of his Ohio Senate colleague, Robert A. Taft, told reporters if the GOP national convention "was held tomorrow Bob Taft would be the nominee." Taft is the only announced candidate.

Backers of a third possible candidate Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, said meanwhile they are setting up national and state organizations to conduct a campaign to obtain the Republican nomination for him. The announcement was made by Senator Duff (R.-Pa.) and former Senator Harry Darby of Kansas, who said details will be published shortly. Both contend Eisenhower is a Republican and will be available. The general has not committed himself on either point.

In Sacramento, meanwhile, Gov. Earl Warren is expected to answer "yes" today to the appeal of some GOP leaders in California that he make a try for the country's top job. Warren, No. 2 man on the Republican ticket in 1948, reveals his decision at a news conference (1 p. m., EST).

Is No Candidate

MacArthur has said publicly he is "not a candidate for the office of president" and has "no political ambitions of any sort." He is known to have said essentially the same thing to Republicans who have urged him privately to make himself available.

Those who have talked to him report the general intends to take an active speaking part in next year's presidential campaign, in something of the role of an elder statesman. In a Seattle speech last night MacArthur spoke of "diplomatic blunders abroad and reckless spendthrift aims at home" much as Taft has done.

Despite his disavowals of interest, a segment of the Republican party continues to believe that MacArthur, who will be 72 next January, offers the Republicans a glamorous figure and a dramatic speaker who might well find a place on their ticket.

Essentially, those Republicans who are thinking most about MacArthur are counted in the Taft camp. There have even been some suggestions that Taft and MacArthur team up, but those who know the senator and the general well are certain neither would be interested in second place.

Returns From Trip

Rep. Cole (R-N. Y.), just returned from a six weeks' trip to Europe during which he talked to Eisenhower, said he has a "very strong" feeling the general is not a candidate for the GOP nomination.

Cole told a reporter he came away convinced that Eisenhower is interested primarily in stopping communism and that "everything else, I feel, is secondary to the general—and that includes the Presidency of the United States."

Cole's concluding talk with the general took place two days be-

South Koreans Suffer Particular Hatred, Is Report

Pusan, Korea, Nov. 14 (AP)—The U. S. Eighth Army's top lawyer today said Communist have killed at least 5,790 United Nations prisoners of war, other than South Korean troops, in atrocity slayings since the start of the war.

Col. James M. Hanley of Seattle, chief of the Eighth Army's judge advocate section, said in a statement nearly 75 per cent of the listed victims were Americans and the rest volunteers from other countries.

"The figures compiled by the United Nations command are far from complete," Hanley said, "but show a record of killings and barbarism unique even in Communist China."

He said untabulated atrocity killings of South Korean soldiers probably far outnumber the tabulated losses and do not even touch atrocity slayings of Korean civilians.

Hanley said South Korean military casualties in general have run at least twice that of other UN countries.

Particular Animosity

He said also that North Korean and Chinese Red troops have shown particular animosity toward South Korean soldiers and there have been occasions when captured South Koreans were murdered but other UN troops taken with them were spared.

Hanley's statement estimated about 250,000 Korean civilians had been killed by Communists since the start of the fighting.

He said 25,575 political prisoners and local South Korean officials were killed in the Red retreat to North Korea in the fall of 1950. An additional 10,284 North Korean civilians were killed in October as the North Korean Army made a further retreat toward the Yalu river border between Korea and Manchuria. Most of the latter were labeled "reactionaries," Hanley said.

Hanley's figures showed that North Korean Reds had killed about 3,000 American prisoners of war up to Oct. 31, 1950, about the time Red China entered the fighting. From then on most of the atrocity killings have been the work of Chinese Reds, he said.

Figures Broken Down

Since the Chinese entered the war they have killed 2,643 UN soldiers, exclusive of South Koreans, Hanley reported. He said North Korean troops in that time had committed only 147 atrocity slayings.

Hanley broke down the killings attributed to Chinese since Nov. 1, 1950 as follows:

Americans, 2,513; Turks, 40; British, 10; Belgians, five; other UN troops, 75.

"This is in sharp conflict with the Chinese claim of compliance with the Geneva Convention in the treatment of war prisoners," Hanley said. The Chinese Communist government did not sign the Geneva Convention.

Hanley said release of American prisoners by Chinese Reds last winter was "an obvious propaganda attempt to create a favorable atmosphere for future captures."

"That attempt was futile and that it was so recognized by the Chinese is evident from the record of the number of atrocities and their failure since early last spring to release additional prisoners."

ManFoundHanged On Railroad Car

Coroner Gives Verdict of Suicide in Case of E. J. Heckel

Edward J. Heckel, 50, of 122 Downs street, former local printer who had worked recently upstate, was found hanged on a cattle car off Cornell street this morning.

Coroner Ernest A. Kelly gave a verdict of death by suicide.

Police headquarters was notified at 7:06 a. m., by Leon Wilber of the Leon Wilber & Son coal yard, Tremper avenue, that a man was hanging from the side of a car on a siding behind the coal yard.

Officers Edward Leonard and Gerald Every investigated and found that the man had tied one end of a sash cord to a top slab of the cattle car and apparently had pushed himself free of a lower step on the car.

Note on Coat

Pinned to his coat, the officer said, was a plastic bag containing a note and other papers. The note asked that A. Carr & Son, Anthony Erena, of the local Moose Club, and Henry J. Beichert, of 51 Abbey street be notified.

The dangling body was first noticed by Charles Nestell, of 108 Henry street, an employe of the New York Central railroad's signal maintenance department, police said.

Authorities were unable to obtain full information on the man, but is was learned that he had been employed in a local printing shop several years ago and had more recently served as custodian at the local Moose Club. He had been boarding at the Downs street address, police said.

Insofar as could be learned Heckel has no close relatives in the city and details as to recent occupation were not available. He was well dressed, the officers said. One source indicated that he had worked recently in Albany.

The body was turned over to A. Carr & Son as requested and funeral arrangements will be announced.

Bradley Is in England

London, Nov. 14 (AP)—(AP)—Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, arrived by plane today for talks with prime military leaders on Atlantic defense. He had lunch with Prime Minister Churchill and War Secretary Antony Head. "The talks concern, in the main, points of the agenda for the meeting of the military committee of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO)," Bradley told newsmen.

Halley Takes Oath

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—Rudolph Halley, former chief counsel to the Senate Crime Committee, today took the oath of office as president of the New York City Council. Halley won a smashing victory in the Nov. 6 election as the candidate of the Liberal, Fusion and Independent parties. He defeated Democrat Joseph T. Sharkey, acting council president, and Henry J. Latham, Republican.

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP)—The position of the Treasury Nov. 9: Net budget receipts $162,143,741.08; budget expenditures $179,213,882.27; cash balance $4,121,806,869.64; customs receipts for month $11,769,285.57; budget receipts fiscal year July 1, $16,166,117,853.31; budget expenditures fiscal year $21,992,910,577.79; budget deficit $5,826,791,724.48; total debt $257,870,696,978.20; increase over previous day $190,285.65; gold assets $22,283,339,766.86.

Columbia County's Acts Not in Jurisdiction, Is Report From Justices

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 14 (AP)—The Appellate Division decided today it had no right to launch an investigation of the Columbia county Surrogate's Court in connection with an alleged black market in babies.

The five-member tribunal refused to take any action on a request for the study, received last week from the Queen's County Grand Jury.

The court conferred on the question yesterday. The jury, one of three in New York city that has been investigating the alleged black market in adoptions, had asked the tribunal for "review and scrutiny" of the records of Surrogate Sherwood B. Speed.

The Appellate Division handed up no formal papers. Clerk John Herrick merely announced to newsmen that the justices had decided they had "no jurisdiction."

Awaits Notification

In New York, J. Irwin Shapiro, chief assistant Queens district attorney, said he will await formal notification of the Appellate Division's finding, and then refer the matter to the Court of Appeals.

The Queens jury said 89 fake adoptions had been handled in the Surrogate's Court, which is in Hudson.

The Queens jury wrote to the Appellate Division after it had indicted Marcus Siegel, a 52-year-old Brooklyn attorney, Nov. 1 in connection with an alleged adoption ring. District Attorney Frank S. Hogan of Manhattan labeled Siegel "the mastermind" of the alleged ring.

Siegel was one of nine persons, including four physicians, indicted in New York on charges of making about $500,000 in the last four years by selling babies for adoption.

Surrogate Speed has declined comment on the grand jury's letter to the Appellate Division. He said last July that "every paper for every adoption I ever handled was done in proper, judicial order."

Hogan said the surrogate had testified before the grand jury after signing a waiver of immunity.

The district attorney gave no explanation why Siegel allegedly took the cases to Hudson.

Siegel has been charged with subornation of perjury—inducing a person to lie—and several violations of the state adoption laws. He has pleaded innocent, and is free on bail pending trial.

225 Persons Drown

Tehran, Iran, Nov. 14 (AP)—The governor general of Guilan province said today that an estimated 225 persons drowned when floods swept away the entire village of Roodsar near the Caspian Sea recently. Governor General Arsalan Khalatbari told newsmen 800 families were made homeless and damage totaled 15 million rials ($300,000).

Two More Jurors Needed in Action For Kelly's Retrial

Two Accepted Tuesday, One at Morning Session in Court

The selection of a 12-man jury and two alternates for the first degree murder trial of Edward H. Kelly, Ashokan, nears completion today with the acceptance of juror number 10 before the noon recess in County Court.

Kelly faces a first degree murder charge for the shooting of Mrs. Eloise McHugh on May 22, 1950.

Lillian Phillips, Mt. Tremper housewife, was accepted this morning in court as the 10th juror.

Selection of jurors progressed slowly this morning as both sides examined at great length prospective members of the panel.

Two Accepted

Tuesday two jurors were accepted but the net gain in the jury box was only one, since Mrs. Marie L. Bush was excused from the panel. William C. Petry was moved up to seat No. 7 to replace the Oak street juror who was excused by consent.

The two jurors accepted in Tuesday's afternoon action were Arleigh C. Henry, Port Ewen electrical contractor, who was accepted as the eighth juror and Mrs. Rose P. Peters, Albany avenue extension, who was acceptable to both sides as the No. 9 juror. Mrs. Peters is collector of School District 8, Town of Ulster.

No denial will be made that Kelly fired the rifle on Main street which killed Mrs. McHugh but his defense will be that at the time of the act he was not men-

India Asks Big Four Ease World Tension

Physicians Predict Full Recovery; 'Dead' Six Days

San Francisco, Nov. 14 (AP)—Flabbergasted physicians today predicted the complete recovery of Theresa Butler, 60-year-old widow pronounced dead and sent to the morgue six days ago.

Mrs. Butler abruptly came out of a five-day coma yesterday, talked coherently and recognized her daughter and Dr. J. C. Geiger, city-county public health director.

"From all medical information now possible," Mrs. Butler will probably fully recover," Geiger said after consulting with attending physicians and the daughter, Betty Butler.

A Gasp and a Twitch

Last Thursday, a doctor pronounced Mrs. Butler dead, presumably from an overdose of sleeping pills. But at the morgue a startled attendant heard a gasp and saw her jaw twitch. She was rushed to a hospital.

Until yesterday doctors had feared Mrs. Butler's brain would be damaged from being without oxygen while she appeared to be lifeless. That would have left her just "a living vegetable," they said.

When pronounced dead, she had no perceptible reflexes, blood pressure, breathing or heartbeat—basic symptoms of death.

Opinions are Altered

"Apparently," Dr. Geiger said, "we are going to have to alter our opinions of what are the criteria of death."

Dr. Geiger said he personally is interested in learning if the administration of whole blood played a significant part in her recovery.

Arrangements were made to transfer Mrs. Butler to a private institution and physicians planned a thorough study of the singular case.

Similar Pleas Are Made by Spokesmen for Denmark and Others

Paris, Nov. 14 (AP)—India today called on the Big Four foreign ministers to get together in a supreme effort to ease the tensions now frightening the world.

The suggestion by chief Indian Delegate Sir Benegal Rau was made to the United Nations General Assembly after a series of similar appeals by spokesmen for smaller countries.

The most fervent and most direct appeal was made by Denmark's Foreign Minister Ole Bjoern Kraft, who asked the leaders of the Soviet Union to grasp "the hand extended by the west."

Speakers from Colombia, Uruguay, and Paraguay pointed out that small nations had to pay the price of world war, although only the big powers had the means to start one.

Feel Situation Strongly

Kraft told the assembly: "Perhaps it is of no importance what a small country says and thinks, but the small states more than any other feel the anxiety and disquiet of the present day."

Therefore, he said, he "dared to appeal" to the Kremlin to accept the disarmament proposals submitted by the United States, Britain and France as "an adequate basis for work."

The diplomatic leaders of the Atlantic Pact—U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman—were not in the red and gold hall of the Palais de Chaillot as Kraft spoke.

It was understood that they were in their separate embassies working on Atlantic Pact problems for the North Atlantic Treaty conference in Rome next week.

Margaret Webster Directs Met's Opening Performance

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—Rudolf Bing's streamlined Metropolitan Opera began its second season last night with a new production and new singers—but pretty much the same opening night audience.

The few new faces in the opera-going crowd included British actor Rex Harrison and his beautiful wife, Lilli Parker; and commentator and Mrs. Lowell Thomas.

But lobby crowds gave cheers for many familiar faces—singers Gladys Swarthout, Marguerite Piazza, Jeanette McDonald and Eleanor Steber; actresses Faye Emerson and Ilona Massey, and Manager Bing himself, accompanied by British Ambassador Sir Oliver Franks and Lady Franks.

When the lavishly dressed and jeweled audience had settled itself in the Diamond Horshoe, they saw a new production of Verdi's "Aida."

Direction by Margaret Webster, costumes and sets by Rolf Gerard and choreography by Zachary Solov gave the 80-year-old opera a bright, modern look—and most of the audience seemed to like it.

An example of the new regime at the Met was an elaborately staged and costumed ballet in the triumphal scene. Negro dancer Janet Collins was starred. She is the first of her race to be a featured dancer at the Met.

Electrol Plans Scholarship For Ulster County Students

Electrol, Inc., today announced the offering of a scholarship in engineering to be awarded annually to an outstanding Ulster county student.

The scholarship represents full tuition for four years in any accredited engineering school of the student's choosing.

In announcing the proposal, B. N. Ashton, Electrol president, said the purpose of the offer is "to encourage talented and ambitious graduates of schools of Ulster county to enter the field of aircraft engineering and eventually to further the development of industry in Ulster county." The majority of Electrol's employes have been drawn from this county, he pointed out.

The plan provides for full tuition, including laboratory fees, not to exceed $700. The student may choose to specialize in either aeronautical, mechanical, civil or electrical engineering, provided his primary interest is a career in the aviation industry. Electrol scholars, if they choose, may obtain summer employment at Electrol. A committee of the firm's engineers will be available for consultation with, and guidance of, the scholarship holders throughout their college and training periods.

Applicants eligible for the award must be Ulster county residents who are seniors in public, private or parochial secondary schools, or a veteran under 25 years of age who can meet the scholastic requirements. Only

Subways Are in Red

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—New York's municipally-owned subway systems were $5,613,541 in the red for the three months ended Sept. 30, according to transit officials. A report issued yesterday forecast that the loss for the fiscal year ending next August 31 may come to $20,000,000, or $5,000,000 more than had been anticipated. Nothing official has been said about boosting the 10-cent fare, but there now is considerable speculation over the chances of a 15-cent charge for a ride that used to be five cents.

Sewer, Pay Items Face Councilmen

Bid Is Made for Fund to Improve Drains in Mid-City—'Freeze' Is Asked

Mayor Sends Letter

Newkirk Tells Council BPW Favors 'Relief Sewers'

The Common Council last night received requests for favorable action on salary increases and $40,000 needed to improve mid-town sewers.

The alderman also acted on a claim settlement, referred a new claim for reported sewer damage to the corporation counsel, and authorized bond anticipation notes to cover the recent purchase of two new fire trucks.

Alderman-at-large Joseph Kelly referred to the finance committee the request for salary increases from the Ulster County Chapter Civil Service Employes Association, which asks for the freezing of the $240 bonus granted in 1951 and seeks consideration of a new increase.

Says Letters Sent

A letter from Lt. James P. Martin, of the local police, who is president of the association, informed the council that letters had been sent to the heads of city departments asking that provision be made for the pay boost.

This communication explained, he said, that at a recent meeting of the association's salary committee, "I was instructed to request of you when making up your budget for 1952 to include the freezing of the $240 bonus received for 1951 and also to place an item in your budget requesting your board to include a 15 per cent raise, or if this is not possible to include an item for another bonus for 1952 of at least 15 per cent."

Voted in Favor

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk informed the council by letter that the Board of Public Works voted recently in favor of construction "relief sewers" on a section of Broadway, Staples, Levan and Andrew street at an estimated cost of $40,000 and he asked the aldermen to authorize the money.

The improved sewers, the mayor explained, will relieve surcharge in an area serving many large structures which were built since the original sewer was installed. These include the high school, hospitals, M.J.M. School and additional high school buildings.

The proposal was left with the finance committee for a report at a later meeting.

To Pay for Trucks

On recommendation of Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly, the aldermen voted to authorize bond anticipation notes in the sum of $17,500 to cover the cost of two fire trucks recently placed with Cordts and Rapid Hose Companies. A bond ordinance covering this sum was adopted in April.

The council authorized the mayor to present the city's application petitioning the New York State Youth Commission for the usual aid in defraying expenses of the local recreation program.

A letter from Andrew J. Murphy, 3rd, head of the local recreation department, explained that the annual allotment from the commission is $2,158.

Clam Is Filed

Miss Mary Grabiec, of 57 Murray street, filed a claim for $1,129, for damage which she says, came from a defective city sewer. It was referred to the corporation counsel.

The claimant's letter said that in 1946 during heavy rains basement rooms in her house were flooded due to stoppage of a city sewer. It damaged furniture, a stove and floor covering, and was found to be caused by a "huge rolling pin" she said.

A claim was filed on this, she said, and was disallowed, but since then the house has started

General Is Seen As Possibility

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's newest blast at the Truman administration increased talk among some Republicans today of his possibilities as a 1952 presidential candidate.

But Senator Bricker, a backer of his Ohio Senate colleague, Robert A. Taft, told reporters if the GOP national convention "was held tomorrow Bob Taft would be the nominee." Taft is the only announced candidate.

Backers of a third possible candidate Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, said meanwhile they are setting up national and state organizations to conduct a campaign to obtain the Republican nomination for him. The announcement was made by Senator Duff (R.-Pa.) and former Senator Harry Darby of Kansas, who said details will be published shortly. Both contend Eisenhower is a Republican and will be available. The general has not committed himself on either point.

In Sacramento, meanwhile, Gov. Earl Warren is expected to answer "yes" today to the appeal of some GOP leaders in California that he make a try for the country's top job. Warren, No. 2 man on the Republican ticket in 1948, reveals his decision at a news conference (1 p. m., EST).

Is No Candidate

MacArthur has said publicly he is "not a candidate for the office of president" and has "no political ambitions of any sort." He is known to have said essentially the same thing to Republicans who have urged him privately to make himself available.

Those who have talked to him report the general intends to take an active speaking part in next year's presidential campaign, in something of the role of an elder statesman. In a Seattle speech last night MacArthur spoke of "diplomatic blunders abroad and reckless spendthrift aims at home" much as Taft has done.

Despite his disavowals of interest, a segment of the Republican party continues to believe that MacArthur, who will be 72 next January, offers the Republicans a glamorous figure and a dramatic speaker who might well find a place on their ticket.

Essentially, those Republicans who are thinking most about MacArthur are counted in the Taft camp. There have even been some suggestions that Taft and MacArthur team up, but those who know the senator and the general well are certain neither would be interested in second place.

Returns From Trip

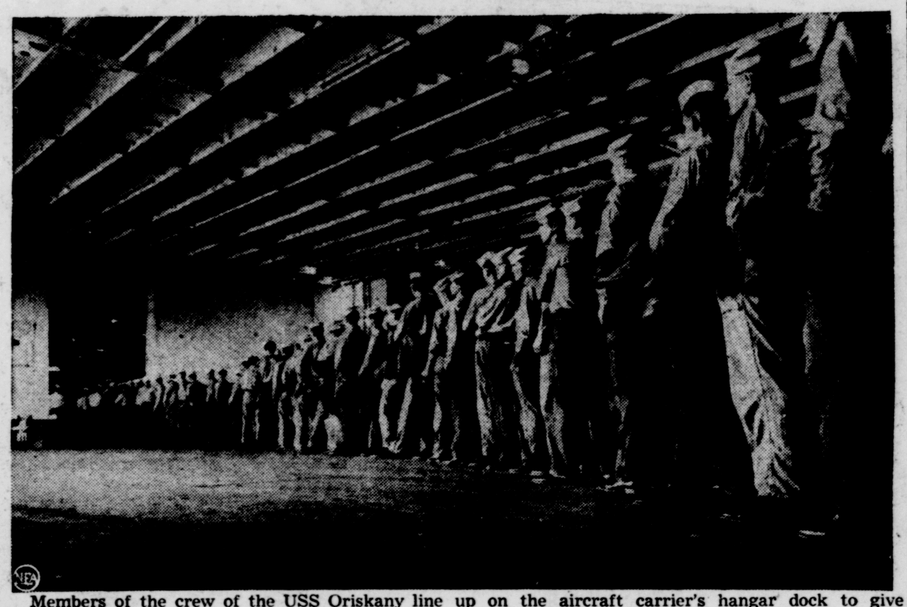

Rep. Cole (R-N. Y.), just returned from a six weeks' trip to Europe during which he talked to Eisenhower, said he has a "very strong" feeling the general is not a candidate for the GOP nomination.

Cole told a reporter he came away convinced that Eisenhower is interested primarily in stopping communism and that "everything else, I feel, is secondary to the general—and that includes the Presidency of the United States."

Cole's concluding talk with the general took place two days be-

Two Accepted Tuesday, One at Morning Session in Court

The selection of a 12-man jury and two alternates for the first degree murder trial of Edward H. Kelly, Ashokan, nears completion today with the acceptance of juror number 10 before the noon recess in County Court.

Kelly faces a first degree murder charge for the shooting of Mrs. Eloise McHugh on May 22, 1950.

Lillian Phillips, Mt. Tremper housewife, was accepted this morning in court as the 10th juror.

Selection of jurors progressed slowly this morning as both sides examined at great length prospective members of the panel.

Two Accepted

Tuesday two jurors were accepted but the net gain in the jury box was only one, since Mrs. Marie L. Bush was excused from the panel. William C. Petry was moved up to seat No. 7 to replace the Oak street juror who was excused by consent.

The two jurors accepted in Tuesday's afternoon action were Arleigh C. Henry, Port Ewen electrical contractor, who was accepted as the eighth juror and Mrs. Rose P. Peters, Albany avenue extension, who was acceptable to both sides as the No. 9 juror. Mrs. Peters is collector of School District 8, Town of Ulster.

No denial will be made that Kelly fired the rifle on Main street which killed Mrs. McHugh but his defense will be that at the time of the act he was not men-

India Asks Big Four Ease World Tension

Similar Pleas Are Made by Spokesmen for Denmark and Others

Paris, Nov. 14 (AP)—India today called on the Big Four foreign ministers to get together in a supreme effort to ease the tensions now frightening the world.

The suggestion by chief Indian Delegate Sir Benegal Rau was made to the United Nations General Assembly after a series of similar appeals by spokesmen for smaller countries.

The most fervent and most direct appeal was made by Denmark's Foreign Minister Ole Bjoern Kraft, who asked the leaders of the Soviet Union to grasp "the hand extended by the west."

Speakers from Colombia, Uruguay, and Paraguay pointed out that small nations had to pay the price of world war, although only the big powers had the means to start one.

Feel Situation Strongly

Kraft told the assembly: "Perhaps it is of no importance what a small country says and thinks, but the small states more than any other feel the anxiety and disquiet of the present day."

Therefore, he said, he "dared to appeal" to the Kremlin to accept the disarmament proposals submitted by the United States, Britain and France as "an adequate basis for work."

The diplomatic leaders of the Atlantic Pact—U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman—were not in the red and gold hall of the Palais de Chaillot as Kraft spoke.

It was understood that they were in their separate embassies working on Atlantic Pact problems for the North Atlantic Treaty conference in Rome next week.

Vishinsky Absent

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky was also absent. He plans to answer all western

Physicians Predict Full Recovery; 'Dead' Six Days

San Francisco, Nov. 14 (AP)—Flabbergasted physicians today predicted the complete recovery of Theresa Butler, 60-year-old widow pronounced dead and sent to the morgue six days ago.

Mrs. Butler abruptly came out of a five-day coma yesterday, talked coherently and recognized her daughter and Dr. J. C. Geiger, city-county public health director.

"From all medical information now possible," Mrs. Butler will probably fully recover," Geiger said after consulting with attending physicians and the daughter, Betty Butler.

A Gasp and a Twitch

Last Thursday, a doctor pronounced Mrs. Butler dead, presumably from an overdose of sleeping pills. But at the morgue a startled attendant heard a gasp and saw her jaw twitch. She was rushed to a hospital.

Until yesterday doctors had feared Mrs. Butler's brain would be damaged from being without oxygen while she appeared to be lifeless. That would have left her just "a living vegetable," they said.

When pronounced dead, she had no perceptible reflexes, blood pressure, breathing or heartbeat—basic symptoms of death.

Opinions are Altered

"Apparently," Dr. Geiger said, "we are going to have to alter our opinions of what are the criteria of death."

Dr. Geiger said he personally is interested in learning if the administration of whole blood played a significant part in her recovery.

Arrangements were made to transfer Mrs. Butler to a private institution and physicians planned a thorough study of the singular case.

Americans, 75 Per Cent, Lead Total

Figures Show Barbarism Unique Even in Red China, 8th Army's Legal Chief Says

ROKs Get Most

South Koreans Suffer Particular Hatred, Is Report

Pusan, Korea, Nov. 14 (AP)—The U. S. Eighth Army's top lawyer today said Communist have killed at least 5,790 United Nations prisoners of war, other than South Korean troops, in atrocity slayings since the start of the war.

Col. James M. Hanley of Seattle, chief of the Eighth Army's judge advocate section, said in a statement nearly 75 per cent of the listed victims were Americans and the rest volunteers from other countries.

"The figures compiled by the United Nations command are far from complete," Hanley said, "but show a record of killings and barbarism unique even in Communist China."

He said untabulated atrocity killings of South Korean soldiers probably far outnumber the tabulated losses and do not even touch atrocity slayings of Korean civilians.

Hanley said South Korean military casualties in general have run at least twice that of other UN countries.

Particular Animosity

He said also that North Korean and Chinese Red troops have shown particular animosity toward South Korean soldiers and there have been occasions when captured South Koreans were murdered but other UN troops taken with them were spared.

Hanley's statement estimated about 250,000 Korean civilians had been killed by Communists since the start of the fighting.

He said 25,575 political prisoners and local South Korean officials were killed in the Red retreat to North Korea in the fall of 1950. An additional 10,284 North Korean civilians were killed in October as the North Korean Army made a further retreat toward the Yalu river border between Korea and Manchuria. Most of the latter were labeled "reactionaries," Hanley said.

Hanley's figures showed that North Korean Reds had killed about 3,000 American prisoners of war up to Oct. 31, 1950, about the time Red China entered the fighting. From then on most of the atrocity killings have been the work of Chinese Reds, he said.

Figures Broken Down

Since the Chinese entered the war they have killed 2,643 UN soldiers, exclusive of South Koreans, Hanley reported. He said North Korean troops in that time had committed only 147 atrocity slayings.

Hanley broke down the killings attributed to Chinese since Nov. 1, 1950 as follows:

Americans, 2,513; Turks, 40; British, 10; Belgians, five; other UN troops, 75.

"This is in sharp conflict with the Chinese claim of compliance with the Geneva Convention in the treatment of war prisoners," Hanley said. The Chinese Communist government did not sign the Geneva Convention.

Hanley said release of American prisoners by Chinese Reds last winter was "an obvious propaganda attempt to create a favorable atmosphere for future captures."

"That attempt was futile and that it was so recognized by the Chinese is evident from the record of the number of atrocities and their failure since early last spring to release additional prisoners."

Subways Are in Red

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—New York's municipally-owned subway systems were $5,613,541 in the red for the three months ended Sept. 30, according to transit officials. A report issued yesterday forecast that the loss for the fiscal year ending next August 31 may come to $20,000,000, or $5,000,000 more than had been anticipated. Nothing official has been said about boosting the 10-cent fare, but there now is considerable speculation over the chances of a 15-cent charge for a ride that used to be five cents.

Margaret Webster Directs Met's Opening Performance

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—Rudolf Bing's streamlined Metropolitan Opera began its second season last night with a new production and new singers—but pretty much the same opening night audience.

The few new faces in the opera-going crowd included British actor Rex Harrison and his beautiful wife, Lilli Parker; and commentator and Mrs. Lowell Thomas.

But lobby crowds gave cheers for many familiar faces—singers Gladys Swarthout, Marguerite Piazza, Jeanette McDonald and Eleanor Steber; actresses Faye Emerson and Ilona Massey, and Manager Bing himself, accompanied by British Ambassador Sir Oliver Franks and Lady Franks.

When the lavishly dressed and jeweled audience had settled itself in the Diamond Horshoe, they saw a new production of Verdi's "Aida."

Direction by Margaret Webster, costumes and sets by Rolf Gerard and choreography by Zachary Solov gave the 80-year-old opera a bright, modern look—and most of the audience seemed to like it.

An example of the new regime at the Met was an elaborately staged and costumed ballet in the triumphal scene. Negro dancer Janet Collins was starred. She is the first of her race to be a featured dancer at the Met.

Electrol Plans Scholarship For Ulster County Students

Electrol, Inc., today announced the offering of a scholarship in engineering to be awarded annually to an outstanding Ulster county student.

The scholarship represents full tuition for four years in any accredited engineering school of the student's choosing.

In announcing the proposal, B. N. Ashton, Electrol president, said the purpose of the offer is "to encourage talented and ambitious graduates of schools of Ulster county to enter the field of aircraft engineering and eventually to further the development of industry in Ulster county." The majority of Electrol's employes have been drawn from this county, he pointed out.

The plan provides for full tuition, including laboratory fees, not to exceed $700. The student may choose to specialize in either aeronautical, mechanical, civil or electrical engineering, provided his primary interest is a career in the aviation industry. Electrol scholars, if they choose, may obtain summer employment at Electrol. A committee of the firm's engineers will be available for consultation with, and guidance of, the scholarship holders throughout their college and training periods.

Applicants eligible for the award must be Ulster county residents who are seniors in public, private or parochial secondary schools, or a veteran under 25 years of age who can meet the scholastic requirements. Only

TV Course

Youngstown, O. (AP) — Donald R. Terry is in a cast from shoulders to toes, but that doesn't stop him from continuing with his college studies. He's taking a college correspondence course by television—the first student in Western Reserve University's "Television College." The courses are televised over WEWS, Cleveland. Terry was injured in an automobile accident. His present courses are introduction to psychology and European literature since 1914.

Bad Storms Hit Midwest Sections

(By The Associated Press)

A series of tornadoes and violent electrical and windstorms struck damaging blows across wide areas of the mid-continent yesterday.

The twisters killed at least one person and injured eight others. Property damage was expected to run in hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The mid-November storms lashed most of the midwest. Heavy rain hit many areas. Winds of 100 miles an hour whipped across communities in the path of the tornadoes which struck in Illinois, Missouri, Indiana and Kentucky.

Scores of Homes Damaged

Scores of homes were damaged. Communications were disrupted, trees uprooted and traffic slowed in many cities and towns in the path of the destructive gales and electrical storms.

The large intense storm centered in northern Wisconsin last night. It brought showers and thunderstorms from the southern Great Lakes region southward through the lower Ohio valley to the middle Mississippi valley. There was heavy rainfall in the northern Great Lakes region which changed to snow over the northern Plains States and parts of the north central region.

The eight persons injured in tornadoes were in the southeast Missouri-southern Illinois region.

Man Is Killed

A freak tornado hit Kentucky Dam Village State Park at Gilbertsville, Ky., killing one man, destroying two buildings and damaging another.

There were several wet spots of rain and snow today.

Thundershowers extended over areas west of the Appalachians with heavy falls in some regions. Rain fell in the western Great Lakes district while moderate to heavy snow was reported in Minnesota. Light showers of rain and snow pelted the western Plateau States.

It was colder in most of the northern and central plains but it was warmer from the Gulf coast northeastward into New England. Temperatures were around normal levels in the western part of the country.

Tubercular Deer Killed Near Utica

Utica, N. Y., Nov. 14 (AP)—A tubercular deer has been shot in the Adirondacks, and a state official says it is the first on record in the northern forest preserve.

Dr. David E. Bigwood, Jr., city health officer, said last night evidence of tuberculosis had been found in the carcass in tests at the Utica State Hospital Laboratory.

He said the deer had been killed near Foresport, 30 miles north of Utica.

In Albany, R. W. Darrow, supervisor of game research for the State Conservation Department, said he recalled only one other case of TB in a deer. That was in Delaware county, in the Catskills.

Dog's Origin

Origin of the dog is rather obscure. Most important ancestor of the modern dog seems to have been the wolf. Mixed with other wild canines, an independent species developed. Cave drawings made by men of the Old Stone Age show hunters with a dog-like animal. By the time the New Stone Age opened, there were true domesticated dogs.

City Council Passes TV Service, Tow Car Bills

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—The City Council approved yesterday bills requiring licensing of television service men and establishing supervision over the operation of towing cars.

Another bill referred to committee after being introduced by Acting Council President Joseph T. Sharkey, was intended to freeze the October 1 rent of "moderate income" tenants in residences aided by tax exemption, city financing or condemnation proceedings.

The television and towing car bills were passed as safeguards against abuses reported to numerous complaints of motorists and television owners.

The television bill would outlaw work by unlicensed service contractors or service dealers after February 1, 1952, establishing a license system with fees ranging from $5 to $25 per year, and an eight man supervisory committee to be appointed by the mayor.

St. Joseph's Holy Name Enjoys Smoker

The regular meeting of St. Joseph's Holy Name Society was held in the school hall Sunday evening at 8 o'clock, with approximately 90 members in attendance.

The meeting was followed by a smoker, consisting of sound movies, in technicolor furnished and shown through the courtesy of M. Smith, also a musical program consisting of old and new songs by Peter Matthews, banjo; Jack Carter, guitar and Frank Bennett, harmonica. Cider and crullers were served.

The entertainment committee consisted of Howard Fox, Edward O'Connor and Peter Matthews. Before the showing of the movies, Father Simmons gave a short but inspiring talk.

Dangerous Gas

Carbon monoxide gas cannot be smelled, and that makes it very dangerous. It is formed as a result of incomplete combustion. When carbon burns, one atom normally unites with two atoms of oxygen to form carbon dioxide, which is not poisonous. If there is insufficient oxygen, only one atom unites with a carbon atom and the result is carbon monoxide.

TV Course

Youngstown, O. (AP) — Donald R. Terry is in a cast from shoulders to toes, but that doesn't stop him from continuing with his college studies. He's taking a college correspondence course by television —the first student in Western Reserve University's "Television College." The courses are televised over WEWS, Cleveland. Terry was injured in an automobile accident. His present courses are introduction to psychology and European literature since 1914.

Bad Storms Hit Midwest Sections

(By The Associated Press)

A series of tornadoes and violent electrical and windstorms struck damaging blows across wide areas of the mid-continent yesterday.

The twisters killed at least one person and injured eight others. Property damage was expected to run in hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The mid-November storms lashed most of the midwest. Heavy rain hit many areas. Winds of 100 miles an hour whipped across communities in the path of the tornadoes which struck in Illinois, Missouri, Indiana and Kentucky.

Scores of Homes Damaged

Scores of homes were damaged. Communications were disrupted, trees uprooted and traffic slowed in many cities and towns in the path of the destructive gales and electrical storms.

The large intense storm centered in northern Wisconsin last night. It brought showers and thunderstorms from the southern Great Lakes region southward through the lower Ohio valley to the middle Mississippi valley. There was heavy rainfall in the northern Great Lakes region which changed to snow over the northern Plains States and parts of the north central region.

The eight persons injured in tornadoes were in the southeast Missouri-southern Illinois region.

Man Is Killed

A freak tornado hit Kentucky Dam Village State Park at Gilbertsville, Ky., killing one man, destroying two buildings and damaging another.

There were several wet spots of rain and snow today.

Thundershowers extended over areas west of the Appalachians with heavy falls in some regions. Rain fell in the western Great Lakes district while moderate to heavy snow was reported in Minnesota. Light showers of rain and snow pelted the western Plateau States.

It was colder in most of the northern and central plains but it was warmer from the Gulf coast northeastward into New England. Temperatures were around normal levels in the western part of the country.

10-Day Visit

Baltimore (AP) — A 56-year-old man from Arkansas had the right plea, but the wrong town. "Just give me a break, your honor," he pleaded before Magistrate John Berry on a drunk and disorderly count. "I'll get out of town right away. I'm on my way to Baltimore to visit my brother." He was taken over to the city jail to visit the boys there for 10 days.

Writing Job

Ft. Madison, Ia., (AP)—Take it from a pair of pen and pencil writing twins: the first seven millions words are the hardest. The Williams sisters were troubled with writer's cramp during the first few months they worked. But six months and seven million words later, they reported they were no longer bothered by arm or hand cramps.

Tubercular Deer Killed Near Utica

Utica, N. Y., Nov. 14 (AP)—A tubercular deer has been shot in the Adirondacks, and a state official says it is the first on record in the northern forest preserve.

Dr. David E. Bigwood, Jr., city health officer, said last night evidence of tuberculosis had been found in the carcass in tests at the Utica State Hospital Laboratory.

He said the deer had been killed near Foresport, 30 miles north of Utica.

In Albany, R. W. Darrow, supervisor of game research for the State Conservation Department, said he recalled only one other case of TB in a deer. That was in Delaware county, in the Catskills.

Dog's Origin

Origin of the dog is rather obscure. Most important ancestor of the modern dog seems to have been the wolf. Mixed with other wild canines, an independent species developed. Cave drawings made by men of the Old Stone Age show hunters with a dog-like animal. By the time the New Stone Age opened, there were true domesticated dogs.

City Council Passes TV Service, Tow Car Bills

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—The City Council approved yesterday bills requiring licensing of television service men and establishing supervision over the operation of towing cars.

Another bill referred to committee after being introduced by Acting Council President Joseph T. Sharkey, was intended to freeze the October 1 rent of "moderate income" tenants in residences aided by tax exemption, city financing or condemnation proceedings.

The television and towing car bills were passed as safeguards against abuses reported to numerous complaints of motorists and television owners.

The television bill would outlaw work by unlicensed service contractors or service dealers after February 1, 1952, establishing a license system with fees ranging from $5 to $25 per year, and an eight man supervisory committee to be appointed by the mayor.

St. Joseph's Holy Name Enjoys Smoker

The regular meeting of St. Joseph's Holy Name Society was held in the school hall Sunday evening at 8 o'clock, with approximately 90 members in attendance.

The meeting was followed by a smoker, consisting of sound movies, in technicolor furnished and shown through the courtesy of M. Smith, also a musical program consisting of old and new songs by Peter Matthews, banjo; Jack Carter, guitar and Frank Bennett, harmonica. Cider and crullers were served.

The entertainment committee consisted of Howard Fox, Edward O'Connor and Peter Matthews. Before the showing of the movies, Father Simmons gave a short but inspiring talk.

Dangerous Gas

Carbon monoxide gas cannot be smelled, and that makes it very dangerous. It is formed as a result of incomplete combustion. When carbon burns, one atom normally unites with two atoms of oxygen to form carbon dioxide, which is not poisonous. If there is insufficient oxygen, only one atom unites with a carbon atom and the result is carbon monoxide.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, NOVEMBER 14, 1951

NATIONAL EDUCATION WEEK

The public schools of Kingston and Ulster County currently are observing National Education Week, which focuses attention on the schools.

The function of the schools is education and today's philosophy is that the child must be educated and developed mentally, morally, physically and emotionally. The schools can not be expected to do the entire job alone. Other educational agencies must do their share if the child is to become a useful citizen. Ranking with the school in responsibility are both the home and the church. Youth agencies and organizations for young people as well as the newspapers, the radio and the movies also have educational responsibilities.

Mrs. John E. Hayes, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers in calling attention to the relationship of the school to the home and the commuuity says there can be no outsiders in education today. From the moment the child wakes in the morning until he climbs into bed at night, he never stops learning. It is necessary, therefore, constantly to improve not only the school but also the general environment in which the child receives his education. Recognizing that the lasting defenses of this nation lie in the character and citizenship of its children—home, school and community share as equal partners. Theirs is the responsibility for the growth of all our children toward maturity into useful, fruitful citizens able to sustain and enhance the free ways of free men.

The two major activities which distinguish American Education Week are school visitation and educational interpretation. A special invitation is extended to parents to visit the schools this week.

BURIED TREASURE

A story from Portsmouth, England, has all the trappings of a novel by Robert Louis Stevenson. Fifteen adventurers have set sail for the South China seas in search of pirate treasure believed to have been buried by Captain William Kidd, as swashbuckling a buccaneer as ever paced a deck or hoisted the skull and crossbones. Reading about the charts found in an old desk, which inspired the expedition, one almost expects to encounter some such character as Long John Silver, straight from the pages of "Treasure Island," with his parrot perched on his shoulder talking about pieces of eight.

There is something incongruous and vaguely romantic about reading of a hunt for pirate gold in this day of the jet airplane and streamlined living. Perhaps this expedition, like so many before, will fail to find the prize. It may even be, as some people maintain, that Captain Kidd's treasure never really existed. But the spirit of adventure which prompts men to go off to seek it is bound to fascinate those of us who remember boyhood dreams of such enterprises, but who remain at home to carry on the tasks of earning a living by less colorful but more reliable methods.

QUALIFIED ACCEPTANCE

One of the qualities of the person with a solid spiritual background is the ability to accept undesirable situations which confront him without ranting against them, and yet to continue to try to better them. It is not a matter of accepting a situation with a shrug or a sigh and the declaration that, "It was meant to be," for that is spiritual laziness. It is a matter of asking very seriously, "Was it meant to be?"

When a person of spiritual strength faces conditions, in personal or community life, which his conscience tells him are wrong, he cannot shrug them off with the easy explanation that they were brought about by powers higher than himself. He cannot set his mind at ease by saying that there is nothing he can do. He finds ease of mind by knowing that he will have the fortitude to endure galling circumstances as long as he can see that it is unavoidable, and as long as he is really trying to set things right. His is a qualified acceptance of prevailing conditions which is not acquiescence, but includes an unflagging will to try to make things better.

The fable of the goose and the golden egg is losing out; soon the goose will be regarded as more valuable for its meat than for the eggs.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE GREATNESS THAT WAS ROME

The Romans had a high civil official called a censor whose business it was to tell the truth. Marcus Cato, a plain and rugged man, aspired to the post, but the aristocrats and the rich and those who preferred a smooth life were opposed to his candidacy.

They brought forth a number of very fine candidates, soft spoken and gentle, who made promises to the people to give them an indulgent and easy government.

Cato would have no competition with them. He delivered tough speeches and advised the people to choose not the gentlest but the roughest of physicians. He painted no glowing picture of himself nor lied about his intentions. Of this, Plutarch says:

". . . He (Cato) added, too, that he saw all the rest endeavouring after the office with all intent, because they were afraid of those who would exercise it justly, as they ought. And so truly great and so worthy of great men to be its leaders was, it would seem, the Roman people, that they did not fear the severity and grim countenance of Cato, but rejecting those smooth promisers who were ready to do all things to ingratiate themselves, they took him. . . ."

It is interesting to note that all the same arguments against candidates were used in ancient times that are used against them today. For instance, they say that Senator Taft lacks beauty of appearance. That he does. He would never win a beauty contest at Atlantic City, nor does he have the charm of manner or the gracefulness of personality of a Franklin D. Roosevelt or a General Eisenhower. He is a homespun sort of personality who talks like a vigorous Yankee—and thinks with all the intellectual toughness of one.

He makes no attempt to paint roseate pictures of the world, his country, or even of himself. Like ancient Marcus Cato, he gathers the facts and presents them and if they are unpalatable, it might make him unpopular for saying what is undesirable. Yet, if that is the way it needs to be said, he says it so, and it might have saved us our 100,000 casualties in Korea had we listened.

Perhaps had Bob Taft tailored himself for popularity, he might have been president by now and the country would have been saved many an ordeal, but then he would hot have been Bob Taft, but a figurine that some trifler painted to fit a mood. And as the mood seemed to change, additional paints and lacquers would be added until it left an odor of an icebox dish cooked over two or three times to which perhaps a curry or a tomato paste had been added to disguise its staleness. Those who fear facts and arithmetic but who specialize in the broad and general so often dislike Taft.

Too many of our politicians substitute glamour for integrity, mannerisms for graciousness, the quip and gag for knowledge and wisdom, and thus we get foul government in which corruption vies with chicanery. Think of what a low estate we have sunk to if any public person can make such a speech as Captain Victor Hunt Harding, executive director of the Democratic National Congressional Committee, permitted himself to say to a meeting:

"A great many government workers may feel that they have been blanketed in under civil service. But, if the Republicans get control in the future, they'll find the blanket yanked out, and they'll shiver."

Then he continued:

(It is) "unfortunate that many who came here as a result of the Democratic Party have so completely forgotten this and now feel they secured their positions because of their own ability and intelligence."

There it is, the degeneracy of a nation. Not ability and intelligence matter, but loyalty to a party, obedience to the dictates of those who prefer to give something for nothing rather than to get a dollar's worth for a dollar paid, which means service and responsibility.

It was stimulating to re-read Plutarch on Cato because it is all so modern, so like all the things that happen about us. And it is particularly pertinent to Bob Taft, a factual, intellectual economist who speaks his mind with utmost candor. His opponents say that he has all the virtues that Plutarch attributed to Marcus Cato, but they say that he cannot be elected because he lacks what they call "sex appeal." If that is the test of civic virtue, why not elect Franchot Tone, the actor who spit at a woman? Apparently he does possess sex appeal.

That Body of Yours

ELECTRIC SHOCK TREATMENT

Even before Wars 1 and 2, there were a large number of civilians wearing metal plates in their skulls because of injuries. Since the wars there are, of course, a great many more. Many of these victims not only suffer with headaches but also with deep depression of spirits. One of the latest methods of removing depression of spirits is by electric shock treatments, causing convulsions from which many of the patients get great relief from their symptoms. The problem was whether it would be safe for a patient with a metal plate in his skull to undergo electric shock treatment.

In the Journal of Mental Science, London, Dr. H. Osmond gives an account of electric convulsion treatment of a patient with a tantalum plate in his skull, which is the first report of such a case. The patient was a man, aged 30, with a depressive state following severe head injury. Skull X-ray pates showed a large metal plate in the left front and side of forehead and a retained metal fragment on the inner surface of the roof of the skull near the right border of the plate. There was naturally some doubt as to what might happen if electric-shock convulsion treatments were given to a patient with a tantalum plate in his head, but the patient consented to the treatment and seven electric convulsion treatments were given without untoward effect. Complete recovery followed.

While there may not be many cases like this one, with the increase in extensive brain surgery, it is possible that from time to time electric shock treatment might be withheld from other patients because of doubts about the safety when, if given, it could perhaps produce speedy relief.

I have written several times about the operation lobotomy (the cutting of the nerves supplying the large front lobes of the brain). This gives relief from deep grief and depression but in some cases, while giving this needed relief, leaves the patient almost childish, accepting no responsibility in life whatever.

If the simpler electric shock treatment can be substituted for this operation in the case of a patient with metal plates in his skull, then thanks is due to the above-mentioned patient who first gave his consent to this treatment.

"Pardon, Suh, I Figure It's My Turn to Drive, Suh!"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — Mrs. Truman makes no bones about her desire to turn the White House over to new tenants.

At a reception the other day, the first lady confided to a friend: "This is a terrible life. We don't have any privacy at all. If I want to go across the hall to see the President or Margaret, I have to get dressed up. I can't just slip a kimono on, for you never know who you'll find in the hall. I'll be glad when we get back to Independence and can live like human beings."

Mrs. Truman said she thought the government should provide private living quarters away from the White House for the first family. She was referring, of course, to the fact that Secret Service vigilance has been tightened since the attempt on the President's life, so that guards are on every floor of Blair House.

Montana Monopoly

The more the Justice Department's anti-trust division scrutinizes NPA deal to put Anaconda Copper into the aluminum business, the more it looks like the most ironic gift to big business of the entire Truman administration.

Government attorneys now find that Anaconda's powerful Montana newspapers and Anaconda's close friend, Montana Power and Light, bitterly opposed the government power project at Hungry Horse, Montana. Now, Anaconda has turned around, wants all of Montana's share of the government power it fought. And the NPA plans to fork it over.

Anaconda newspapers also criticized the Harvey Machine Company's methods of lobbying for the aluminum-power contract and RFC loan. Now Anaconda has turned round and embraced the very same Harvey Machine Co.

More alarming Justice Department attorneys find to be the strangle hold which Anaconda will now have on the State of Montana. Already the giant copper company controls most of the published news in that state. It owns the Butte Daily Post, the Montana Standard, published at Anaconda, the Billings Gazette, the Livingston Enterprise, the Daily Missoulian, the Helena Independent Record, and the Western News of Libby, Mont.

And not having been able to acquire a paper at Great Falls, it has now purchased radio station KFBB in Great Falls—subject to FCC approval.

Muskegon to Mexico

In addition to its Montana operations, Anaconda owns or controls plants and mines in Utah; East Chicago; Perth Amboy, N. J.; Buffalo, Ansonia, and Waterbury, Conn.; Detroit; Kenosha, Wis.; Anderson and Marion, Ind.; Pawtucket, R. I., Muskegon, Mich., Orange, Calif., Sycamore, Ill., and Hastings-on-Hudson, N. Y. Most of these are operated by Anaconda subsidiaries, American Brass or Anaconda Wire and Cable. It was the latter firm which was twice convicted during the war for concealing faulty wire sold to the army, navy and air force.

Anaconda also owns or controls Montana Hardware Co., Interstate Lumber Co., Tooele Valley Railway, Butte, Anaconda and Pacific Railway, International Smelting and Refining Co., Chile Copper Co., Basic Magnesium, Inc., Butte Water Co., Chile Steamship Co., Chile Exportation Co., Andes Copper Co., Potrerillos Railway in Chile, Greene Cananea Consolidated Copper Co., in Mexico.

These are the ramifications of the third largest copper company in the world which the National Production Administration now wants to put into the aluminum business, already suffering from monopoly control.

The Two Taft Brothers

Taft forces are so sore at Brother Charles Taft for announcing for governor of Ohio that they may put genial Congressman George Bender, a GOP stalwart, into the Republican primary in Ohio to run against Brother Charles.

There are several reasons for this row over the younger member of the Taft family. Primarily, Bob Taft forces are sore because two Tafts in a political race cause confusion and make the public think one family is out to dominate the state.

Second, Brother Charles has not been regular. He was a friend of Franklin Roosevelt, voted for him a couple of times and served under him in the Federal Security Administration and later in the State Department during the war. Charles also bolted the regular Republicans in Cincinnati where he has been a member of the city council and helped elect a Democratic mayor, Albert Cash.

Finally Brother Charles turned down Truman's invitation to be ambassador to the Vatican, and because he was long president of the Federal Council of Churches, a strong Protestant organization, this tends to line both Tafts up on the Protestant side in the now bitter controversy over an ambassador to the Vatican. Already Catholic sentiment is none too friendly to Brother Bob Taft as a result of Protestant tactics during last year's Senate race against Joe Ferguson.

That's why some Ohio GOP leaders, such as former state chairman Ed Schorr and Congressman Clarence Brown, are considering Congressman Bender as a GOP candidate for governor against another member of the Taft family.

Mailbag

E. P. A., Brentwood, Calif.—The navy did not refuse to cooperate in filming "The Caine Mutiny" because the mentally unbalanced officer was portrayed as an Annapolis man. The navy protested, according to its letter to Columbia Pictures, that "the character delineation of the principals must not be so over-simplified as to make it appear that the navy would tolerate for very long a vindictive and vicious officer in command position or another unbalanced officer plotting against him. In addition, it is stated unequivocally that the navy would not offer cooperation of any kind, should the title include the word, 'mutiny.' As I mentioned to you . . . There has never been a mutiny in the navy."

Washington Pipeline

General Eisenhower's name will definitely be filed in the Republican New Hampshire primary January 11 by Young Republicans associated with Senator Tobey. This will be significant, because in 1948 Ike asked that his name be withdrawn from the New Hampshire ballot. If he lets it stick this time, he will be running and as a Republican. . . . The Russians seem to be using Korea as a training ground. They brought in a brand-new batch of pilots last week to fly their MIG-15's over Korea. It was obvious to our pilots that the new Reds were green at combat flying. . . . Only diplomat who got the VIP treatment at the Soviet Embassy party last week was Premier Mossadegh of Iran. The Russians supplied Mossadegh with a four-man escort to run interference through the big crowd which clustered three deep around the caviar. (American guests at the Soviet Embassy shun Soviet champagne which is sweet and usually hot, but make a bee-line for the caviar.)

Influence of Communist Sympathizers on Far Eastern Policy Causes Amazement in Congress

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP)—Members of Congress and observers who have just had a chance to read the printed record of the Senate Internal Security Committee are beginning to express amazement at the apparent influence of Communist sympathizers on American government policies, especially in the Far East.

The testimony is really sensational, and when Senator McCarran, Democrat, chairman, advised recently that judgment be suspended till the rest of the record could be made available, he was undoubtedly hinting at further revelations to come.

What is clear already is that the Senate Subcommittee headed by Senator Tydings of Maryland, Democrat, last year failed to take advantage of the opportunities it had to uncover some of the very things now being disclosed.

Thus, in the new testimony are to be found the statements of Alexander Barmine, who is employed at present by the Department of State as Chief of the Russian unit of the "Voice of America." Mr. Barmine testified that he was one time in the Soviet diplomatic service and was also a retired brigadier general and served in military intelligence of the Soviet Army. He declared under oath that in talks with general Berzin, head of the Soviet intelligence, the names of certain Americans were mentioned as "our men."

It turns out that some of these same persons were under scrutiny by the Tydings committee and were apparently exonerated by its report. Yet it is revealed now that, while the FBI interrogated Mr. Barmine, the Tydings committee never summoned him to testify and, so far as the record shows, the Tydings committee did not obtain from him what the FBI did.

This raises anew the question of why the Tydings committee failed to make a thorough investigation. Page after page of the printed testimony of the the McCarran committee raises doubts concerning various persons mentioned in the hearings or referred to in documents obtained from the files of the Institute of Pacific Relations. Why didn't the Tydings committee do something about that phase of the investigation which the FBI had conducted? The following colloquy is an interesting example:

"Senator Ferguson: Now, did the FBI have in substance all of the matters you have brought to our attention here this morning?

"Mr. Barmine: I believe so; yes.

"Senator Ferguson: They had that prior to the so-called Tydings hearings on the question of Communists in the government?

"Mr. Barmine: Yes, sir.

"Senator Ferguson: Did any of the lawyers for that committee question you?

"Mr. Parmine: No.

"Senator Ferguson: If the FBI Committee, as I understand the Tydings Committee claimed they had all the information from the FBI, I am just wondering why this was not brought out at that time.

"Chairman McCarran: Senator, can you do any more than wonder about it?"

Facts about the indifference to FBI material are gradually being revealed to a public which has believed implicitly that, because the FBI was and is on the job, no Communists suspected of disloyalty or as bad security risks could possibly go without being exposed or prosecuted.

But the FBI does not prosecute unless the criminal division of the Department of Justice orders it done. Likewise, much evidence which might create doubts as to loyalty or security of an individual sufficient to cause a loyalty board to render an adverse judgment against him would not always be adequate to obtain a conviction in court because of the vagueness of the statutes.

Lately there has been some public discussion that senators who make charges about disloyalty should present their evidence to the Grand Jury or shut up. But it is not the function to members of Congress to prosecute or to appear before grand juries. It is the function of committees to investigate many cases which do not involve specific violations of law but which do involve government security or retention by an employe of his post in the government.

Thus, Alger Hiss was not caught by the FBI or by the Department of Justice in the first instance, though reports about him were submitted to the State Department by the FBI and ignored. It was the House Un-American Activities Committee which caught Hiss in a lie and forced the trial on perjury charges.

So Congressional inquiries have an important place in the drive to rid the government of Communist sympathizers, and that is one reason why much of the work left undone by the Tydings Committee is now being thoroughly done by the McCarran Committee. The testimony, copies of which are obtainable at the Government Printing Office, is the most sensational material yet made available to the public on the subject of Communistic activity in our goverrnment, and the largest part of the revelations has never been published in the press or over the radio.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

London—In thick and muddled language, weary pundits in Washington and London have been trying not to admit the morose truth that the British election was meaningless and that a nation so far gone will have to go the rest of the way. They are just crazy. Great Britain is broke and debilitated and our money is falling to pieces and both of us are struggling in the grip of a form of Nazi-fascism which the British Socialists call planning and we call the fair deal. The common man must be an awful fool. These things are always slipped over on nations in the name of the workingman by lily-handed double-domes in collusion with noisy tyrants of the type of John L. Lewis, Aneurin Bevan and Dave Dubinsky, whose motto when the goons start slugging is "let's you and them fight!" For a while the poor saps think they are running things. But in the long run they invariably wind up hungrier and colder than ever before and war or civil war and some version of the castor oil convention emerges to scare them into submission and permanent squalor.

Socialism came to Britain through the so-called Labor Party in which the union were exploited to ruin the economy and subjugate the people. About three years after the Socialists took power, Sir William Lawther, the president of the Trades Union Congress, which is their A. F. of L., with about eight million subjects, was telling the faceless man that the strike was no longer a legitimate weapon of the worker. These fakers never can govern subject to the normal difficulties of governing parties. A Conservative government must cope with strikes as best they can. "Labor" iRBu! lo?1f gflcc v Pd,w.Vo' itL administrations claim that they "represent" labor and have labor's interests at heart. Therefore they forbid strikes. In the United States, Harry Truman was going to draft the railroad workers into the army and assign them as soldiers, right back into the jobs which they were about to abandon. Thus, the draft law, passed by Congress to raise armies to fight foreign enemies in war, was to be used by "labor's" own party, the Democratic Party, to break a peacetime strike arising from the incompetence and criminal recklessness of that same party.

Britain views with a vague shame the decline of her character as a disciplined and law-abiding nation. She finds herself caught in a system similar to the hootch traffic which became a matter of perverse pride with us when we were very young. How do I know that? Well, I lived among these people in a time of shortage and denial many years ago. We had little coupons for little rations of meat and sugar and butter. I had been among them long enough to know many individuals, most of them not more than a few shillings ahead of next pay-day as we American cubs on Fleet street always were. But there was absolutely no chiseling. The phrase "Be British!" meant something to these working-class and middle-class Englishmen.

In France, there was no such spirit. There wasn't a lump of white sugar in all England, but in Paris you could get it on the table and they had veal and even bifstek where the English were making do with those viscera

Q—Is English or Irish the preferred language of Erie?

A—The Irish language is a required study in all national schools. The aim of the Gaelic League is to have Irish made the only official language of Eire after 1970. By that date it is predicted that the civil service would be composed only of those who had a fluent knowledge of the native tongue.

Q—How did the "nuthatch" receive its strange name?

A—It grew out of the fact that this bird often hacks at nuts until they are broken open. The nuts are placed in little holes in the trunk of a tree, and the bird hammers them with its bill. The bill serves the same purpose as a little hatchet might serve.

NATIONAL EDUCATION WEEK

The public schools of Kingston and Ulster County currently are observing National Education Week, which focuses attention on the schools.

The function of the schools is education and today's philosophy is that the child must be educated and developed mentally, morally, physically and emotionally. The schools can not be expected to do the entire job alone. Other educational agencies must do their share if the child is to become a useful citizen. Ranking with the school in responsibility are both the home and the church. Youth agencies and organizations for young people as well as the newspapers, the radio and the movies also have educational responsibilities.

Mrs. John E. Hayes, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers in calling attention to the relationship of the school to the home and the commuuity says there can be no outsiders in education today. From the moment the child wakes in the morning until he climbs into bed at night, he never stops learning. It is necessary, therefore, constantly to improve not only the school but also the general environment in which the child receives his education. Recognizing that the lasting defenses of this nation lie in the character and citizenship of its children—home, school and community share as equal partners. Theirs is the responsibility for the growth of all our children toward maturity into useful, fruitful citizens able to sustain and enhance the free ways of free men.

The two major activities which distinguish American Education Week are school visitation and educational interpretation. A special invitation is extended to parents to visit the schools this week.

BURIED TREASURE

A story from Portsmouth, England, has all the trappings of a novel by Robert Louis Stevenson. Fifteen adventurers have set sail for the South China seas in search of pirate treasure believed to have been buried by Captain William Kidd, as swashbuckling a buccaneer as ever paced a deck or hoisted the skull and crossbones. Reading about the charts found in an old desk, which inspired the expedition, one almost expects to encounter some such character as Long John Silver, straight from the pages of "Treasure Island," with his parrot perched on his shoulder talking about pieces of eight.

There is something incongruous and vaguely romantic about reading of a hunt for pirate gold in this day of the jet airplane and streamlined living. Perhaps this expedition, like so many before, will fail to find the prize. It may even be, as some people maintain, that Captain Kidd's treasure never really existed. But the spirit of adventure which prompts men to go off to seek it is bound to fascinate those of us who remember boyhood dreams of such enterprises, but who remain at home to carry on the tasks of earning a living by less colorful but more reliable methods.

QUALIFIED ACCEPTANCE

One of the qualities of the person with a solid spiritual background is the ability to accept undesirable situations which confront him without ranting against them, and yet to continue to try to better them. It is not a matter of accepting a situation with a shrug or a sigh and the declaration that, "It was meant to be," for that is spiritual laziness. It is a matter of asking very seriously, "Was it meant to be?"

When a person of spiritual strength faces conditions, in personal or community life, which his conscience tells him are wrong, he cannot shrug them off with the easy explanation that they were brought about by powers higher than himself. He cannot set his mind at ease by saying that there is nothing he can do. He finds ease of mind by knowing that he will have the fortitude to endure galling circumstances as long as he can see that it is unavoidable, and as long as he is really trying to set things right. His is a qualified acceptance of prevailing conditions which is not acquiescence, but includes an unflagging will to try to make things better.

The fable of the goose and the golden egg is losing out; soon the goose will be regarded as more valuable for its meat than for the eggs.

'These Days'

THE GREATNESS THAT WAS ROME

The Romans had a high civil official called a censor whose business it was to tell the truth. Marcus Cato, a plain and rugged man, aspired to the post, but the aristocrats and the rich and those who preferred a smooth life were opposed to his candidacy.

They brought forth a number of very fine candidates, soft spoken and gentle, who made promises to the people to give them an indulgent and easy government.

Cato would have no competition with them. He delivered tough speeches and advised the people to choose not the gentlest but the roughest of physicians. He painted no glowing picture of himself nor lied about his intentions. Of this, Plutarch says:

". . . He (Cato) added, too, that he saw all the rest endeavouring after the office with all intent, because they were afraid of those who would exercise it justly, as they ought. And so truly great and so worthy of great men to be its leaders was, it would seem, the Roman people, that they did not fear the severity and grim countenance of Cato, but rejecting those smooth promisers who were ready to do all things to ingratiate themselves, they took him. . . ."

It is interesting to note that all the same arguments against candidates were used in ancient times that are used against them today. For instance, they say that Senator Taft lacks beauty of appearance. That he does. He would never win a beauty contest at Atlantic City, nor does he have the charm of manner or the gracefulness of personality of a Franklin D. Roosevelt or a General Eisenhower. He is a homespun sort of personality who talks like a vigorous Yankee—and thinks with all the intellectual toughness of one.

He makes no attempt to paint roseate pictures of the world, his country, or even of himself. Like ancient Marcus Cato, he gathers the facts and presents them and if they are unpalatable, it might make him unpopular for saying what is undesirable. Yet, if that is the way it needs to be said, he says it so, and it might have saved us our 100,000 casualties in Korea had we listened.

Perhaps had Bob Taft tailored himself for popularity, he might have been president by now and the country would have been saved many an ordeal, but then he would hot have been Bob Taft, but a figurine that some trifler painted to fit a mood. And as the mood seemed to change, additional paints and lacquers would be added until it left an odor of an icebox dish cooked over two or three times to which perhaps a curry or a tomato paste had been added to disguise its staleness. Those who fear facts and arithmetic but who specialize in the broad and general so often dislike Taft.

Too many of our politicians substitute glamour for integrity, mannerisms for graciousness, the quip and gag for knowledge and wisdom, and thus we get foul government in which corruption vies with chicanery. Think of what a low estate we have sunk to if any public person can make such a speech as Captain Victor Hunt Harding, executive director of the Democratic National Congressional Committee, permitted himself to say to a meeting:

"A great many government workers may feel that they have been blanketed in under civil service. But, if the Republicans get control in the future, they'll find the blanket yanked out, and they'll shiver."

Then he continued:

(It is) "unfortunate that many who came here as a result of the Democratic Party have so completely forgotten this and now feel they secured their positions because of their own ability and intelligence."

There it is, the degeneracy of a nation. Not ability and intelligence matter, but loyalty to a party, obedience to the dictates of those who prefer to give something for nothing rather than to get a dollar's worth for a dollar paid, which means service and responsibility.

It was stimulating to re-read Plutarch on Cato because it is all so modern, so like all the things that happen about us. And it is particularly pertinent to Bob Taft, a factual, intellectual economist who speaks his mind with utmost candor. His opponents say that he has all the virtues that Plutarch attributed to Marcus Cato, but they say that he cannot be elected because he lacks what they call "sex appeal." If that is the test of civic virtue, why not elect Franchot Tone, the actor who spit at a woman? Apparently he does possess sex appeal.

ELECTRIC SHOCK TREATMENT

Even before Wars 1 and 2, there were a large number of civilians wearing metal plates in their skulls because of injuries. Since the wars there are, of course, a great many more. Many of these victims not only suffer with headaches but also with deep depression of spirits. One of the latest methods of removing depression of spirits is by electric shock treatments, causing convulsions from which many of the patients get great relief from their symptoms. The problem was whether it would be safe for a patient with a metal plate in his skull to undergo electric shock treatment.

In the Journal of Mental Science, London, Dr. H. Osmond gives an account of electric convulsion treatment of a patient with a tantalum plate in his skull, which is the first report of such a case. The patient was a man, aged 30, with a depressive state following severe head injury. Skull X-ray pates showed a large metal plate in the left front and side of forehead and a retained metal fragment on the inner surface of the roof of the skull near the right border of the plate. There was naturally some doubt as to what might happen if electric-shock convulsion treatments were given to a patient with a tantalum plate in his head, but the patient consented to the treatment and seven electric convulsion treatments were given without untoward effect. Complete recovery followed.

While there may not be many cases like this one, with the increase in extensive brain surgery, it is possible that from time to time electric shock treatment might be withheld from other patients because of doubts about the safety when, if given, it could perhaps produce speedy relief.

I have written several times about the operation lobotomy (the cutting of the nerves supplying the large front lobes of the brain). This gives relief from deep grief and depression but in some cases, while giving this needed relief, leaves the patient almost childish, accepting no responsibility in life whatever.

"Pardon, Suh, I Figure It's My Turn to Drive, Suh!"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — Mrs. Truman makes no bones about her desire to turn the White House over to new tenants.

At a reception the other day, the first lady confided to a friend: "This is a terrible life. We don't have any privacy at all. If I want to go across the hall to see the President or Margaret, I have to get dressed up. I can't just slip a kimono on, for you never know who you'll find in the hall. I'll be glad when we get back to Independence and can live like human beings."

Mrs. Truman said she thought the government should provide private living quarters away from the White House for the first family. She was referring, of course, to the fact that Secret Service vigilance has been tightened since the attempt on the President's life, so that guards are on every floor of Blair House.

Montana Monopoly

The more the Justice Department's anti-trust division scrutinizes NPA deal to put Anaconda Copper into the aluminum business, the more it looks like the most ironic gift to big business of the entire Truman administration.

Government attorneys now find that Anaconda's powerful Montana newspapers and Anaconda's close friend, Montana Power and Light, bitterly opposed the government power project at Hungry Horse, Montana. Now, Anaconda has turned around, wants all of Montana's share of the government power it fought. And the NPA plans to fork it over.

Anaconda newspapers also criticized the Harvey Machine Company's methods of lobbying for the aluminum-power contract and RFC loan. Now Anaconda has turned round and embraced the very same Harvey Machine Co.

More alarming Justice Department attorneys find to be the strangle hold which Anaconda will now have on the State of Montana. Already the giant copper company controls most of the published news in that state. It owns the Butte Daily Post, the Montana Standard, published at Anaconda, the Billings Gazette, the Livingston Enterprise, the Daily Missoulian, the Helena Independent Record, and the Western News of Libby, Mont.

And not having been able to acquire a paper at Great Falls, it has now purchased radio station KFBB in Great Falls—subject to FCC approval.

Muskegon to Mexico

In addition to its Montana operations, Anaconda owns or controls plants and mines in Utah; East Chicago; Perth Amboy, N. J.; Buffalo, Ansonia, and Waterbury, Conn.; Detroit; Kenosha, Wis.; Anderson and Marion, Ind.; Pawtucket, R. I., Muskegon, Mich., Orange, Calif., Sycamore, Ill., and Hastings-on-Hudson, N. Y. Most of these are operated by Anaconda subsidiaries, American Brass or Anaconda Wire and Cable. It was the latter firm which was twice convicted during the war for concealing faulty wire sold to the army, navy and air force.

Anaconda also owns or controls Montana Hardware Co., Interstate Lumber Co., Tooele Valley Railway, Butte, Anaconda and Pacific Railway, International Smelting and Refining Co., Chile Copper Co., Basic Magnesium, Inc., Butte Water Co., Chile Steamship Co., Chile Exportation Co., Andes Copper Co., Potrerillos Railway in Chile, Greene Cananea Consolidated Copper Co., in Mexico.

These are the ramifications of the third largest copper company in the world which the National Production Administration now wants to put into the aluminum business, already suffering from monopoly control.

The Two Taft Brothers

Taft forces are so sore at Brother Charles Taft for announcing for governor of Ohio that they may put genial Congressman George Bender, a GOP stalwart, into the Republican primary in Ohio to run against Brother Charles.

There are several reasons for this row over the younger member of the Taft family. Primarily, Bob Taft forces are sore because two Tafts in a political race cause confusion and make the public think one family is out to dominate the state.

Second, Brother Charles has not been regular. He was a friend of Franklin Roosevelt, voted for him a couple of times and served under him in the Federal Security Administration and later in the State Department during the war. Charles also bolted the regular Republicans in Cincinnati where he has been a member of the city council and helped elect a Democratic mayor, Albert Cash.

Finally Brother Charles turned down Truman's invitation to be ambassador to the Vatican, and because he was long president of the Federal Council of Churches, a strong Protestant organization, this tends to line both Tafts up on the Protestant side in the now bitter controversy over an ambassador to the Vatican. Already Catholic sentiment is none too friendly to Brother Bob Taft as a result of Protestant tactics during last year's Senate race against Joe Ferguson.

That's why some Ohio GOP leaders, such as former state chairman Ed Schorr and Congressman Clarence Brown, are considering Congressman Bender as a GOP candidate for governor against another member of the Taft family.

E. P. A., Brentwood, Calif.—The navy did not refuse to cooperate in filming "The Caine Mutiny" because the mentally unbalanced officer was portrayed as an Annapolis man. The navy protested, according to its letter to Columbia Pictures, that "the character delineation of the principals must not be so over-simplified as to make it appear that the navy would tolerate for very long a vindictive and vicious officer in command position or another unbalanced officer plotting against him. In addition, it is stated unequivocally that the navy would not offer cooperation of any kind, should the title include the word, 'mutiny.' As I mentioned to you . . . There has never been a mutiny in the navy."

General Eisenhower's name will definitely be filed in the Republican New Hampshire primary January 11 by Young Republicans associated with Senator Tobey. This will be significant, because in 1948 Ike asked that his name be withdrawn from the New Hampshire ballot. If he lets it stick this time, he will be running and as a Republican. . . . The Russians seem to be using Korea as a training ground. They brought in a brand-new batch of pilots last week to fly their MIG-15's over Korea. It was obvious to our pilots that the new Reds were green at combat flying. . . . Only diplomat who got the VIP treatment at the Soviet Embassy party last week was Premier Mossadegh of Iran. The Russians supplied Mossadegh with a four-man escort to run interference through the big crowd which clustered three deep around the caviar. Influence of Communist Sympathizers on Far Eastern Policy Causes Amazement in Congress

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP)—Members of Congress and observers who have just had a chance to read the printed record of the Senate Internal Security Committee are beginning to express amazement at the apparent influence of Communist sympathizers on American government policies, especially in the Far East.

The testimony is really sensational, and when Senator McCarran, Democrat, chairman, advised recently that judgment be suspended till the rest of the record could be made available, he was undoubtedly hinting at further revelations to come.

What is clear already is that the Senate Subcommittee headed by Senator Tydings of Maryland, Democrat, last year failed to take advantage of the opportunities it had to uncover some of the very things now being disclosed.

Thus, in the new testimony are to be found the statements of Alexander Barmine, who is employed at present by the Department of State as Chief of the Russian unit of the "Voice of America." Mr. Barmine testified that he was one time in the Soviet diplomatic service and was also a retired brigadier general and served in military intelligence of the Soviet Army. He declared under oath that in talks with general Berzin, head of the Soviet intelligence, the names of certain Americans were mentioned as "our men."

It turns out that some of these same persons were under scrutiny by the Tydings committee and were apparently exonerated by its report. Yet it is revealed now that, while the FBI interrogated Mr. Barmine, the Tydings committee never summoned him to testify and, so far as the record shows, the Tydings committee did not obtain from him what the FBI did.

This raises anew the question of why the Tydings committee failed to make a thorough investigation. Page after page of the printed testimony of the the McCarran committee raises doubts concerning various persons mentioned in the hearings or referred to in documents obtained from the files of the Institute of Pacific Relations. Why didn't the Tydings committee do something about that phase of the investigation which the FBI had conducted? The following colloquy is an interesting example:

"Senator Ferguson: Now, did the FBI have in substance all of the matters you have brought to our attention here this morning?

"Mr. Barmine: I believe so; yes.

"Senator Ferguson: They had that prior to the so-called Tydings hearings on the question of Communists in the government?

"Mr. Barmine: Yes, sir.

"Senator Ferguson: Did any of the lawyers for that committee question you?

"Mr. Parmine: No.

"Senator Ferguson: If the FBI Committee, as I understand the Tydings Committee claimed they had all the information from the FBI, I am just wondering why this was not brought out at that time.

"Chairman McCarran: Senator, can you do any more than wonder about it?"

Facts about the indifference to FBI material are gradually being revealed to a public which has believed implicitly that, because the FBI was and is on the job, no Communists suspected of disloyalty or as bad security risks could possibly go without being exposed or prosecuted.

But the FBI does not prosecute unless the criminal division of the Department of Justice orders it done. Likewise, much evidence which might create doubts as to loyalty or security of an individual sufficient to cause a loyalty board to render an adverse judgment against him would not always be adequate to obtain a conviction in court because of the vagueness of the statutes.

Lately there has been some public discussion that senators who make charges about disloyalty should present their evidence to the Grand Jury or shut up. But it is not the function to members of Congress to prosecute or to appear before grand juries. It is the function of committees to investigate many cases which do not involve specific violations of law but which do involve government security or retention by an employe of his post in the government.

Thus, Alger Hiss was not caught by the FBI or by the Department of Justice in the first instance, though reports about him were submitted to the State Department by the FBI and ignored. It was the House Un-American Activities Committee which caught Hiss in a lie and forced the trial on perjury charges.

So Congressional inquiries have an important place in the drive to rid the government of Communist sympathizers, and that is one reason why much of the work left undone by the Tydings Committee is now being thoroughly done by the McCarran Committee. The testimony, copies of which are obtainable at the Government Printing Office, is the most sensational material yet made available to the public on the subject of Communistic activity in our goverrnment, and the largest part of the revelations has never been published in the press or over the radio.

In the United States, Harry Truman was going to draft the railroad workers into the army and assign them as soldiers, right back into the jobs which they were about to abandon. Thus, the draft law, passed by Congress to raise armies to fight foreign enemies in war, was to be used by "labor's" own party, the Democratic Party, to break a peacetime strike arising from the incompetence and criminal recklessness of that same party.

Britain views with a vague shame the decline of her character as a disciplined and law-abiding nation. She finds herself caught in a system similar to the hootch traffic which became a matter of perverse pride with us when we were very young. How do I know that? Well, I lived among these people in a time of shortage and denial many years ago. We had little coupons for little rations of meat and sugar and butter. I had been among them long enough to know many individuals, most of them not more than a few shillings ahead of next pay-day as we American cubs on Fleet street always were. But there was absolutely no chiseling. The phrase "Be British!" meant something to these working-class and middle-class Englishmen.

In France, there was no such spirit. There wasn't a lump of white sugar in all England, but in Paris you could get it on the table and they had veal and even bifstek where the English were making do with those viscera

In the dark days of forty it was you (British) who...by your steadfastness saved Europe. Why don't you go on with your task? Why don't you complete it? Why do you refuse, after being Europe's leader in the war, to go on with it in peace?

Questions — Answers

Q—Is English or Irish the preferred language of Erie?

A—The Irish language is a required study in all national schools. The aim of the Gaelic League is to have Irish made the only official language of Eire after 1970. By that date it is predicted that the civil service would be composed only of those who had a fluent knowledge of the native tongue.

Q—How did the "nuthatch" receive its strange name?

A—It grew out of the fact that this bird often hacks at nuts until they are broken open. The nuts are placed in little holes in the trunk of a tree, and the bird hammers them with its bill. The bill serves the same purpose as a little hatchet might serve.

Man Is Identified By Alleged Victims

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—Hilton Harris, 35-year-old iron worker, has been identified by five women he allegedly raped and robbed in the Morningside Park area during the past several months, police said today.

Harris, a Negro, was booked on charges of assault, robbery, rape and sodomy.

Detectives said one of the alleged victims identified Harris' picture in the rogue's gallery. On learning yesterday that he was at work in an iron plant in Long Island City, Queens, police said, they arrested him at his job.

A fur coat which he had allegedly taken from a victim last Monday was found in his room, police said.

Officers added that Harris had been arrested several times on sex charges, and was on parole when arrested yesterday.

Rocks of nearly all geological ages are found in New Mexico.

Martin Returns to Duty

Back in uniform for the first time in nearly seven weeks, Patrolman Harry Martin reported for duty with the Kingston Police Department Tuesday morning. His many friends and fellow police officers were congratulating him on his recovery from his recent illness. Officer Martin was taken ill while on duty Sept. 27. He was taken to Kingston Hospital, where his condition for several weeks was listed as "serious."

New Project

Singapore, (AP)—Colorful groups of Chinese, Indian, Malay and Pakistani hawkers who display their wares upon boxes and stalls bordering on the seafront are going to have to move. The city council is starting a $200,000 scheme to develop the area into a waterfront promenade and park.

Milk Substitute

If the grownups in your family aren't drinking all the milk they should, serve them American cheddar cheese often; the cheese's food value is similar to that of milk.

Rings Are Stolen

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—Seven rings worth an estimated $11,800 were reported stolen yesterday from under the noses of two private guards at a midtown auction gallery. The rings—studded with diamonds, rubies or sapphires—were part of a $200,000 display of jewelry awaiting auction at the Plaza Art Auction Galleries on East 59th street. Police made the estimate of their value. The gallery said they were insured. The rings were displayed in an unlocked showcase.

Literary Satire

Cervantes' "Don Quixote," regarded as one of the greatest satires in literature, has for its theme the ridicule of the extravagant heroism of knights in contemporary literature.

As Pegler Sees It

which the butchers call the guts and the British, with their quaint delicacy, called "offal." Kidneys, brains, sweetbreads and tails were offal and off the ration. I saw them unloading from an Australian ship a cargo of whole rabbits in bales. These are vermin in Australia, and this boon to the English had been good riddance Down Under. The rabbits were not cleaned, but the English have a gamey appetite. Anyway, they went for these Australian rabbits, and jolly good. Roast mutton would have been better but there was a war on, y'know.

Now the black market is an established British institution and by no means shameful except that the black-marketeer is regarded as a low-character as our booties were. The type is known as a spiv, and a more insipid label in the premises only an English epithetician could think of. You have to allow me some tolerance here. I don't know any spivs and I haven't bought anything in the black market. But I do know some Englishmen who get around as I do in the States and they have been telling me what I am telling you. They are not glad of it nor smirkingly proud as we were when we established relations with a tube of Panther just off the boat. They seem resigned though.

Time was when with their scrupulous respect for law as the citizen's own protection, they peered down their noses at us and couldn't understand. One such time was a night in a village near Sandringham where King George was down of the cold that killed him in 1936. In the bar of a little inn, a bag-man or traveling drummer, a gabby fellow who had done his bit in France and knew a thing or two about danger, sounded off about American timidity in suffering the rise of the prohibition gangs. Shooting and bribery and all that. Never could happen in Britain. Simply call a constable and give them in charge. As I say, they couldn't understand, but they understand now.

Still on a diet eked out with chicken-wings, fish and spaghetti, the diet of the feeble nations more than six years after another glorious and almost fatal victory, these tenacious people now understand the contempt of law and hatred of government which we felt when, for the good of our souls, our Borgias in Washington put poison in the rub-stuff which was the soul of our bathtub gin. But I am not gloating. In New York beef is priced out of the market.

When government can't govern, when government takes out its own dogged stupidity and incompetence on the people, the people, even the English, adjust themselves and do the best they can. A man has only one life to live and the life of this generation of Britons has been full of sorrows, aggravated recently by a cultivated nastiness in the conduct of one class toward another.

No, Churchill can't redeem the situation. John Bull is going to hell in a low-neck hack and that character on the seat beside him is Uncle Sam.

Roman Candles Chase Birds

Urbana, Ill. (AP)—Use Fourth of July Roman candles to get rid of noisy flocks of starlings or blackbirds, suggests the University of Illinois experts. The university wildlife service says shoot the Roman candles just before it gets dark and the birds then will have only enough light left to fly elsewhere for the night. It adds that two or three nights of this should scare the birds away for good.

Central Hudson Files Statement On Stock Issuance

Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation yesterday filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission a registration statement covering the issue of 40,000 shares of cumulative preferred stock, par value $100 a share. The dividend rate and public offering price will be filed later by amendment.

Net proceeds from the sale of the new stock will help finance the utility company's construction program, expected to cost approximately $35,000,000 during 1951 through 1954. $11,000,000 will be spent during 1951, $6,000,000 during 1952, $10,000,000 during 1953 and $8,000,000 during 1954.

Chief items in the program are the completion of a 60,000 kilowatt generating unit at the Danskammer Point steam station on the Hudson River, completion of a 25,000 kilowatt hydroelectric plant at Grahamsville and installation of a second 60,000 kilowatt unit at Danskammer Point.

Power From Our Stations

As a result of this program, the company estimates for the year 1952 that 75 per cent of its electricity requirements, exclusive of surplus sales, will be generated by the company's own station and 25 per cent will be purchased elsewhere.

The first Danskammer Point unit is scheduled for operation the latter part of 1952. During the twelve months ending August 31, 1951 the company purchased 89 per cent of its power requirements and generated only 11 per cent itself.

For the twelve months ending August 31, 1951 the company reported total operating revenues of $17,688,384 and net income of $1,538,559 available for dividends. The New York State Public Service Commission on November 7 authorized Central Hudson to increase electric rates effective November 26 which, it is estimated, will produce in 1952 revenues of $1,689,000 greater than would be received under present rates.

It is expected that the new preferred stock will be issued early in December.

Central Hudson, which celebrated its 50th anniversary last year, supplies gas and electricty in the Mid-Hudson Valley, including the cities of Poughkeepsie, Beacon, Newburgh and Kingston. It serves about 100,000 customers in a territory which extends about 85 miles along the Hudson river and 25 to 40 miles east and west from the river.

Named After Profile

The town of Magdalena, New Mexico, is named for the great white-rock profile of Mary Magdalene, long a landmark in the mountains south of the place.

WEATHER'S GOT HER DOWN—Doris Wolters, St. Louis office worker, had "coffee to go," and it really went when the young lady lost her footing on an icy sidewalk and ended up flat on her back. She didn't really lose her head, as it appears. It's just hidden by snow. Her fellow worker, Peggy Weitkamp, right, skidded to a stop and began rescue operations. The Missouri city was digging itself out from under the worst snowstorm in history for so early in the season.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Nov. 14—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Everett of New Haven, Conn., and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Everett of Ridgewood, N. J., called on friends in the village recently. Ed Everett was born in this section, a son of Benjamin and Phoebe (Winchell) Everett whose home was near Temple's Pond on the old Olive Branch hill road. He reports that his brother, Jacob, and cousins, Frank and George Markle, all of whom went to New Haven in early life and operated grocery stores there, have died. Ralph, employed by a paint concern in New York, graduated from Yale in 1913 and is secretary of his class.

The bass fishing has been good up at Pepacton where New York is building another big reservoir. Reginald Todd of Dry Brook caught four bass whose total weight was eight pounds. Reg is reported to have caught two of his big 'uns on one cast while using a floating plug with three gang hooks.

Steve Angell of Boiceville has employment in Kingston and rides to work with other men from his section.

Diane Margaret DeLong, 4, was baptized at the Catholic church in Woodstock Sunday. Relatives attending the baptism included the little girl's mother, Mrs. Maynard DeLong; her grandmother, Mrs. Thomas Clarke and Mrs. DeLong's sister and brother-in-law, Mrs. Robert Moshier and husband of New Rochelle.

Mr. and Mrs. Brank Berryann, Kingston couple who celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Oct. 27, have a number of friends and relatives in the reservoir country where both resided in early life.

Eugene Lutz of Yonkers spent a few days last week with his relatives, the John Leacock family.

Benjamin Greene, who died in October at Kiskatom, was born near here in 1882, the son of Alonzo and Josephine Rowe Greene. He was a brother of Fred Greene, West Hurley and Mrs. George Giles, Shokan, and a cousin of Charles William and Bertha Greene.

State Conservation officials estimate deer will outnumber the hunters, some 400,000 of whom are expected to take to the woods of the Empire State, come opening of the season on Thanksgiving Day. There are more deer today than when the Indians were around and they have become a positive nuisance in some areas.

No Handshake Here

Potsdam, Nov. 14 (AP)—A deer hunter reports he had an opportunity to shake hands with a big bear but declined the offer. Royal Hoyt, town clerk of Parishville, says the bear approached him in the woods, reared up on its hind legs and stuck its paws toward him. "I guess the bear wanted to shake hands, but I didn't," said Hoyt, who beat a retreat without firing a shot.

State's Farmers To Make More in '52, but Less Profit

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP)—New York's farmers, who grossed a whooping $598,952,000 for the eight months ending Aug. 30, appear headed for an even larger return in 1952.

Better crops, more livestock and higher prices, the Deparement of Agriculture says, all are contributing to an upswing in receipts that farmers everywhere are getting for their marketings.

But there's a rub. Their profits are being cut—and will be cut even further—by increasing production costs.

The January-August total for the New York tillers of the soil was $108,183,000 more than they received in comparable 1950.

On the basis of these figures, the New Yorkers seem almost certain—during the final four months of 1951 to exceed the 1950 total of $801,864,000 received from sale of crops, livestock and livestock products.

Of that total $223,252,000 resulted from sale of crops and $587,612,000 from livestock and livestock products.

Deering Harbor Smallest

New York state, according to the 1950 census, had a population of 14,830,192. What, in this most populous of all states, is its smallest incorporated place?

The answer, the Bureau of Census says, is Deering Harbor, Suffolk county. It has a total population of four.

This latest figure, the bureau reports, represents an 88 per cent drop from the 1940 census. At that time, Deering Harbor boasted 34 inhabitants.

But New York's tiniest can't compare with some other incorporated places in the country.

There are several, says the bureau, that have no population.

Need More Bikes

Singapore (AP) — The monthly importation of 8,000 British-made bicycles is far below the demand, according to leading importers. They say they can sell double the number among the city's white-collar workers and laborers, the principal buyers. The total number of bicycles in Singapore is 181,000. Fifteen different makes of bicycles are on sale in the city.

Movement Begins For Olive Library

Jack Spear of the New York State Library extension service will speak before the combined civic organizations of the Town of Olive at an open meeting to be held Friday at 8 p. m., at the Olive Bridge fire house on the question of starting a library in that township.

This meeting is the outcome of a preliminary meeting held some time ago at the home of Mrs. Joseph Friedberg in Boiceville attended by a temporary committee composed of Mrs. Stanley Haug, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Friedberg, Donald Bishop, Skip Weidner, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Larsen, Mrs. William Frankle, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Klerker, Mrs. Hyman Axinn, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Terkelson. Several others were to attend but had to be excused due to the inclement weather.

The temporary organization committee urges everyone who is interested in getting a library started in the Town of Olive to attend this meeting.

It is expected that groups representing the Olive Memorial Post of the American Legion, Legion Auxiliary, the Olive Fire Department West Shokan Ladies' Aid, Olive Parent Teachers Associations, Olive Home Bureau, Shokan and Ashokan Ladies' Aid, Samsonville and Krumville as well as others from Olive Bridge and Boiceville will attend.

WHY DO STOCK PRICES CHANGE FROM DAY TO DAY?

The answer is simple but important, especially if you are a new investor or thinking of becoming one—because, when you know why stock prices change from day to day, you are better equipped to relate those changes to the real investment value of a stock.

Remember, first of all, that the price of a stock at any moment is simply the value put upon that stock by the people who are buying and selling it. The price changes in accordance with the basic law of supply and demand. If the demand for a stock is greater than the supply, the price will probably go up. If the supply is greater than the demand, the price usually goes down.

The decision of an investor to buy or sell a stock reflects his opinion of its value in relation to his own investment needs and his current financial position. His "opinion" is affected by almost everything that affects human beings . . . the state of his health, what he reads and hears about the company, business trends, taxes, international affairs.

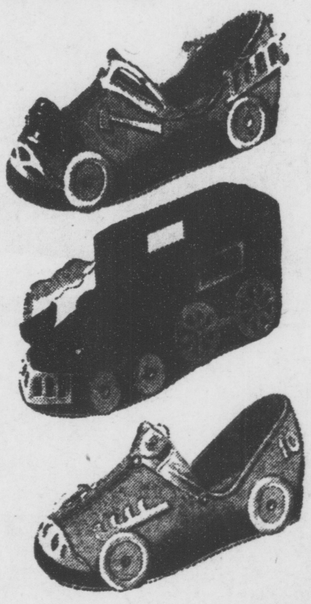

Day to day changes in the price of any stock, therefore, are only a partial index of its value to you. For sound judgment you need all the information you can get about the company and its prospects. Such information is available to you through member firms of the New York Stock Exchange. They will be glad to answer your questions without charge.

Pageant to Open Yule Seals Sales

A pageant celebrating the opening of the Christmas Seal Sale will be held on Saturday at 2:30 p. m. at the head of Wall street, this city.

One of the world's most familiar symbols of unselfish giving—Santa Claus—is featured on the 1951 Christmas Seals which will reach the homes of Ulster county residents through the mails Nov. 19, James L. Rowe, county seal sale chairman, said yesterday.

During two weeks, students in the various high schools of the county voted for the jolliest teacher in their school. Wednesday, the Rev. Robert Dickson of Saugerties, Mrs. Dorothy Hocmer of Ellenville, and Mrs. William Hookey of Lake Katrine will pick from the group the one whom they think looks most like the 1951 Christmas Seals Santa Claus. This teacher—Santa Claus—will ride in on a bright red fire truck of the Kingston Fire Department and will be stationed at the head of Wall street where he will buy the first two sheets of Christmas Seals from little Sara Jane Palmer, daughter of William Palmer, Farm Bureau agent. Choristers from MJM School in Kingston, under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Branigan, will furnish the musical part of the program.

The 1951 sale of Christmas Seals will be conducted by the Ulster County TB and Health Association from Nov. 19 to New Year's Day to raise funds for the tuberculosis control program, the mental health program, the TB Patients Service Committee work, and for other educational and promotional projects of the association.

Parents Invited To Visit Schools To Observe Work

American Education Week for local, state and national communities is being observed this week with the general theme, "Unite for Freedom." In the local schools the theme is being portrayed in art exhibits, physical and vocational education demonstrations, programs and pageants, but the main function is to acquaint the parents of pupils with the operations of the school system. During this week, parents especially are invited to visit the schools.

The annual observance is sponsored by the National Education Association, the American Legion, the National Congress of Parents and Teachers and the U. S. Office of Education.

The Freeman in cooperation with local school authorities will publish pictures illustrating the work in our public schools. They will include a reading lesson, story of the art murals in the M.J.M. art room, playground activities, science demonstration and a visit to a local dairy.

In the adjoining picture, the pupils of the Art Club of Myron J. Michael School are making the constellation figures or the zodiacal signs on the walls of the art room. These figures are first drawn on brown wrapping paper by the pupils. The paper is pierced with a pounce wheel and the figures are then pounced on the wall, after which they are painted in flat oil colors. The figures have been made to conform to star configurations in the sky. This project integrates art and science in that the children learn about mural painting and astronomy. Astrology is bypassed and it is pointed out to the students that it is a pseudo science. Holland Foster, art teacher, is shown instructing the pupils.

"Teaching the Fundamentals" is Thursday's daily topic for American Education Week under the general theme, "Unite for Freedom." In analyzing life's reading it is found that it falls into two general classifications. One of these is reading for a specific purpose, after which the results of reading are put to immediate use. The other is reading for personal enjoyment or enlightenment. A significant influence of research during the last 30 years has been an increasing concern for the well-being of the individual child. It has meant recognizing both in theory and practice that individuals differ in interests, characteristics and abilities.

Here we see the pupils in Miss Israel's class at School No. 7, which also is typical of all grades, engaged in reading one of the most important fundamentals. In the foreground, the group is reading under direct supervision of the teacher, who is instructing the pupils in techniques which will help the child to read independently. Another group is applying skills it has been taught. A third group is reading at a library table for enjoyment or enlightenment. Each child has the experience of working in each of these three groups each day. The personnel of the groups change according to the needs of the individual child.

The two major activities which distinguish American Education Week are school visitation and educational interpretation. During this week the 210,000 public school buildings in 85,000 school districts throughout the nation hold open house for their owners—the 150 million people of the United States.

Erle Cocke, Jr., immediate past national commander of the American Legion, in emphasizing the role of the public schools in a free nation declares that "Freedom is an eternal goal which has united men throughout the ages. Today freedom has been lost in many countries and the survival of the other free nations everywhere is challenged by a slave world. Our free nation is holding fast to the ideals of freedom for which our forefathers sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

"Only by believing in democratic freedom, defending every educational process which teaches youth the genius of our system of government, and adhering to the single purpose of securing our liberties through a strong America will we be prepared to defeat the aggressor which has designs against our country and our way of life."

4-WHEEL-DRIVE WILLYS STATION WAGONS

Last winter, the demand for our special 4-Wheel-Drive Willys Station Wagon far exceeded production. Right now, there are a limited number for immediate delivery. If you need this "go-anywhere" car in your business or profession, we suggest you see us now.

The 4-Wheel-Drive Willys offers the best assurance of transportation every single day in the year for doctors, law enforcement agencies, public utilities, veterinarians and rural families. It needs no road—it is ideal for oil men, ranchers, sportsmen, geologists and surveyors.

The Car That Takes You Through When No Other Car Can!

The 4-Wheel-Drive Willys Station Wagon, powered by the high-compression Hurricane Engine, assures year-around transportation over all kinds of roads. It climbs a 66 per cent grade and goes through mud, sand, snow and roadless country that stops other cars. There is room for six passengers, plus luggage, tools or equipment. The rear seats easily lift out to provide 98 cu. ft. of cargo space. Come in for a demonstration of this remarkable car.

Drive Is Underway To Sell New Code To Municipalities

Albany, Nov. 14 (AP)—With the 1951 election over, a statewide drive is underway to "sell" the new state building code to municipalities.

The code, so far applicable only to one and two-family buildings, is one of Governor Dewey's pet projects. It is designed to permit use of "new-fangled" building materials, thereby slashing construction costs by as much as 10 per cent.

Dewey's administration forced the code law through the 1949 Legislature, but only after the governor's proposed "mandatory" system had been diluted to make it optional for municipalities that wanted it.

Adopted by Mamaroneck

Mamaroneck, a village of 16,000 population in Westchester county, was the first municipality to adopt the new code. Mayor Edwin B. Dooley said the code provided ways to keep building costs down through use of new materials.

The State Building Code Commission said that a "number of municipal officials had expressed the hope " that their communities would adopt the code.

The code went into effect Nov. 1. Most local governing bodies, which must approve the code, were busy with the election, and probably will not have a chance to consider it until the new officials get organized.

The code commission's technical division now is working on another code for multiple dwellings. It may be ready about Feb. 1.

Under the original law, the statewide code was to apply automatically to all municipalities that already had one of their own, unless local government rejected it. But the 1951 legislature changed this to require that the legislative body of a municipality must take affirmative action to be covered by the statewide standards.

At the present time, 55 of the state's 62 cities have their own codes or other building regulations. Sixty-one of the 932 towns and 222 of the 549 villages also have their own.

Code Wins Support

The state code program has won support in many parts of New York. For instance, its local adoption is being sponsored by about 10 building industry associations in Westchester county, by the Long Island Home Builders' Institute, the New York Building Congress, the Syracuse Society of Architects and the Rochester Home Builders' Association.

The law provides that the statewide code may be adopted by a legislative body—a city council, board of supervisors, town board or village trustees — by adopting a resolution. After using it a year, any municipality may reject the code, but must hold a public hearing before doing so.

New York's code differs radically from those already in use in most localities in that it is based on performance or functional standards, rather than on a specification basis.

The specific-type codes or regulations require, for instance, that a certain type of material must be used for cross-beams, or for foundations. Under the functional plan, any other material that "does the job" in accordance with health, safety and performance standards, may be used.

The code commission argues that specification-type codes become obsolete quickly as new building materials are designed or discovered. They are difficult to amend, and most communities do not keep them up to date.

Because of this, builders are bound by older requirements, which often cost more, and are prohibited from using water—and often cheaper—materials.

Approval Permitted

Under the state plan, if the builder can demonstrate that his proposals for use of materials or methods will meet the requirements of the state code, the local building official is permitted to approve the plans.

Or, if the building official is not sure the contractor's proposals are proper, he may refer the question to the State Code Commission's technical division for a quick decision.

The commission says that "a principal objective of the state building code law is to encourage the use of new materials and methods which are an improvement over old ones, and to bring about standardization of building products and methods in the interest of economy."

It has a three-point program:

1. Promulgation of performance-type codes for one and two-story family dwellings, for multiple family dwellings, and, finally, a comprehensive code for all types of occupancy and use.

2. Setting up standard procedures for introduction of materials, equipment and methods of assembly under the codes.

3. Creation of a central clearing house for collecting data on tests of materials, and for an interpretation of such data.

Here are some typical requirements established in the commission's first code—that for one and two-family houses:

Stairs, Hand Rails

Stairs must be a certain width, and be equipped with hand rails; roofs must be built to withstand the weight of the heaviest snowfall or the strongest wind expected in a dwelling's area; enough windows must be provided for adequate light and ventilation; a garage must be separated from a dwelling by either open space, such as a breezeway, or by fire-resistant walls.

The requirement are drawn in general terms in most instances to give local building officials a broad basis for permitting the use of cheaper materials and methods.

Some opposition to these "general" requirements were voiced at code hearings conducted by the state commission.

The law, however, permits any municipality adopting the state code to tighten the requirements for its area. Such changes must be submitted to the code commission for approval.

Reds Challenge UN To Break Off Talks

Munsan, Korea, Nov. 14 (AP)—The Communists challenged the Allies today to break off truce talks if the United Nations want to keep on fighting in Korea, a UN spokesman reported.

An Allied communique said it became "unmistakably clear" the Reds want to end the fighting now—in the air, on the sea and on the ground.

This was the first hint the Reds want the Allies to call off their planes and warships as soon as a buffer zone is created.

Dutchess to Get Blood-Mobile Unit

F. Paul Deuell, chairman of the Dutchess County Chapter, American Red Cross, announced recently that a Red Cross blood-mobile unit will be in Poughkeepsie Dec. 17 and 18.

Deuell said there is a possibility that the blood-mobile will make another visit to the city for at least a day before Jan. 1.

The Red Cross, fraternal and veterans groups in Poughkeepsie worked a month for a scheduled blood donor system for area residents to contribute to the war and defense stock piles.

Inquest Date Set

Riverhead, N. Y., Nov. 14 (AP)—Dr. John H. Nugent, Suffolk county coroner, today set Nov. 29 as the date for an inquest into the deaths of 45 persons who died when the charter fishing boat, Pelican, capsized off Montauk Point Sept. 1. Nineteen persons survived the disaster.

Esopus Legion Meeting Is Held

Port Ewen, Nov. 14—The regular monthly meeting of the Town of Esopus Post No. 1298, American Legion, was held Tuesday night at the Post home on Legion Court in Port Ewen.

P. Joseph Beichert, chairman of the membership committee, announced that the membership of the Esopus Legion prior to last night's meeting stood at 99. Beichert further announced that the membership drive now in progress would end Dec. 1 and that he was confident that the membership goal would be reached.

Alfred Schoonmaker, chairman of the annual Post card party, announced that plans for the card party had been completed and that patron and member tickets had been distributed. On the basis of ticket returns so far, all indications point to one of the most successful Legion card parties of recent years. This year's party will be held on Thursday, Nov. 29, at the Town Hall in Port Ewen.

Howard Galbreth, chairman of the Post Christmas Party for the children in the community, announced that this year's Christmas party would be held Thursday, Dec. 20, and that final plans for the party would be announced at the December meeting.

A discussion was held concerning the advisability of advocating an additional exit to the New York State Thruway at a point between the proposed exit at Highland and at Kingston. A committee headed by Henry Cameron was appointed to further look into this matter. At the conclusion of the meeting, refreshments were served.

Conference Is Held

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri conferred here today on a city-wide plan to cure teen-age drug addicts. The discussion centered on the possibility of establishing treatment facilities at Riverside Hospital on North Brother Island in the East river for young addicts. It dealt also with responsibilities to be undertaken by city and state in the addicts education as well as their cure. Also attending the conference were Attorney General Nathaniel L. Goldstein, Dr. Marcus D. Kogel, city hospitals commissioner, and Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, state commissioner of health.

Agents Are Assigned

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP)—Internal Revenue Commissioner John B. Dunlap announced today he has assigned outside agents to investigate reported "irregularities" in the Revenue Bureau's Alcohol Tax unit. Dunlap said a special inquiry will be conducted by Secret Service and Narcotics agents under the direction of M. L. Harney, assistant commissioner of the Bureau of Narcotics.

Damage Suit Filed

New York, Nov. 14 (AP) — A $500,000 damage suit on behalf of the widow of George Flores, welterweight fatally injured in a boxing bout, was filed today against the International Boxing Club and Madison Square Garden as promoters of the bout. Attorneys for Elaine Flores, 18, the widow, said she held that Flores was mismatched and that facilities and equipment for the bout were unsafe and inadequate.

Gets Life Sentence

Stockholm, Nov. 14 (AP)—Ernst Hilding Andersson, a Swedish naval officer who admitted spying for Russia, was sentenced today to life imprisonment at hard labor—the maximum under Swedish law for peacetime espionage. Andersson had admitted turning over information on Swedish military and naval installations to Russians in the Soviet embassy, for use in preparation of a possible plan for invasion of Sweden.

KEYSTONE TO MIDDLE EAST DEFENSE—As map above shows, in any plan for defense against Russian aggression in Europe, Turkey occupies a critical position between Europe and the Middle East. Inevitably tied to Turkey in any defense combination is Greece. Admission of Greece and Turkey to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, expected at the NATO Council meeting in Rome, will pose the questions: Will Turkish and Greek forces be included in General Eisenhower's European army—to guard his right flank—or will they become part of a separate eastern Mediterranean command as a second defense front?

Financial and Commercial

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—A little encouragement was given to the stock market today by nonferrous metals, and that was enough to tilt the price level upward by a small margin.

Anaconda and Kennecott Copper were up around a point, which was just about as good as anything in the list did, and they were traded actively.

Anaconda has just signed an agreement with the government to boost its copper production around 30,000 tons a year by reactivating its Yerington mine in Lyon county, Nevada.

Steels were mostly higher while uitilities and rails were steady. Oils were definitely on the lower side. Elsewhere there was a rather narrow mixture of gains and losses with the usual exception of the higher priced, wider moving issues.

Air lines abandoned their role of favorites and idled narrowly, with trading unchanged for long periods.

There were several large blocks on the tape. United Corp. opened on a block of 15,000 shares unchanged at 4⅞, and Standard Oil of Ohio traded in one block of 10,000 shares off ¼ at 41½.

Upside stocks included American Smelting, Republic Steel, American Telephone, Southern Pacific, Goodyear, International Harvester, Chrysler, American Cyanamid, Twentieth Century-Fox, and American Woolen.

Lower were Amerada, Texas Pacific Land Trust, Santa Fe, General Motors, Homestake Mining, Dow Chemical, International Paper, American Tobacco, and National Biscuit.

Curb prices were higher but with a sprinkling of minus signs. Upside stocks included Creolé Petroleum, Electric Bond & Share, International Petroleum, Kaiser-Frazer, Louisiana Land, and National Petroleum. Lower were such issues as Babcock & Wilcox, Calvan Consolidated Oil, Pennroad, and South Penn Oil.

Corporate bonds were irregularly lower. U. S. government securities in the over the counter

Premier Applied For Funds to Halt Paralysis in Iran

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP)—Premier Mohammed Mossadegh of Iran said today he has appealed for "immediate financial aid" from the United States to prevent his country from being "paralyzed through lack of funds."

"Iran's economic crisis at this moment is so grave," he said, "that no one can be sure of the outcome unless urgent remedies are found."

The elderly Iranian leader made the statement in a speech before the National Press Club which bristled with denunciations of Britain for trying to block Iran's plan to nationalize the Anglo-Iran Oil Company.

Mossadegh, in his prepared text, definitely reaffirmed his government's determination to push ahead with the nationalization program. The British-Iranian dispute over it has halted the flow of oil from Iran for the past four months.

Pay Raises Announced

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—About 5,000 downstate accounting employes of the New York Telephone Company get weekly pay raises of $2 to $5 weekly under a new contract announced today. The agreement was reached in negotiations between the company and the Telephone Employes' Organization, Accounting, an independent union. Current wage scales were not available. The downstate employes are those in the area from Peekskill, south and eastward on Long Island to Montauk Point.

To Remain in Michigan

Pontiac, Mich., Nov. 14 (AP)—The 11 Murray Moore orphans were ordered kept in Michigan today in the care of relatives and two court-appointed guardians. Oakland County Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore made the ruling after a hearing. Its effect was to reject, for the time being at least, all offers of adoption of the children, including that of Pittsburgh's Mr. and Mrs. John Donald Babb.

Not Shipshape

Singapore (AP) — K. S. Lee, a Hong Kong physical culturist, doesn't think much of the women of Singapore. "Singapore women's hips, legs and angles are . . . . ugh! And what's more, they don't walk gracefully," he told newsmen here. But he had a good word, too. Singapore women, he said, "are kinder, more charming, simple and sincere than Hong Kong women." About Singapore men, Lee asserted. "There's room for improvement. He suggested what they need is more and better equipped gymnasiums and plenty of exercise.

Beaver Breeding

Tel Aviv, Israel (AP) — Beavers may be bred in Israel for the export of their skins. The first beaver-raising experiments have been made in the collective settlement of Kfar Masaryk in the Haifa area and are reported to be successful.

CONVERTIBLE CAR-CYCLE—You might call it a car or a motorcycle, but a better tag would be "convertible." The 4.5 horsepower, three-wheeled vehicle was shown in the international bicycle and motorcycle exhibition at Frankfurt, Germany. Search Is Made For Missing Plane

Wiesbaden, Germany, Nov. 14 (AP)—Search planes braved ice and fog in the treacherous mountains of southern France today looking for a U. S. Flying Boxcar believed down with 36 aboard. Up to early this afternoon they had found no trace of it.

U. S. aircraft from bases in Germany and England combed the country in a 40-mile corridor between Bordeaux and Dijon, where the plane was last heard from on a flight from Frankfurt to the U. S. supply port at Bordeaux.

U. S. Air Force officials said search headquarters have been established at Lyons, France, and that planes will be directed and refueled from there until the plane is found or the search called off.

Transport Disappears

The big twin-engine C-82 transport disappeared yesterday while flying 30 passengers and a crew of six from Frankfurt's Rhine main airport to the big U. S. supply base at Bordeaux.

Air force officials said the passengers were 29 enlisted airmen and one soldier, while the crew included three officers.

The airmen were being flown to Bordeaux to organize a motor pool and the soldier was returning from a furlough in Germany.

The plane was last heard from shortly before noon yesterday, over the Moulins area of central France, 160 miles southwest of Paris. Air force officials feared the big ship might have hit a mountain peak.

Two ground rescue crews, one from Wiesbaden and the other from Paris, were en route by car to the southern France region where the plane may have crashed.

First reports had identified the missing craft as an "evacuation plane" used to transport military hospital cases, but the air force said later there were no hospital cases aboard.

Milk Price Forecast

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—A uniform price of $4.89 a hundredweight (46.5 quarts) will be paid to dairy farmers for October deliveries to 426 pool-approved plants in the six-state New York milkshed, C. J. Blanford, market administrator, announced today. The uniform price in September was $4.76, and in October a year ago it was $4.63 a hundredweight. Blanford also announced a producer of butterfat differential for October of 5.8 cents for each tenth of a pound of fat above or below the 3.5 per cent standard.

Communists Arrested

Athens, Greece, Nov. 14 (AP)—Police announced today they arrested an undisclosed number of Communists in an Athens suburb last night and seized shortwave radio equipment and important documents. Drive Is Underway To Sell New Code To Municipalities

Albany, Nov. 14 (AP)—With the 1951 election over, a statewide drive is underway to "sell" the new state building code to municipalities.

The code, so far applicable only to one and two-family buildings, is one of Governor Dewey's pet projects. It is designed to permit use of "new-fangled" building materials, thereby slashing construction costs by as much as 10 per cent.

Dewey's administration forced the code law through the 1949 Legislature, but only after the governor's proposed "mandatory" system had been diluted to make it optional for municipalities that wanted it.

Adopted by Mamaroneck

Mamaroneck, a village of 16,000 population in Westchester county, was the first municipality to adopt the new code. Mayor Edwin B. Dooley said the code provided ways to keep building costs down through use of new materials.

The State Building Code Commission said that a "number of municipal officials had expressed the hope" that their communities would adopt the code.

The code went into effect Nov. 1. Most local governing bodies, which must approve the code, were busy with the election, and probably will not have a chance to consider it until the new officials get organized.

The code commission's technical division now is working on another code for multiple dwellings. It may be ready about Feb. 1.

Under the original law, the statewide code was to apply automatically to all municipalities that already had one of their own, unless local government rejected it. But the 1951 legislature changed this to require that the legislative body of a municipality must take affirmative action to be covered by the statewide standards.

At the present time, 55 of the state's 62 cities have their own codes or other building regulations. Sixty-one of the 932 towns and 222 of the 549 villages also have their own.

Code Wins Support

The state code program has won support in many parts of New York. For instance, its local adoption is being sponsored by about 10 building industry associations in Westchester county, by the Long Island Home Builders' Institute, the New York Building Congress, the Syracuse Society of Architects and the Rochester Home Builders' Association.

The law provides that the statewide code may be adopted by a legislative body—a city council, board of supervisors, town board or village trustees — by adopting a resolution. After using it a year, any municipality may reject the code, but must hold a public hearing before doing so.

New York's code differs radically from those already in use in most localities in that it is based on performance or functional standards, rather than on a specification basis.

The specific-type codes or regulations require, for instance, that a certain type of material must be used for cross-beams, or for foundations. Under the functional plan, any other material that "does the job" in accordance with health, safety and performance standards, may be used.

The code commission argues that specification-type codes become obsolete quickly as new building materials are designed or discovered. They are difficult to amend, and most communities do not keep them up to date.

Because of this, builders are bound by older requirements, which often cost more, and are prohibited from using water—and often cheaper—materials.

Approval Permitted

Under the state plan, if the builder can demonstrate that his proposals for use of materials or methods will meet the requirements of the state code, the local building official is permitted to approve the plans.

Or, if the building official is not sure the contractor's proposals are proper, he may refer the question to the State Code Commission's technical division for a quick decision.

The commission says that "a principal objective of the state building code law is to encourage the use of new materials and methods which are an improvement over old ones, and to bring about standardization of building products and methods in the interest of economy."

It has a three-point program:

1. Promulgation of performance-type codes for one and two-story family dwellings, for multiple family dwellings, and, finally, a comprehensive code for all types of occupancy and use.

2. Setting up standard procedures for introduction of materials, equipment and methods of assembly under the codes.

3. Creation of a central clearing house for collecting data on tests of materials, and for an interpretation of such data.

Stairs, Hand Rails

Stairs must be a certain width, and be equipped with hand rails; roofs must be built to withstand the weight of the heaviest snowfall or the strongest wind expected in a dwelling's area; enough windows must be provided for adequate light and ventilation; a garage must be separated from a dwelling by either open space, such as a breezeway, or by fire-resistant walls.

The requirement are drawn in general terms in most instances to give local building officials a broad basis for permitting the use of cheaper materials and methods.

Some opposition to these "general" requirements were voiced at code hearings conducted by the state commission.

The law, however, permits any municipality adopting the state code to tighten the requirements for its area. Such changes must be submitted to the code commission for approval.

FAITH IN THE FOXHOLE—Navy Chaplain James F. Follard conducts mass for fighting Marines dug in on a hillside somewhere in Korea. Father Follard wrote his own notations on this picture. They said: "Mass in a foxhole at the front lines. . . replacements moving up . . . men taking a breather after enemy shelling . . . men attending mass all around the mountain slope . . . war must go on! . . . Red shells came over before mass and after mass . . . none fell during mass."

Local Death Record

Fred Jones

Funeral services for Fred Jones of West Shokan were held Tuesday afternoon from the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, Inc., 296 Fair street, with the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra, minister of the Fair Street Reformed Church, officiating. Burial in Woodstock Cemetery.

Patricia Anne Taylor

The funeral of Patricia Anne, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Bruce Taylor, who died at the residence, Esopus avenue, Town of Uister, on Sunday, were held from the parlors of A. Carr & Son, 1 Pearl street, Tuesday at 10 a. m. The service was in charge of the Rev. Theodore Schultz, assistant pastor of St. Peter's Church. Burial took place in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Virgil C. Gordon

Funeral services for Virgil C. Gordon of Ashokan, veteran employe of the New York City Department of Water Supply, who died at the Benedictine Hospital November 7 were held at the Olive Bridge Methodist Church Saturday at 2 p. m. conducted by the Rev. Orson Rice of Catskill, a former pastor, assisted by the Rev. Jack Savage, present pastor. Organ selections were rendered by Miss Carol Davis. Services were attended by an over-flowing crowd. Employes of the Department of Water Supply attended in a body together with large delegations from Shokan Lodge, IOOF and Olive Fire Department No. 1. The entire church sanctuary was filled with many beautiful floral tributes which together with the large attendance at the services denoted the high esteem in which Mr. Gordon was held by his many friends. Friday night members of Shokan Lodge, IOOF, with delegations from William H. Raymond Lodge of Saugerties and Aretas Lodge of Kingston, the Olive Rebekah Lodge and Olive Fire Department No. 1 visited the home and held ritualistic services. Bearers were Ray Osterhoudt, Vincent Callahan, Harlow McLean, Alonzo Davis, Reginald Davis and Elson Oakley. Burial took place in Tongore Cemetery.

Reds Challenge UN To Break Off Talks

Munsan, Korea, Nov. 14 (AP)—The Communists challenged the Allies today to break off truce talks if the United Nations want to keep on fighting in Korea, a UN spokesman reported.

An Allied communique said it became "unmistakably clear" the Reds want to end the fighting now—in the air, on the sea and on the ground.

This was the first hint the Reds want the Allies to call off their planes and warships as soon as a buffer zone is created.

Dutchess to Get Blood-Mobile Unit

F. Paul Deuell, chairman of the Dutchess County Chapter, American Red Cross, announced recently that a Red Cross blood-mobile unit will be in Poughkeepsie Dec. 17 and 18.

Deuell said there is a possibility that the blood-mobile will make another visit to the city for at least a day before Jan. 1.

The Red Cross, fraternal and veterans groups in Poughkeepsie worked a month for a scheduled blood donor system for area residents to contribute to the war and defense stock piles.

Inquest Date Set

Riverhead, N. Y., Nov. 14 (AP)—Dr. John H. Nugent, Suffolk county coroner, today set Nov. 29 as the date for an inquest into the deaths of 45 persons who died when the charter fishing boat, Pelican, capsized off Montauk Point Sept. 1. Nineteen persons survived the disaster.

Esopus Legion Meeting Is Held

Port Ewen, Nov. 14—The regular monthly meeting of the Town of Esopus Post No. 1298, American Legion, was held Tuesday night at the Post home on Legion Court in Port Ewen.

P. Joseph Beichert, chairman of the membership committee, announced that the membership of the Esopus Legion prior to last night's meeting stood at 99. Beichert further announced that the membership drive now in progress would end Dec. 1 and that he was confident that the membership goal would be reached.

Alfred Schoonmaker, chairman of the annual Post card party, announced that plans for the card party had been completed and that patron and member tickets had been distributed. On the basis of ticket returns so far, all indications point to one of the most successful Legion card parties of recent years. This year's party will be held on Thursday, Nov. 29, at the Town Hall in Port Ewen.

Howard Galbreth, chairman of the Post Christmas Party for the children in the community, announced that this year's Christmas party would be held Thursday, Dec. 20, and that final plans for the party would be announced at the December meeting.

A discussion was held concerning the advisability of advocating an additional exit to the New York State Thruway at a point between the proposed exit at Highland and at Kingston. A committee headed by Henry Cameron was appointed to further look into this matter. At the conclusion of the meeting, refreshments were served.

Conference Is Held

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri conferred here today on a city-wide plan to cure teen-age drug addicts. The discussion centered on the possibility of establishing treatment facilities at Riverside Hospital on North Brother Island in the East river for young addicts. It dealt also with responsibilities to be undertaken by city and state in the addicts education as well as their cure. Also attending the conference were Attorney General Nathaniel L. Goldstein, Dr. Marcus D. Kogel, city hospitals commissioner, and Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, state commissioner of health.

Agents Are Assigned

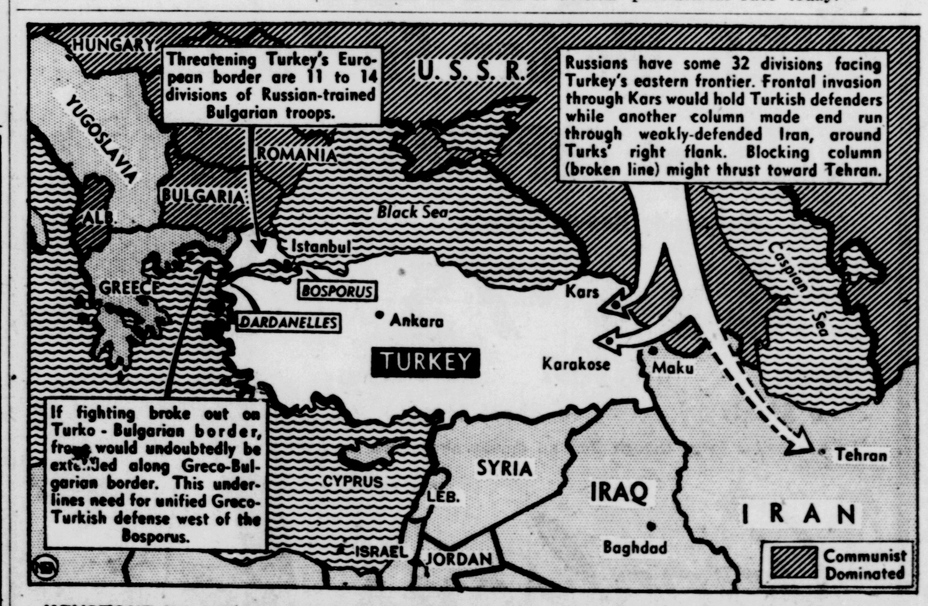

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP)—Internal Revenue Commissioner John B. Dunlap announced today he has assigned outside agents to investigate reported "irregularities" in the Revenue Bureau's Alcohol Tax unit. Dunlap said a special inquiry will be conducted by Secret Service and Narcotics agents under the direction of M. L. Harney, assistant commissioner of the Bureau of Narcotics.

Damage Suit Filed

New York, Nov. 14 (AP) — A $500,000 damage suit on behalf of the widow of George Flores, welterweighter fatally injured in a boxing bout, was filed today against the International Boxing Club and Madison Square Garden as promoters of the bout. Attorneys for Elaine Flores, 18, the widow, said she held that Flores was mismatched and that facilities and equipment for the bout were unsafe and inadequate.

Gets Life Sentence

Stockholm, Nov. 14 (AP)—Ernst Hilding Andersson, a Swedish naval officer who admitted spying for Russia, was sentenced today to life imprisonment at hard labor—the maximum under Swedish law for peacetime espionage. Andersson had admitted turning over information on Swedish military and naval installations to Russians in the Soviet embassy, for use in preparation of a possible plan for invasion of Sweden.

KEYSTONE TO MIDDLE EAST DEFENSE—As map above shows, in any plan for defense against Russian aggression in Europe, Turkey occupies a critical position between Europe and the Middle East. Inevitably tied to Turkey in any defense combination is Greece. Admission of Greece and Turkey to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, expected at the NATO Council meeting in Rome, will pose the questions: Will Turkish and Greek forces be included in General Eisenhower's European army—to guard his right flank—or will they become part of a separate eastern Mediterranean command as a second defense front?

Financial and Commercial

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—A little encouragement was given to the stock market today by nonferrous metals, and that was enough to tilt the price level upward by a small margin.

Anaconda and Kennecott Copper were up around a point, which was just about as good as anything in the list did, and they were traded actively.

Anaconda has just signed an agreement with the government to boost its copper production around 30,000 tons a year by reactivating its Yerington mine in Lyon county, Nevada.

Steels were mostly higher while uitilities and rails were steady. Oils were definitely on the lower side. Elsewhere there was a rather narrow mixture of gains and losses with the usual exception of the higher priced, wider moving issues.

Air lines abandoned their role of favorites and idled narrowly, with trading unchanged for long periods.

There were several large blocks on the tape. United Corp. opened on a block of 15,000 shares unchanged at 4⅞, and Standard Oil of Ohio traded in one block of 10,000 shares off ¼ at 41½.

Upside stocks included American Smelting, Republic Steel, American Telephone, Southern Pacific, Goodyear, International Harvester, Chrysler, American Cyanamid, Twentieth Century-Fox, and American Woolen.

Lower were Amerada, Texas Pacific Land Trust, Santa Fe, General Motors, Homestake Mining, Dow Chemical, International Paper, American Tobacco, and National Biscuit.

Curb prices were higher but with a sprinkling of minus signs. Upside stocks included Creole Petroleum, Electric Bond & Share, International Petroleum, Kaiser-Frazer, Louisiana Land, and National Petroleum. Lower were such issues as Babcock & Wilcox, Calvan Consolidated Oil, Pennroad, and South Penn Oil.

Corporate bonds were irregularly lower. U. S. government securities in the over the counter

Premier Applied For Funds to Halt Paralysis in Iran

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP)—Premier Mohammed Mossadegh of Iran said today he has appealed for "immediate financial aid" from the United States to prevent his country from being "paralyzed through lack of funds."

"Iran's economic crisis at this moment is so grave," he said, "that no one can be sure of the outcome unless urgent remedies are found."

The elderly Iranian leader made the statement in a speech before the National Press Club which bristled with denunciations of Britain for trying to block Iran's plan to nationalize the Anglo-Iran Oil Company.

Mossadegh, in his prepared text, definitely reaffirmed his government's determination to push ahead with the nationalization program. The British-Iranian dispute over it has halted the flow of oil from Iran for the past four months.

Pay Raises Announced

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—About 5,000 downstate accounting employes of the New York Telephone Company get weekly pay raises of $2 to $5 weekly under a new contract announced today. The agreement was reached in negotiations between the company and the Telephone Employes' Organization, Accounting, an independent union. Current wage scales were not available. The downstate employes are those in the area from Peekskill, south and eastward on Long Island to Montauk Point.

To Remain in Michigan

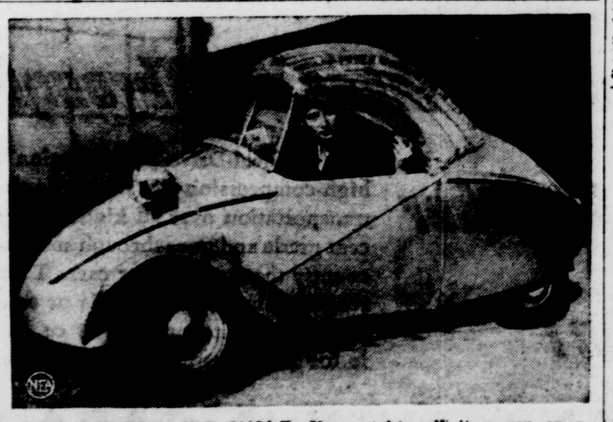

Pontiac, Mich., Nov. 14 (AP)—The 11 Murray Moore orphans were ordered kept in Michigan today in the care of relatives and two court-appointed guardians. Oakland County Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore made the ruling after a hearing. Its effect was to reject, for the time being at least, all offers of adoption of the children, including that of Pittsburgh's Mr. and Mrs. John Donald Babb.

Not Shipshape

Singapore (AP) — K. S. Lee, a Hong Kong physical culturist, doesn't think much of the women of Singapore. "Singapore women's hips, legs and angles are . . . . ugh! And what's more, they don't walk gracefully," he told newsmen here. But he had a good word, too. Singapore women, he said, "are kinder, more charming, simple and sincere than Hong Kong women." About Singapore men, Lee asserted. "There's room for improvement. He suggested what they need is more and better equipped gymnasiums and plenty of exercise.

Beaver Breeding

Tel Aviv, Israel (AP) — Beavers may be bred in Israel for the export of their skins. The first beaver-raising experiments have been made in the collective settlement of Kfar Masaryk in the Haifa area and are reported to be successful.

CONVERTIBLE CAR-CYCLE—You might call it a car or a motorcycle, but a better tag would be "convertible." The 4.5 horsepower, three-wheeled vehicle was shown in the international bicycle and motorcycle exhibition at Frankfurt, Germany. Its top, made of plastic, is inflated like a balloon to keep out rain. In fair weather, it's folded into a small handbag. (NEA-Acme photo by Staff Photographer Hans Jaeger.)

Search Is Made For Missing Plane

Wiesbaden, Germany, Nov. 14 (AP)—Search planes braved ice and fog in the treacherous mountains of southern France today looking for a U. S. Flying Boxcar believed down with 36 aboard. Up to early this afternoon they had found no trace of it.

U. S. aircraft from bases in Germany and England combed the country in a 40-mile corridor between Bordeaux and Dijon, where the plane was last heard from on a flight from Frankfurt to the U. S. supply port at Bordeaux.

U. S. Air Force officials said search headquarters have been established at Lyons, France, and that planes will be directed and refueled from there until the plane is found or the search called off.

Transport Disappears

The big twin-engine C-82 transport disappeared yesterday while flying 30 passengers and a crew of six from Frankfurt's Rhine main airport to the big U. S. supply base at Bordeaux.

Air force officials said the passengers were 29 enlisted airmen and one soldier, while the crew included three officers.

The airmen were being flown to Bordeaux to organize a motor pool and the soldier was returning from a furlough in Germany.

The plane was last heard from shortly before noon yesterday, over the Moulins area of central France, 160 miles southwest of Paris. Air force officials feared the big ship might have hit a mountain peak.

Two ground rescue crews, one from Wiesbaden and the other from Paris, were en route by car to the southern France region where the plane may have crashed.

First reports had identified the missing craft as an "evacuation plane" used to transport military hospital cases, but the air force said later there were no hospital cases aboard.

Milk Price Forecast

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—A uniform price of $4.89 a hundredweight (46.5 quarts) will be paid to dairy farmers for October deliveries to 426 pool-approved plants in the six-state New York milkshed, C. J. Blanford, market administrator, announced today. The uniform price in September was $4.76, and in October a year ago it was $4.63 a hundredweight. Blanford also announced a producer of butterfat differential for October of 5.8 cents for each tenth of a pound of fat above or below the 3.5 per cent standard.

Communists Arrested

Athens, Greece, Nov. 14 (AP)—Police announced today they arrested an undisclosed number of Communists in an Athens suburb last night and seized shortwave radio equipment and important documents. Interior Minister Constantine Rentis said it was one of the most successful moves to date in stamping out Communist underground organizations here.

Pre-School Child Topic at Meeting

Woodstock, Nov. 14—The regular monthly meeting of the Tinker Street Cooperative Nursery School was devoted last Thursday night to a discussion on the two and three-year-old child following the showing of a film by the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association entitled A Long Time to Grow. The film, which was made over a long period of time at the Vassar Nursery School was concerned with the activities and growth of the pre-school child. Miss Dorothy Varian, teacher at the Vassar school, who had participated in the making of the film, led the discussion and answered numerous questions presented by parents who attended the meeting.

Also present were three of the school's advisory committee, Miss Elsa Kimball, Mrs. Charles Rapp, and Walter Van Wagenen.

Miss Varian stressed the importance of group play for the three-year-old child, with the two-year-old remaining fairly individualistic in his activity. "It sometimes takes," she said, "from about October to February for a nursery school group to 'jell,' with a marked change observed by teachers in the children following the Christmas vacation."

"Routines," she reported, "take a long time to establish, and repetition is necessary in order to get the children ready for routine."

On the other hand she advised that the children be given plenty of leeway in their activities. "But they do need regularity and they are unhappy if they don't have it."

Miss Varian concluded with the reading of a monologue written by a five-year-old boy about the process of "growing big," which was the inspiration for the making of the film, A Long Time To Grow.

Odd Fellows Fair

Woodstock, Nov. 14—The annual fair and bazaar held by the Odd Fellows in Bearsville will be on the evenings of Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 19, 20 and 21, beginning at 7 p. m. The real country bazaar will feature games and auctions. The Agapae Rebekahs will handle the refreshments, including apple and pumpkin pies, as well as a booth of handmade articles. The bazaar will be under the direction of George Eichler, Albert Montgomery and Ivan Mallow.

Shady Veteran Will Get Yule Package

Woodstock, Nov. 14—The Kings Daughters of Shady, as a part of their holiday program, have sent a Christmas package of homemade candy, cookies and other articles to Theodore Rose, of Shady who is stationed with the armed forces in Japan.

As their Thanksgiving contribution, the Kings Daughters are sending a donation to the Kings Daughters old age home, known as the Margaret Bottome in Mt. Vernon. They also are sending boxes of candy to the Kings Daughters children's home in Cortland. To raise funds for these two donations, the group gave a harvest supper in October at the Methodist Church Hall, and reported that they were highly gratified at the turn-out which has made it possible to make generous contributions to both homes.

It was agreed that no Christmas package be sent to John Pane, son of the Shady Postmistress, in that she had been receiving returned mail addressed to him recently and consequently assumed that he is now making the return trip from Korea where he has been with the armed forces.

Shop Is Closed

Woodstock, No. 14—The Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen will be closed today and Thursday. The Guild will be open for consignors only from Friday, Nov. 16 to Nov. 23. On Nov. 23, the Guild will open with its 12th annual holiday fair. Further details concerning the fair will be announced.

Building Is Sold

Woodstock, Nov. 14 (AP)—Final arrangements were completed Tuesday afternoon for the sale of the Nook building on Tinker street to William Hand by William Mower. The restaurant in the Nook building, one of the village's historic landmarks, will continue as heretofore, and further plans for the building will be announced by Hand.

Husband, Wife Dinner

New Officers Preside

Woodstock, Nov. 14—The regular meeting of Agapae Rebekah Lodge was held last Wednesday night at the Bearsville Lodge Hall, with the new officers presiding for their first meeting. Regular business was transacted and secret pals were drawn for the new year. Refreshments and a social hour were enjoyed after the meeting. Bessie MacIntyre, president of the New York State Rebekah Assembly, will make her official visit to District 2, at Queen Ulster Rebekah Lodge, Saugerties, Nov. 28. There will be a roast turkey banquet held at the Methodist Church, Saugerties at 6:30 p. m., preceding the meeting. All members of Agapae Rebekah Lodge wishing to attend the banquet are requested to notify Orpha Snyder, by Nov. 21.

Village Notes

Woodstock, Nov. 14—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wallerstein, of Westport, Conn., visited Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Herrick this week. Mrs. Wallerstein is the niece of the late George Ault and Mrs. Bruce Herrick. Mr. Wallerstein recently discontinued his business associations with the Columbia Broadcasting Company.

Aaron Hasbrouck returned to his home last Thursday from the Kingston Hospital.

Warren Hutty and Edgar Bauman went to Newburgh Monday night to witness the raising of William Hand to the degree of master mason at the Karem Lodge 1074, Newburgh.

Electrol Plans

those who rank in the upper 25 per cent of their senior class are eligible.

Application forms must be accompanied by a transcript of secondary school record; two letters of recommendation from persons other than relatives; a small, recent photograph of the candidate, and a report from the school principal on a form furnished by the company. An interview with the personnel director will be arranged for every eligible applicant who has been endorsed by his school principal.

Initial applications can be made through the school principal and must be completed not later than Dec. 1. The principal must forward the application, letters of recommendation and transcripts to Electrol by Dec. 15.

Candidates will be given scholastic aptitude and achievement tests conducted by the College Entrance Examination Board. The examinations will be held at Kingston High School. The results of these tests and the recommendations of the Electrol Scholarship Committee will determine the successful candidate who will be named Electrol Scholar.

To retain an Electrol Engineering Scholarship after the first college term, the scholar must maintain an academic average satisfactory to the scholarship committee of the college he attends and to the Electrol Scholarship Committee. He must also continue a course of study directly related to a career in the aircraft industry.

Members of the Electrol Scholarship Committee are B. N. Ashton, chairman; the Hon. John T. Loughran, chief judge of the Court of Appeals; Ernest A. Steuding, superintendent of the Board of Public Works; John Henry Martin, principal of Kingston High School; Ronald Riegil, principal of Kerhonkson High School; James A. Dwyer, president, Rondout National Bank, and James F. Tobin, director of guidance for Kingston city schools.

His 'Yes' Expected

Sacramento, Calif., Nov. 14 (AP)—Gov. Earl Warren is expected to say "yes" today to some California GOP leaders' appeals that he seek the presidency. Warren, No. 2 man on the 1948 Dewey-Warren ticket, scheduled a news conference at 10 a. m. (1 p. m. EST) to pass on his decision. He promised an unequivocal statement. It will reply to petitioning by most California party leaders to declare his candidacy for the Republican nomination and to authorize a Warren for president slate of convention delegates on the June primary ballot.

Woodstock, Nov. 14—The annual fair and bazaar held by the Odd Fellows in Bearsville will be on the evenings of Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 19, 20 and 21, beginning at 7 p. m. The real country bazaar will feature games and auctions. The Agapae Rebekahs will handle the refreshments, including apple and pumpkin pies, as well as a booth of handmade articles. The bazaar will be under the direction of George Eichler, Albert Montgomery and Ivan Mallow.

Shady Veteran Will Get Yule Package

Woodstock, Nov. 14—The Kings Daughters of Shady, as a part of their holiday program, have sent a Christmas package of homemade candy, cookies and other articles to Theodore Rose, of Shady who is stationed with the armed forces in Japan.

As their Thanksgiving contribution, the Kings Daughters are sending a donation to the Kings Daughters old age home, known as the Margaret Bottome in Mt. Vernon. They also are sending boxes of candy to the Kings Daughters children's home in Cortland. To raise funds for these two donations, the group gave a harvest supper in October at the Methodist Church Hall, and reported that they were highly gratified at the turn-out which has made it possible to make generous contributions to both homes.

It was agreed that no Christmas package be sent to John Pane, son of the Shady Postmistress, in that she had been receiving returned mail addressed to him recently and consequently assumed that he is now making the return trip from Korea where he has been with the armed forces.

Shop Is Closed

Woodstock, No. 14—The Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen will be closed today and Thursday. The Guild will be open for consignors only from Friday, Nov. 16 to Nov. 23. On Nov. 23, the Guild will open with its 12th annual holiday fair. Further details concerning the fair will be announced.

Building Is Sold

Woodstock, Nov. 14 (AP)—Final arrangements were completed Tuesday afternoon for the sale of the Nook building on Tinker street to William Hand by William Mower. The restaurant in the Nook building, one of the village's historic landmarks, will continue as heretofore, and further plans for the building will be announced by Hand.

Husband, Wife Dinner

New Officers Preside

Woodstock, Nov. 14—The regular meeting of Agapae Rebekah Lodge was held last Wednesday night at the Bearsville Lodge Hall, with the new officers presiding for their first meeting. Regular business was transacted and secret pals were drawn for the new year. Refreshments and a social hour were enjoyed after the meeting. Bessie MacIntyre, president of the New York State Rebekah Assembly, will make her official visit to District 2, at Queen Ulster Rebekah Lodge, Saugerties, Nov. 28. There will be a roast turkey banquet held at the Methodist Church, Saugerties at 6:30 p. m., preceding the meeting. All members of Agapae Rebekah Lodge wishing to attend the banquet are requested to notify Orpha Snyder, by Nov. 21.

Village Notes

Woodstock, Nov. 14—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wallerstein, of Westport, Conn., visited Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Herrick this week. Mrs. Wallerstein is the niece of the late George Ault and Mrs. Bruce Herrick. Mr. Wallerstein recently discontinued his business associations with the Columbia Broadcasting Company.

Aaron Hasbrouck returned to his home last Thursday from the Kingston Hospital.

Warren Hutty and Edgar Bauman went to Newburgh Monday night to witness the raising of William Hand to the degree of master mason at the Karem Lodge 1074, Newburgh.

Electrol Plans

those who rank in the upper 25 per cent of their senior class are eligible.

Application forms must be accompanied by a transcript of secondary school record; two letters of recommendation from persons other than relatives; a small, recent photograph of the candidate, and a report from the school principal on a form furnished by the company. An interview with the personnel director will be arranged for every eligible applicant who has been endorsed by his school principal.

Initial applications can be made through the school principal and must be completed not later than Dec. 1. The principal must forward the application, letters of recommendation and transcripts to Electrol by Dec. 15.

Candidates will be given scholastic aptitude and achievement tests conducted by the College Entrance Examination Board. The examinations will be held at Kingston High School. The results of these tests and the recommendations of the Electrol Scholarship Committee will determine the successful candidate who will be named Electrol Scholar.

To retain an Electrol Engineering Scholarship after the first college term, the scholar must maintain an academic average satisfactory to the scholarship committee of the college he attends and to the Electrol Scholarship Committee. He must also continue a course of study directly related to a career in the aircraft industry.

Members of the Electrol Scholarship Committee are B. N. Ashton, chairman; the Hon. John T. Loughran, chief judge of the Court of Appeals; Ernest A. Steuding, superintendent of the Board of Public Works; John Henry Martin, principal of Kingston High School; Ronald Riegil, principal of Kerhonkson High School; James A. Dwyer, president, Rondout National Bank, and James F. Tobin, director of guidance for Kingston city schools.

Will Parole 25 Japanese

Tokyo, Nov. 14 (AP)—Twenty-five Japanese war criminals will be paroled next week after serving most of their terms in Tokyo's Sugamo prison. This will bring to 436 the number who have been freed.

Triplets Get Their Hair Cut

Sacramento, Calif., Nov. 14 (AP)—Gov. Earl Warren is expected to say "yes" today to some California GOP leaders' appeals that he seek the presidency. Warren, No. 2 man on the 1948 Dewey-Warren ticket, scheduled a news conference at 10 a. m. (1 p. m. EST) to pass on his decision. He promised an unequivocal statement. It will reply to petitioning by most California party leaders to declare his candidacy for the Republican nomination and to authorize a Warren for president slate of convention delegates on the June primary ballot.

Heavy Demand Reported for Reserved Seats For Annual Ahavath Israel Ball Program

Due to popular demand, a small section of the seating arrangements at the 15th annual Thanksgiving Eve ball sponsored by Congregation Ahavath Israel will be set aside for reserved seats, Herman G. Rafalowsky, general chairman, said today.

It is planned to reserve only about 300 of the seats at the municipal auditorium for the big stage show and ball which will feature Xavier Cugat and his great orchestra next Wednesday night, Nov. 21.

Rafalowsky also reported today that requests for reserved seats must be made on or before Nov. 20.

The idea of the reserved seat arrangement, the first time it has ever been tried at a local ball, was suggested to the Ahavath Israel ball committee workers by out-of-town guests who in the past have made long trips from such places including Connecticut, New York city, Massachusetts and other distant areas.

Meanwhile, Murray Greene, chairman of the reserved seat sale, reported that there has been a brisk request for such tickets after Tuesday's first announcement of the plan.

The appearance of Cugat and his nationally famed rumba orchestra in Kingston next Wednesday night presages one of the biggest throngs ever to attend a local ball.

Coming to Kingston with the Cugat band will be the entire troupe of performers who are now playing a limited engagement at the Roxy Theatre in New York. Abbey Lane, the Latin bombshell, is the featured vocalist with the Cugat orchestra.

Rafalowsky, who has already brought top-ranking orchestras and performers to this city for the annual Ahavath Israel balls, is again leaving no stones untouched in his efforts to stage a big show.

The genial general chairman, who promised an announcement shortly on the selection of a master of ceremonies, said today that next week's programs will be "one of the finest ever presented in Kingston."

Single tickets for the annual Ahavath Israel ball may be procured at the following places in the city:

Legion Auxiliary Seeks Yule Gifts For GI Hospitals

With the Christmas season approaching, members of Kingston Unit 150, American Legion are again appealing for gifts to be sent to Christmas shops in the various veteran hospitals.

Gifts requested include handkerchiefs, scarves, gloves, stockings, purses, mittens, dolls and jewelry. Ethel McNamee, unit publicity chairman, points out that the gifts are to be new and not less than a dollar in price. She also said that the gifts are not to be wrapped. However, wrappings and cards are needed as contributions.

Anyone wishing to share in this work is requested to leave gifts in the large red box in the Montgomery Ward store, North Front street, or at the Legion Building, West O'Reilly street, before Nov. 23.

Personal Notes

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Leininger of 318 Lucas avenue and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Moser, 122 Elmendorf street, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Smith in New York.

A housewarming was recently given to Messrs. Carl and Herman Wolf, not Mr. and Mrs. Wolf as previously reported, at their new home on 14 East Chester street extension.

Mr. and Mrs. James D. Gaddis gave a house-warming in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley R. Goodman at their new home on Hinsdale street, Saturday evening. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur See, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walker, Mr. and Mrs. James J. Gaddis, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Goodman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Funcheon, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Decker, Mr. and Mrs. James D. Gaddis, Mrs. William Quigley and the Misses Muriel Wheeler, Margaret Decker, Heather A. Goodman.

Mrs. Jennie Rein of 19 York Place has returned to her home from the Kingston Hospital where she has been a patient for 10-days.

Mrs. Anna Onderdonk of 64 Murray street is convalescing at the Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cacioppo of Rosendale are enjoying a visit from their son and wife, Staff Sergeant and Mrs. Carl J. Cacioppo who arrived Saturday morning after a 3,300-mile auto trip from Castle AFB, California. Mrs. Carl Cacioppo is the former Miss Betty Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Baker of Atwater, Calif. Sgt. Cacioppo will leave soon for a European tour of duty. Mrs. Cacioppo will remain with Sgt. Cacioppo's parents. The Cacioppos are former residents of New Paltz.

Miss Patricia Ann Prusack, mascot for Kingston High School, twirled at the football game between Port Jervis and Kingston High School at Port Jervis Saturday. She was accompanied on the trip by her mother, Mrs. Edward Prusack of 59 Farrelly street.

YWCA Forms New Craft Work Class

A pre-Christmas class in leather and metalcraft is being offered at the YWCA Monday from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. Under the leadership of Mrs. William McVey, class members will have an opportunity to develop their creative skills in the designing and making of jewelry, rings, pins, bracelets, trays, bowls, and other metal work or in leathercraft, belts, bags, and purses. Block printing or textile painting will be included, if desired.

At the season of the year it is possible to develop a hobby which will bring satisfaction and at the same time produce attractive, personalized Christmas gifts, it is pointed out.

The class is limited to 10 in order to allow the teacher to give a maximum of individual attention to each other.

Those already include Mrs. L. Eugene Decker, Miss Jessie Green, Mrs. Hilda Lamphere, Mrs. John Martin, Mrs. Michael Mattia, Mrs. Henry Page and Mrs. Ivan Whitmore. Additional registration will be received up to Saturday of this week. If registrants warrant, a second class will be organized.

Woodstock Artists Heard in Brooklyn

Sidney Harth, violinist and Joseph Wolman, pianist, members of the Woodstock Quartet, were the featured artists in a concert presented Nov. 11 by the Brooklyn Museum. Their program, including compositions by Beethoven, Schubert and Brahms, was enthusiastically received by a large audience.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

WHEN FRANKNESS IS NECESSARY

An unhappy situation is described as follows: "Several years ago I married into quite a large family. Last Christmas we all exchanged Christmas presents, but this year, with the high cost of living, we simply have no money for anything but the necessities. Please tell me just how to go about this situation in a tactful way."

The only thing to do is to explain to the others frankly that you will not be able to give any presents this Christmas, and for them to please not give you anything.

Seating in Car

Dear Mrs. Post: I know from reading your column that it is not proper for husbands and wives to be seated next to each other at table when other guests are present. However, I don't recall ever having seen this question answered in regard to seating in a car. When two married couples go out in a car, does this same rule apply, or do both wives sit together on the back seat and the husbands together on the front seat?

Answer: There is no fixed rule about this, but it is somewhat more usual for the wives to sit together on the back seat and the two men together on the front seat. On a long tour the wife of the driver usually sits beside her husband because he is used to counting on her for road map directions.

Sometimes Yes, Sometimes No

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married in the near future, and would like to invite the office staff. However, quite a few of them are married and I wondered whether I had to ask their husbands (or wives) to come too. My guest list is long now and I don't want to add to it if possible. Could you please tell me what is proper in this situation?

Answer: If the wedding is taking place on a week day and the whole force goes from the office in a group, the unknown husbands (or wives) need not be invited. But if the wedding takes place at a time when the husbands and wives would be together at home, then both should be invited.

Is your question about the correct dress for the men in a wedding party? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but details for clothes of the bridal party are given in leaflet E-3. To Present Revue

MARY BRUCE

The "Starbuds," a dance revue consisting of 300 colored singers and dancers ranging in ages from 3 to 16 years, will be presented by Mary Bruce at Carnegie Hall on Friday night, Nov. 23.

Miss Bruce who resides on her 100-acre farm, Brucewood located between Mount Marion and Saugerties is a famous dancer and considered "America's greatest authority on Negro dancing." She has taught many outstanding celebrities including Betty Grable, Ava Gardner, Paulette Goddard and many others, it is said.

A native of Chicago, Miss Bruce established her New York school in 1938. Social and civic groups have commended her for her contribution in the fight against child delinquency. Besides teaching and training children from the best homes, she trains hundreds of children from indigent homes who have a great desire to learn to dance but cannot afford to pay.

Taking time out from her crowded schedule, Miss Bruce studied psychology, anthropology and sociology at Columbia University. These subjects have aided her greatly in establishing a relationship with her students. She has also studied law at Chicago Law School and speaks several languages.

Her "Starbuds" group has been acclaimed as the "greatest juvenile show on earth." It was featured in Life magazine last year at the time of its Carnegie Hall presentation. From time to time Mary Bruce and her famous dancers are seen on TV and are appearing with the Ken Murray show.

County SPCA Will Meet on Thursday

A meeting of the directors of the Ulster County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will be held Thursday, Nov. 15, at 8 p. m. Regular business will be discussed such as the ceremonies in connection with the dedication of the new animal ambulance and placing it into use.

A report will be given by the committee which has been surveying sites for the proposed animal shelter.

There will also be a report from the educational committee on the results of the work of the junior SPCA helpers who have been enrolled as the result of recent talks given by Ed Bauman to the school children.

Plans for ways and means of raising funds to carry on the work of the SPCA also will be discussed.

Pike and Swenson Paintings Chosen For Annual Show

New York, Nov. 12 (Special)—Paintings by two local Ulster country artists, one a prize winner, have been choosen for inclusion in the 38th annual exhibition of the Allied Artists of America, which has opened at the National Academy Galleries on Fifth avenue here.

On display are water colors by John Pike of Woodstock, entitled September Song, and Valerie Swenson, of Allaben, whose work is called Gray Squirrels. The Pike painting was awarded the Arthur C. Friedrichs Prize for water colors.

Three juries of eminent artists selected the oils, water colors and sculptures that constitute this year's show from thousands of entries submitted from all parts of the country.

The exhibition will be open to the public until Nov. 25.

With the Christmas season approaching, members of Kingston Unit 150, American Legion are again appealing for gifts to be sent to Christmas shops in the various veteran hospitals.

Gifts requested include handkerchiefs, scarves, gloves, stockings, purses, mittens, dolls and jewelry. Ethel McNamee, unit publicity chairman, points out that the gifts are to be new and not less than a dollar in price. She also said that the gifts are not to be wrapped. However, wrappings and cards are needed as contributions.

Anyone wishing to share in this work is requested to leave gifts in the large red box in the Montgomery Ward store, North Front street, or at the Legion Building, West O'Reilly street, before Nov. 23.

Personal Notes

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Leininger of 318 Lucas avenue and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Moser, 122 Elmendorf street, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Smith in New York.

A housewarming was recently given to Messrs. Carl and Herman Wolf, not Mr. and Mrs. Wolf as previously reported, at their new home on 14 East Chester street extension.

Mr. and Mrs. James D. Gaddis gave a house-warming in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley R. Goodman at their new home on Hinsdale street, Saturday evening. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur See, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walker, Mr. and Mrs. James J. Gaddis, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Goodman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Funcheon, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Decker, Mr. and Mrs. James D. Gaddis, Mrs. William Quigley and the Misses Muriel Wheeler, Margaret Decker, Heather A. Goodman.

Mrs. Jennie Rein of 19 York Place has returned to her home from the Kingston Hospital where she has been a patient for 10-days.

Mrs. Anna Onderdonk of 64 Murray street is convalescing at the Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cacioppo of Rosendale are enjoying a visit from their son and wife, Staff Sergeant and Mrs. Carl J. Cacioppo who arrived Saturday morning after a 3,300-mile auto trip from Castle AFB, California. Mrs. Carl Cacioppo is the former Miss Betty Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Baker of Atwater, Calif. Sgt. Cacioppo will leave soon for a European tour of duty. Mrs. Cacioppo will remain with Sgt. Cacioppo's parents. The Cacioppos are former residents of New Paltz.

Miss Patricia Ann Prusack, mascot for Kingston High School, twirled at the football game between Port Jervis and Kingston High School at Port Jervis Saturday. She was accompanied on the trip by her mother, Mrs. Edward Prusack of 59 Farrelly street.

YWCA Forms New Craft Work Class

A pre-Christmas class in leather and metalcraft is being offered at the YWCA Monday from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. Under the leadership of Mrs. William McVey, class members will have an opportunity to develop their creative skills in the designing and making of jewelry, rings, pins, bracelets, trays, bowls, and other metal work or in leathercraft, belts, bags, and purses. Block printing or textile painting will be included, if desired.

At the season of the year it is possible to develop a hobby which will bring satisfaction and at the same time produce attractive, personalized Christmas gifts, it is pointed out.

The class is limited to 10 in order to allow the teacher to give a maximum of individual attention to each other.

Those already include Mrs. L. Eugene Decker, Miss Jessie Green, Mrs. Hilda Lamphere, Mrs. John Martin, Mrs. Michael Mattia, Mrs. Henry Page and Mrs. Ivan Whitmore. Additional registration will be received up to Saturday of this week. If registrants warrant, a second class will be organized.

Woodstock Artists Heard in Brooklyn

Sidney Harth, violinist and Joseph Wolman, pianist, members of the Woodstock Quartet, were the featured artists in a concert presented Nov. 11 by the Brooklyn Museum. Their program, including compositions by Beethoven, Schubert and Brahms, was enthusiastically received by a large audience.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

WHEN FRANKNESS IS NECESSARY

An unhappy situation is described as follows: "Several years ago I married into quite a large family. Last Christmas we all exchanged Christmas presents, but this year, with the high cost of living, we simply have no money for anything but the necessities. Please tell me just how to go about this situation in a tactful way."

The only thing to do is to explain to the others frankly that you will not be able to give any presents this Christmas, and for them to please not give you anything.

Seating in Car

Dear Mrs. Post: I know from reading your column that it is not proper for husbands and wives to be seated next to each other at table when other guests are present. However, I don't recall ever having seen this question answered in regard to seating in a car. When two married couples go out in a car, does this same rule apply, or do both wives sit together on the back seat and the husbands together on the front seat?

Answer: There is no fixed rule about this, but it is somewhat more usual for the wives to sit together on the back seat and the two men together on the front seat. On a long tour the wife of the driver usually sits beside her husband because he is used to counting on her for road map directions.

Sometimes Yes, Sometimes No

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married in the near future, and would like to invite the office staff. However, quite a few of them are married and I wondered whether I had to ask their husbands (or wives) to come too. My guest list is long now and I don't want to add to it if possible. Could you please tell me what is proper in this situation?

Answer: If the wedding is taking place on a week day and the whole force goes from the office in a group, the unknown husbands (or wives) need not be invited. But if the wedding takes place at a time when the husbands and wives would be together at home, then both should be invited.

Is your question about the correct dress for the men in a wedding party? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but details for clothes of the bridal party are given in leaflet E-3. Will Wed Korean War Veteran

Mr. and Mrs. Rexford V. Pratt, Bainbridge, announce the engagement of their daughter, Marion Anne, to Sgt. James E. Rockwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rockwell, Sr., Granite court, this city. Sgt. Rockwell, a veteran of the Korean war, is home on leave. He was in combat with the Indian Head 2nd Division while in Korea. No date has been set for the wedding.

To Present Revue

MARY BRUCE

The "Starbuds," a dance revue consisting of 300 colored singers and dancers ranging in ages from 3 to 16 years, will be presented by Mary Bruce at Carnegie Hall on Friday night, Nov. 23.

Miss Bruce who resides on her 100-acre farm, Brucewood located between Mount Marion and Saugerties is a famous dancer and considered "America's greatest authority on Negro dancing." She has taught many outstanding celebrities including Betty Grable, Ava Gardner, Paulette Goddard and many others, it is said.

A native of Chicago, Miss Bruce established her New York school in 1938. Social and civic groups have commended her for her contribution in the fight against child delinquency. Besides teaching and training children from the best homes, she trains hundreds of children from indigent homes who have a great desire to learn to dance but cannot afford to pay.

Taking time out from her crowded schedule, Miss Bruce studied psychology, anthropology and sociology at Columbia University. These subjects have aided her greatly in establishing a relationship with her students. She has also studied law at Chicago Law School and speaks several languages.

Her "Starbuds" group has been acclaimed as the "greatest juvenile show on earth." It was featured in Life magazine last year at the time of its Carnegie Hall presentation. From time to time Mary Bruce and her famous dancers are seen on TV and are appearing with the Ken Murray show.

County SPCA Will Meet on Thursday

A meeting of the directors of the Ulster County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will be held Thursday, Nov. 15, at 8 p. m. Regular business will be discussed such as the ceremonies in connection with the dedication of the new animal ambulance and placing it into use.

A report will be given by the committee which has been surveying sites for the proposed animal shelter.

There will also be a report from the educational committee on the results of the work of the junior SPCA helpers who have been enrolled as the result of recent talks given by Ed Bauman to the school children.

Plans for ways and means of raising funds to carry on the work of the SPCA also will be discussed.

Pike and Swenson Paintings Chosen For Annual Show

New York, Nov. 12 (Special)—Paintings by two local Ulster country artists, one a prize winner, have been choosen for inclusion in the 38th annual exhibition of the Allied Artists of America, which has opened at the National Academy Galleries on Fifth avenue here.

On display are water colors by John Pike of Woodstock, entitled September Song, and Valerie Swenson, of Allaben, whose work is called Gray Squirrels. The Pike painting was awarded the Arthur C. Friedrichs Prize for water colors.

Three juries of eminent artists selected the oils, water colors and sculptures that constitute this year's show from thousands of entries submitted from all parts of the country.

The exhibition will be open to the public until Nov. 25.

500,00 Egyptians Join in Rally, but DisperePeacefully

Cairo, Egypt, Nov. 14 (AP)—An estimated 500,000 Egyptians joined in a giant "silent" anti-British demonstration here today, then folded their banners and began to disperse peacefully.

As 100,000 watched, the 400,000 marchers paraded through Cairo to King Farouk's Abdin palace, making a day of mourning for 20 Egyptians killed during the past month of violence over Britain's refusal to quit the Suez Cana zone.

As the parade through heavy police lines entered the palace square, the crowd obeyed police instructions and began to drift slowly away in small groups.

Under Orders

The marchers, like the 100,000 who paraded peacefully at Alexandria yesterday, were under government orders to keep silent and refrain from shouting. The government hoped this decree and the heavy police guards would prevent violent outbreaks.

The Alexandria demonstrators yesterday carefully observed the "silence" order as they celebrated the 33rd anniversary of Egypt's bid for complete independence from Britain. Instead they carried slogans repeating Egypt's official demand that Britain get her troops out of the Suez Canal zone and permit the neighboring Sudan to come under King Farouk's exclusive rule.

Maneuvers Camp Is Made Permanent

Las Vegas, Nev., Nov. 14 (AP)—History's first atomic maneuvers camp has been made a permanent installation by the army.

Spokesmen last night announced that Camp Desert Rock will be placed under the command of Brig. Gen. Burdette W. Fitch, former acting deputy commanding officer of the Sixth Army. The camp is about 65 miles from here, on the edge of the Atomic Energy Commission's Nevada test site.

It was headquarters for more than 5,000 GI's in the recent series of five atomic blasts at Yucca flat.

A second series of less spectacular tests is expected to get under way Thursday, but troops will not participate in this phase.

The acreage of Irish potatoes grown in North America has dropped from 3.6 million in prewar years to 2.5 million in 1950.

Says U. S. Is Unsafe

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 14 (AP)—Senator Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) declared last night that the United States cannot be safe from war as long as President Truman remains in office. In a blunt, hard-hitting attack on American foreign policy Taft described the Korean hostilities as a "Truman war." "He (the President) usurped the power of Congress to make that war," said the Ohio lawmaker. "It's a Truman war. He did it, I believe, without the slightest authority." And in one brief mention of the Atlantic Pact and its provisions for sending several U. S. Divisions to Europe, Taft caustically said: "The Atlantic Pact did not justify the sending of any troops to Europe."

Margaret Webster

W. G. Rogers described it as "boldly exotic and sensual."

New singers in the "Aida" cast were George London, an American bass-baritone making his New York debut after singing abroad, Greek contralto Elena Nikolaida and Italian tenor Mario del Monaco, singing for the first time as a regular member of the company.

The Met opened with its financial condition the best of years. Its deficit has been paid off and a new federal law will give it about $500,000 yearly tax relief.

New prices for opening night—up to $450 for first-tier boxes—brought the Met one of its largest takes for a single evening, about $52,000.

Standing room, priced from $1.50 to $3, was quickly sold out to a line that included a few who had waited two or three days outside the opera house.

Miss Webster was the managing director of the Woodstock Playhouse in 1950. Among the highlights of that summer season in Ulster county was the presentation of Shakespeare's Taming of the Shrew by her noted company, which for several years toured the nation with productions of the work by the Bard of Avon.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Hope for Best, But Prepare for Worst

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

What sort of temperament do you have at the bridge table? Do you take it for granted that suits will break pretty well for you and that finesses will work? Or do you expect bad suit breaks and all finesses offside?

At the risk of sounding like a Boy Scout, I must point out that the best style at bridge is to hope for the best but to be prepared for the worst. With that in mind, how would you play the hand shown today?

When the hand actually came along in a rubber bridge game at the Mayfair Bridge Club in New York recently, declarer was a friendly optimistic sort of fellow.

Opening lead—♥ 4

This was not the hand for his temperament.

He won the opening heart lead with the king, finessed the queen of diamonds, and then laid down the ace of diamonds from the dummy. East discarded a club, and South saw that there was very little future in diamonds.

After some thought, and perhaps a twinge of regret, declarer laid down the ace and queen of spades from the dummy and returned to his hand with the ace of hearts to cash the king of spades. All would have been well if spades had broken 3-3, but this also failed. South couldn't get another trick if he stood on his head, so the opponents cheerfully scored 200 points.

South could have made his contract, of course, as you've probably noticed. Do you see how?

South wins the first trick with the king of hearts and successfully finesses the queen of diamonds. Then he should cash the ace and queen of spades. Next he leads a low diamond from the dummy and puts up the jack from his own hand.

If West takes the trick, South regains the lead with the ace of hearts (whether or not the defenders take two clubs in the meantime), cashes the king of spades, and then finesses through West's ten of diamonds to make the rest of dummy's long suit. South makes three spades, two hearts, and four diamonds.

If West refuses the jack of diamonds (to shut out dummy's suit), South lays down the king of spades and gives East a spade trick. South still has the ace of hearts as entry to his last spade. He makes four spades, two hearts and three diamonds.

How You May Gain New Strength — Feel Younger

When you are run-down — low-spirited — have sleepless nights — no energy — "nerves" — poor appetite, don't be discouraged! Chances are you are just not getting your full daily requirements of the necessary vitamins and minerals from the food you eat.

What you should do is try FERRIZAN—the new dietary supplement and reconstructive tonic. FERRIZAN not only gives you your full quota of many of the essential vitamins but also supplies the equally important Iron for the blood and Iodine for the ductless glands plus needed Calcium and Phosphorous.

Often in ten days you may feel the difference; your friends notice it. Back comes your appetite—you should actually feel the urge to eat. Nerves can grow steadier; work easier; you may sleep more soundly.

So why delay? Why not decide now to take FERRIZAN for 30 days and see for yourself just how wonderful FERRIZAN can make you feel. Costs you only a few cents a day. Money refunded if not completely satisfied, says United Cut Rate Pharmacy.

Grand Jury Quiz Held for Methfessel

New York, Nov. 14 (AP) — A Staten Island grand jury has questioned Herman Methfessel, defeated district attorney who arrested a woman for testifying she saw him at a roulette game.

Methfessel placed a perjury charge against Mrs. Anna Wentworth after she told the State Crime Commission she had seen Methfessel in the home of Mrs. Theresa Dalessio while roulette was being played.

The arrest resulted in Governor Dewey's superseding Methfessel by naming William B. Herlands as special prosecutor to investigate gambling and racketeering on Staten Island. Methfessel, a Democrat, was later defeated for re-election as Richmond county district attorney.

Methfessel was sworn in as a witness before the grand jury Nov. 5 and signed a waiver of immunity, but did not testify until late yesterday.

Meanwhile, Magistrate Eugene R. Canudo yesterday postponed the date of Mrs. Wentworth's perjury trial for the third time. Canudo set Dec. 13 as the new date at the request of Herlands, who said a special grand jury was still studying the case.

The British Empire is responsible for one-fourth of the world's food supply, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Jacoby on Canasta

Compromise on House Rules

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

I've just received a plaintive letter from a Midwestern reader. "What is your opinion," he asks, "of people who insist on loading the game with house rules?"

"Rhubarb number one is on playing for the hand and not for the game. They keep a regular game score, but also have a separate side bet on each hand. This style of play puts all the emphasis on winning the hand, and it spoils your concentration on what is best for the game score of 5000 points.

"Rhubarb number two deals with this nonsense of making two canastas before you are allowed to meld out. Heaven help you if the opponents get control of the discard pile. You never get two canastas, and the opponents have a field day.

"This is the same gang that won't allow me to put a deuce on a completed natural canasta — when a play like that will enable me to start the next hand with a meld of 90 points instead of 120 points.

"Should I exercise patience and keep trying to convert this gang into honest-to-goodness Canasta players? Or should I join a bridge club and save a disposition that is rapidly going to the dogs?"

This is a very difficult problem. There are official rules for Canasta, but people are entitled to make up their own rules if they wish to do so. House rules don't have to be good, logical or wise. They just have to please the players.

When the players can't agree on which rules to follow, you have a problem in human relations rather than a problem in card games. I would suggest a certain amount of horse trading. Accept the least objectionable of the various house rules in return for scrapping the worst of them. Or, perhaps, play one game of official Canasta in exchange for one game of hot-rod Canasta.

Another solution is to try Samba. People don't seem to invent as many rules for Samba as they do for Canasta.

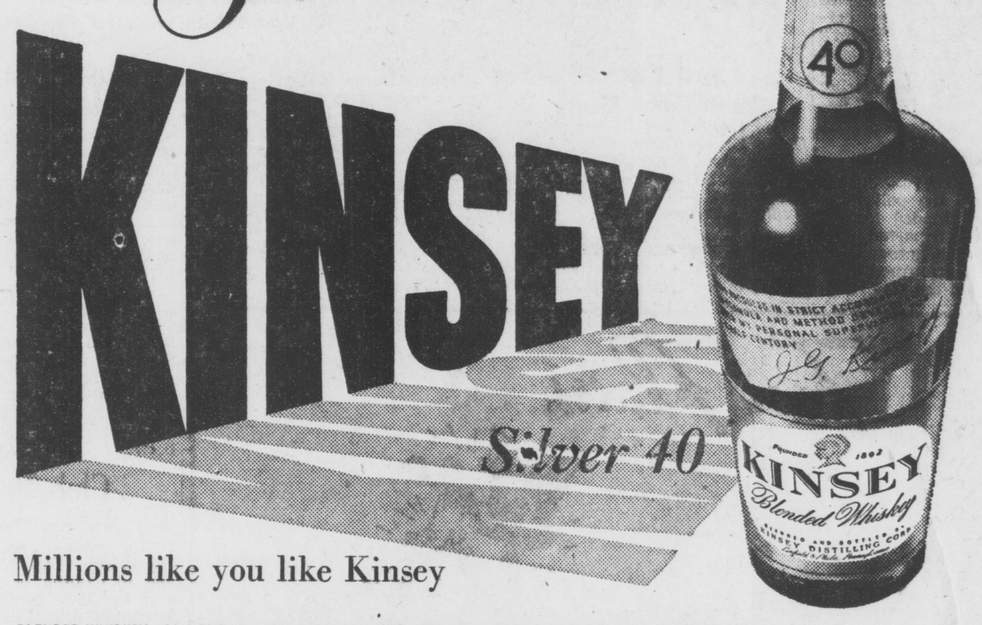

If you decide to join a bridge club, maybe you can find three kindred souls who would like to play some honest-to-goodness Canasta once in a while. It may be the best way to save your sanity and your disposition.

Low-Down on a high-powered Performer

Let us tell you this:

The Buick pictured here packs more power than you find in any other car of its size and room and price.

That's the power of Buick's newest high-compression valve-in-head eight—the F-263 Fireball Engine, that really gets miles from a gallon of gas.

Add to this the fact that it tips the scales at 3817 pounds curbside — and you begin to see why this big-powered beauty is such a nimble-footed number out on the road.

But that's only Chapter I of the performance story.

There's a big-car feel to the way this trim traveler covers the ground—hugs the curves—holds its course on the straightaway—smothers the bumps with its big soft coil springs on all four wheels.

There's big-car room inside—six-passenger room—headroom, hip-room, shoulderroom, kneeroom, front and back.

Come in, look it over, and we think you'll agree—it's big in everything but price.

And that's where it really shines. If you've shopped around you'll know what we mean when you read the price tags, and what they include in the way of standard equipment that shows up as "extras" on so many others. Such things as an oil filter, air cleaner, vacuum booster, built-in summer ventilation are all yours at no extra charge.

It's hard to believe but it's true. If you can afford a new car, you can afford this Buick at the prices we're quoting today.

Better come in and look this smart buy over.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. ‡Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series.

State Clarifies Insurance Status Of Stockholders

To clarify the status under the New York State Unemployment Insurance Law, of an employe who owns at least 25% of the voting stock of the corporation for which he works and who is defined by the law as a "principal stockholder", the New York State Division of Placement and Unemployment Insurance today issued the following statement:

1) Unemploment Insurance taxes are not to be paid on earnings of such an employe and he is not listed on the quarterly "Employer's Report of Contributions," Form IA 5, nor on the "Quarterly Payroll Report," Form IA 56. This exclusion became effective with reports for the second quarter of 1951, beginning April 1.

2) Such an employe is to be counted, however, in determining whether the firm has four or more employes, a requirement for mandatory coverage under the New York State Unemployment Insurance Law. If, for instance, there are three such "principal stockholders" and one other employe, the employer must provide coverage and pay unemployment insurance on earnings of that other employe only.

3) If an employer erroneously paid taxes on earnings of a "principal" stockholder" in the second or third quarter of 1951, the amount of overpayment may be deducted in a subsequent quarterly "Employer's Report of Contributions," Item 8, as per instructions on the report.

4) A "principal stockholder" may claim unemployment insurance benefits based on covered employment prior to April 1, 1951, but not on any employment with the firm of which he is a "principal stockholder" after that date.

Examination Announced

The U. S. Civil Service Commission today announced an examination for highway engineer trainee, to fill positions paying $2,875 and $3,100 a year. Further information and application forms may be obtained from William P. Barry, the commission's local secretary at the main post office, Kingston.

U. S. Rye Production

The nation's 1951 rye production is estimated at 24,000,000 bushels, about 6,000,000 under the 10-year average but nearly 1,000,000 above last year.

The Bank of England commenced active operation on January 1, 1695.

Gangs Hold Battle In Brooklyn Area

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—Two teen-age gangs engaged in a pitched battle with guns, knives, pieces of wood and ash cans last night in the Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn.

When police broke up the fight, most of the combatants fled, leaving George Shorts, 15, lying in the street with a serious stab wound in the left chest. He was taken to Kings County Hospital, where it was reported a lung had been punctured.

Seven teen-agers were arrested on charges of felonious assault, illegal possession of weapons and conspiracy to commit assault.

Police said the battle stemmed from an argument last Saturday night about a party. They said the gangs agreed to meet last night. When they gathered, the argument was resumed and soon resulted in the pitched battle.

Movie Executive Charged by Wife, Actress Is Named

Santa Monica, Calif., Nov. 14 (AP)—A 62-year-old movie executive is charged by his wife with 10 "acts of infidelity" with Actress Janis Carter.

Miss Carter, 30, once was ballyhooed by a press agent as "the girl with the bedroom eyes."

Noah Dietrich, chairman of the Board of the RKO Studio, was sued for separate maintenance yesterday by his wife Carol, 48. She said the acts occurred between Nov. 19, 1950 and Aug. 7, 1951.

Miss Carter was divorced from musician Carl Prager last March 15.

Dietrich termed his wife's suit "shocking" and said Miss Carter "is being made the innocent victim of variciousness and ruthlessness."

He said his wife's actions "in my opinion assume the characteristics of legal blackmail."

Mrs. Dietrich said her husband is worth $2,500,000 and has an annual income of $350,000. She asked $5,000 a month for herself and their three children, aged 5 to 14, and a division of community property.

Dietrich is executive vice president of the Hughes Tool Co. and a director of the National Bank of Commerce, Houston, Trans-World Airlines and the Gulf Brewing Co.

State Clarifies Insurance Status Of Stockholders

To clarify the status under the New York State Unemployment Insurance Law, of an employe who owns at least 25% of the voting stock of the corporation for which he works and who is defined by the law as a "principal stockholder", the New York State Division of Placement and Unemployment Insurance today issued the following statement:

1) Unemployment Insurance taxes are not to be paid on earnings of such an employe and he is not listed on the quarterly "Employer's Report of Contributions," Form IA 5, nor on the "Quarterly Payroll Report," Form IA 56. This exclusion became effective with reports for the second quarter of 1951, beginning April 1.

2) Such an employe is to be counted, however, in determining whether the firm has four or more employes, a requirement for mandatory coverage under the New York State Unemployment Insurance Law. If, for instance, there are three such "principal stockholders" and one other employe, the employer must provide coverage and pay unemployment insurance on earnings of that other employe only.

3) If an employer erroneously paid taxes on earnings of a "principal" stockholder" in the second or third quarter of 1951, the amount of overpayment may be deducted in a subsequent quarterly "Employer's Report of Contributions," Item 8, as per instructions on the report.

4) A "principal stockholder" may claim unemployment insurance benefits based on covered employment prior to April 1, 1951, but not on any employment with the firm of which he is a "principal stockholder" after that date.

Everybody Gets Big Laugh When Fish Scare Truman

Key West, Fla., Nov. 14 (AP)—President Truman chuckled today over the "big fish" scare that cut short his daily swim in the Atlantic yesterday.

He planned to be back at his favorite swimming hole at the enlisted men's beach this morning, barring an unfavorable turn in the ideal weather of the past few days.

Secret Service men thought they saw a school of barracuda swarming to within 30 yards of the roped-off section where the President and his party swim.

They let out a big shout of warning from the rowboat used in patrolling the waters. Mr. Truman, close to shore, scrambled onto the beach.

The Secret Service men beat off a couple of the fish with their oars when they got inside the roped-off area.

Mr. Truman's army aide, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, and David Bell, an aide to Special Counsel Charles S. Murphy, were far out in deeper waters and had to be rowed ashore.

There was a big question around here whether the big fish were barracuda or mackerel, and most of the natives leaned toward the latter. Presidential Secretary Joseph Short said the fish were never definitely identified. He added that they never got anywhere near the President.

Bell said the one fish he saw looked four feet long to him and that it was "gray" in color.

Short said everybody at the little White House, including the President, had a good laugh over the incident.

Bridges Is in Hospital

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 14 (AP)—An attack of intestinal influenza had New Hampshire Sen. Styles Bridges in a Grand Rapids Hospital today. Dr. Felix S. Alfenito said the senator had a serious case that would keep him in bed for several days. An attendant at Blodgett Memorial Hospital this morning listed Bridges' condition as "good," but said no further information was available.

The biggest ALARM of all...

WHEN FIRE STRIKES, you may hear one alarm... maybe a second alarm... perhaps even a third. But the biggest alarm of all is the alarm in your heart.

"Was anybody caught inside... anybody I know... hurt?... burned?... overcome? How'd it start? How much loss? What's the whole story?"

Even if you have a police pass or a good view from a roof, you still burn up with unsatisfied suspense and curiosity...

Until you see your newspaper.

You grab your paper and all the answers are there. First, in complete detail, full of local color—as it never could be anywhere else.

You knew it would all be there. Together with all the other news to be found anywhere that matters to you. Plus a hundred things you don't find anywhere else.

It doesn't take a fire. You can be just as wrought up tomorrow about a plan in the town council to widen your street. You never know what's coming... so you read your newspaper every day.

Everybody else is just like you. Everybody reads the newspaper every day. If one thing doesn't stir them—it's another. To a thrifty housewife, the fire sale can be just as important as the fire.

That's why when you have something to sell, the newspaper is the one place to reach all the people all the time.

In advertising, why deal in fractions?...

Magazines reach only fractions of your market. For each one appeals to some people—not to others. No magazine is read by everyone in town who can possibly buy.

Radio and TV programs reach only fractions of your market. Each one appeals to only a special audience—sports fans, homemakers, kids, etc. And how many of these can listen at the time you broadcast?

The newspaper talks to everybody in town. It's created fresh every day to appeal to everybody. Just as you read the paper now, all your customers and prospects read the paper too—at the times they choose, for as long as they choose!

Everybody Gets Big Laugh When Fish Scare Truman

Key West, Fla., Nov. 14 (AP)—President Truman chuckled today over the "big fish" scare that cut short his daily swim in the Atlantic yesterday.

He planned to be back at his favorite swimming hole at the enlisted men's beach this morning, barring an unfavorable turn in the ideal weather of the past few days.

Secret Service men thought they saw a school of barracuda swarming to within 30 yards of the roped-off section where the President and his party swim.

They let out a big shout of warning from the rowboat used in patrolling the waters. Mr. Truman, close to shore, scrambled onto the beach.

Mr. Truman's army aide, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, and David Bell, an aide to Special Counsel Charles S. Murphy, were far out in deeper waters and had to be rowed ashore.

There was a big question around here whether the big fish were barracuda or mackerel, and most of the natives leaned toward the latter. Presidential Secretary Joseph Short said the fish were never definitely identified. He added that they never got anywhere near the President.

Bell said the one fish he saw looked four feet long to him and that it was "gray" in color.

Short said everybody at the little White House, including the President, had a good laugh over the incident.

Bridges Is in Hospital

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 14 (AP)—An attack of intestinal influenza had New Hampshire Sen. Styles Bridges in a Grand Rapids Hospital today. Dr. Felix S. Alfenito said the senator had a serious case that would keep him in bed for several days. An attendant at Blodgett Memorial Hospital this morning listed Bridges' condition as "good," but said no further information was available.

Laws Are Sought To Handle 700,000 Alcoholics in State

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—A new committee of physicians, labor leaders, sociologists and lawyers will press for modernized laws to deal with an estimated 700,000 alcoholics in New York state.

The Coordinating Committee on Alcoholism, in the process of formation since last June, yesterday announced that its membership had been completed.

Among the 17 cooperating agencies are the New York State Bar Association, the Medical Society of the State of New York, the New York State CIO, and the State Charities Aid Association.

Col. Harold Riegelman, head of the group, said it hopes "to bring to this work informed medical, labor and legal skill, and a united hope that New York will take prompt and bold action to meet the tragic drain on public funds and our productive manpower" that results from alcoholism.

He said current estimates are that there are 700,000 alcoholics in the state.

New York "is far behind other states in recognizing the social and economic waste of trying to cope with the disease of chronic alcoholism through antiquated penal and health laws" Riegelman said.

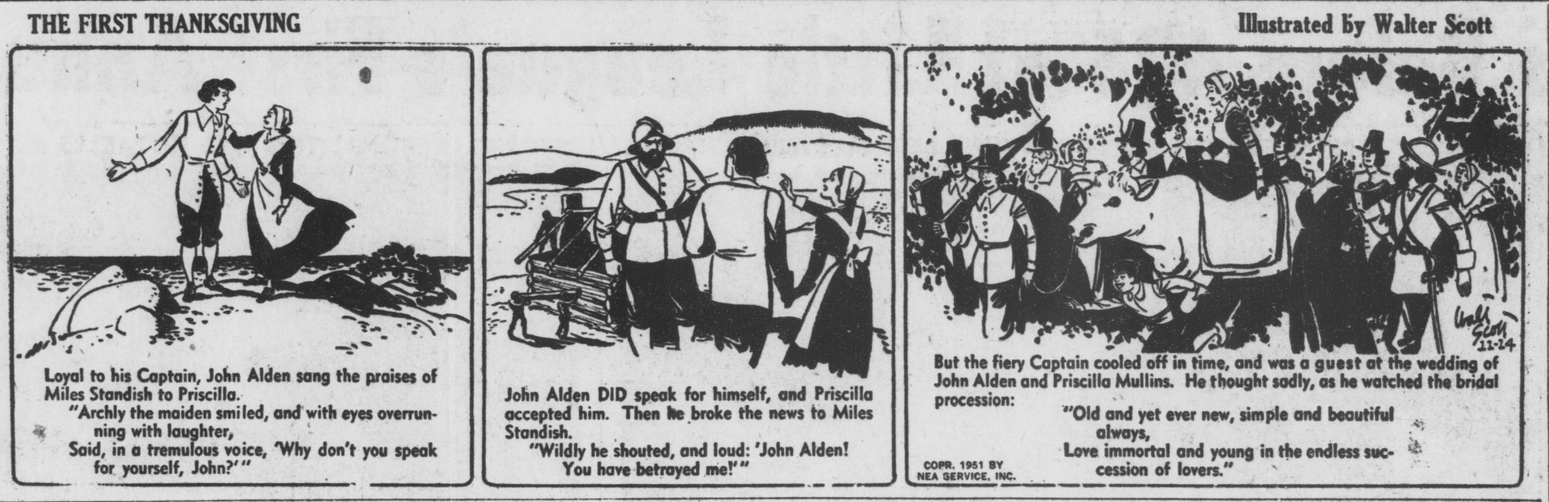

In addition to revised statutes, the committee hopes for facilities for the cure of alcoholics.

THE FIRST THANKSGIVING

Illustrated by Walter Scott

Loyal to his Captain, John Alden sang the praises of Miles Standish to Priscilla.
"Archly the maiden smiled, and with eyes overrunning with laughter,
Said, in a tremulous voice, 'Why don't you speak for yourself, John?'"

John Alden DID speak for himself, and Priscilla accepted him. Then he broke the news to Miles Standish.
"Wildly he shouted, and loud: 'John Alden! You have betrayed me!'"

But the fiery Captain cooled off in time, and was a guest at the wedding of John Alden and Priscilla Mullins. He thought sadly, as he watched the bridal procession:
"Old and yet ever new, simple and beautiful always,
Love immortal and young in the endless succession of lovers."

Do You Remember

BY SOPHIE MILLER

There is something about a poem that can tell so much in so few words. Since the mention in Saturday's Nov. 3, 1951 column of Nat Coyna's letter on his inability to find the rest of the lines of a poem which he remembered was in an old U. & D. folder of 1917, mail has been steady with enclosed poems. These poems are without titles and without authors, so it seems. Mr. Winchell from Shokan sent me the lines which start with "You fellers from the Country." Now Mr. Weidner kindly typed off the other poem which goes something like this: "It seems to me I'd like to go, Where bells don't ring, nor whistles blow, Nor clocks don't strike, nor gongs don't sound, And I'd have stillness all around."

The other verses follow through with: "Not real stillness, but just the trees—Low whisperings or the hum of bees, Or brooks faint babbling over stones—In strangely, softly tangled tones. Or maybe a cricket or katydid, Or the songs of birds in the hedges hid, Or just some such sweet sound as these, To fill a tired heart with ease. Sometimes it seems to me I must —Just quit the city's din and dust, And get out where the sky is blue —And say, now, how does it seem to you." It is strange that the authors of these poems never were made known.

It seems no time at all before the holidays will be here. I remember back in 1949 on Thanksgiving Day, it was a lovely fall day and we decided to drive down to Castle Point, the Veterans' Hospital. We had a whole case of cigarettes from the Eastern Stars, through the courtesy of Miss Alice M. Scardefield, so that each patient was able to receive one pack. There are some 1,200 patients there as a rule. But this being Thanksgiving Day, those who were well enough were allowed to go home to their friends and relatives for the Thanksgiving weekend. We were very much surprised to find the Canteen closed for the day, which meant no patient could buy a hot or cold drink, candy bar or anything else, They also missed the social gathering the Canteen offers. That is, it's a sort of large room, with tables and chairs where magazines and refreshments and toilet articles are sold and the boys get together to chat after their rest period at 3 o'clock. The Rec Hut was open, and the sole lady in charge had prepared some hot coffee and cookies but no one came down.

She was so surprised and glad to see us and begged us to go around to as many of the bed patients as we could. Anyway we made the rounds twice, once with Eastern Star cigarettes, then with the cookies which the boys did not come down to get at the Rec Hut. What surprised us was that we were the only visitors in the entire building. In the parking lot, we were the only car not of the staff. There was no visiting organization there, which is customary just before such holidays.

Kingston is so well liked down there, I do hope that private folks and organizations will plan to be there on Thanksgiving Day, arriving any time after 3 in the afternoon. Bring anything, comic books, sports magazines, candy, cigarettes, gold fish in bowls, but most of all bring yourself and come prepared to talk and jest with the patients.

Durham, N. H. — "Students who enter college undecided upon their future may actually have an advantage over those with preconceived notions," says a psychologist-educator. Paul H. McIntire, Jr., director of counseling and a member of the Psychology Department of the University of New Hampshire, explains: "Too many students come to college without sound counseling and with plans laid for false generalizations. It is by no means true that because a student is good in math he should take engineering, or because he likes animals he should study agriculture." On the other hand, students coming to college with no definite course in mind may be better off, he adds. "They are more prone to be guided by aptitude tests, and to take advantage of the professional counseling colleges now offer."

U. S. Tin Mission

Kuala Lumpur, Malaya (AP)—The announcement that a United States tin mission is coming to Malaya to study the industry here has aroused speculation about possible renewal of Anglo-U. S. negotiations for a tin agreement. Tin men here say such an agreement would be acceptable to the Malayan mining industry if it is spread over a period of 3 to 5 years and carries a U. S. guarantee for a fixed price that is economic for Malaya. The American group includes Gen. Tom Wilson, of the General Services Administration; Spencer Shannon and and George Esuver, of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation; Charles Merrill, of the U. S. Bureau of Mines, and Harlan Bramble of the U. S. State Department.

Kuala Lumpur, Malaya (AP)—The announcement that a United States tin mission is coming to Malaya to study the industry here has aroused speculation about possible renewal of Anglo-U. S. negotiations for a tin agreement. Tin men here say such an agreement would be acceptable to the Malayan mining industry if it is spread over a period of 3 to 5 years and carries a U. S. guarantee for a fixed price that is economic for Malaya. The American group includes Gen. Tom Wilson, of the General Services Administration; Spencer Shannon and and George Esuver, of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation; Charles Merrill, of the U. S. Bureau of Mines, and Harlan Bramble of the U. S. State Department.

Mel Allen Speaks Before 425 at Little League's First Annual Dinner

Says Sports Are Vital Factor in Fight Against False Ideologies, Communism

Baseball teaches a daily living lesson in democracy and sports in general are democracy in action, powerful bulwarks against conflicting ideologies and the threat of communism, Mel Allen, famous sportscaster told 425 persons who attended the Little League's spectacular first annual banquet last night at the high school gym.

Allen's speech, an inspiring message which embraced humorous anecdotes about prominent New York Yankee personalities and sock finish, highlighted the most brilliant function in Kingston Athletic Association history.

Chief Justice John T. Loughran of the Court of Appeals, a renowned orator in his own right, spoke in a light vein about baseball in general and his early hectic efforts to achieve prominence in the game. He said that baseball has been a wonderful thing for our country and the sensational finish of the National League pennant race and the subsequent World Series between the Giants and Yankees were a great stimulant to national feeling and morale.

Mayor Praises KAA

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk in a brief address, congratulated President Bob Umpleby of KAA and said youth programs such as the Little League laid the foundations for a better citizenry of the future. The mayor took a shot at the major leagues with the observation that if they (the majors) backed up the minor leagues like the citizens of Kingston backed up the Little League the minor leagues would not be in such a perilous state.

Dick McCarthy, sports director of WKNY, who was the master of ceremonies, introduced a bevy of personalities, including the managers and coaches of the various teams in the Little League, the umpires and other prominent sports figures.

Charles J. Tiano, Freeman sports editor, presented President Bob Umpleby with a memento of his first term as president of KAA. Umpleby has ben re-elected for another term. He pointed out that the modest, hard-working KAA prexy could take full credit for promoting the phenominally successful Little League in its first season in Kingston.

Manager Tommy Holmes of the Boston Braves, youngest skipper in the major leagues, shared speaking honors with Allen and Justice Loughran and gave an interesting talk on baseball strategy and fundamentals. He and Allen then teamed up in distributing the various championship trophies.

Allen's poise, personal charm and polished speaking style held the huge audience engrossed for a half hour during which he regaled them with stories about Yogi Berra, Phil Rizzuto, Vic Raschi and many other baseball greats. His stories about Berra and Lefty Gomez, two of the most fabled performers in major league history, had the audience rocking with laughter.

On the serious side near the end of his remarks, Allen asserted that the whole world could take a lesson from the world of sports and that, more than anything else, sports teaches the Christian spirit of brotherhood.

"Many people have a tendency to under-estimate the value of sports in our national life," Allen said. "Some think of it as a form of luxury, something that we could do without."

"In these days of conflicting ideologies and the encroachment of communism, sports teaches one vital lesson," he continued, "and that is that persons of all races, creeds and colors can play on the same team, side by side and learn to respect others in the true spirit of Christian brotherhood."

Holmes' Tips

Holmes, the Boston Braves pilot, said that this, his 15th year in professional baseball, was the "happiest in my life."

"I had fully expected to spend five years of seasoning in the minor leagues as a manager before I hoped to be called up by the Braves," he said. "But the chance came quickly and unexpectedly and I was grateful for it."

Holmes tried to impress upon the Little Leaguers that topnotch baseball is the result of forming habits of learning and the elemination of fear was a necessity before a player could reach full stature.

He urged the players to learn to use the bat and glove first. "The smart plays will come later," he said, but, first, you must teach yourself to overcome fear in any situation. Also, you should feel that every pitch can be hit to any field. He cited Chet Nichols, the 20-year-old Braves southpaw as a prime example of a courageous youngster who had complete faith in himself in one of the most dramatic games of the 1951 National League pennant season.

Holmes drew a chuckle from Giant partisians when he said: "I like to beat Leo Durocher more than anybody else in the league."

"It's not for personal reasons," Holmes continued, "but when you beat Durocher you beat one of the sharpest brains in baseball."

Awards Made

Individual gold baseball charms were presented by Mel Allen to the following members of the championship Yankee team: Joseph Stopski, Joseph Clarke, Victor Locke, Ronald Nagele, Daniel Steltz, Gene Nagele, Paul Klonowski, Ronald Jones, Ronald Quarantino.

Also on the championship squad were Robert Quarantino, Lawson Avery, Seymour Semilof, Anthony Turck, Ronald Ashdown, Donald Ashdown, Charles Bishop, James Millard and John Snyder.

The team manager was Walt Black, assisted by Eddie Ashdown and Kenneth Clark.

The Little League's 1951 team championship trophy was presented by Allen to little Joe Clark of the Yankees. The famed sportscaster also presented the District 4 trophy to Nick Kearney, the hustling little third sacker who was the idol of Little League fans this season.

Ronald Ashdown of the Yankees won the individual batting championship trophy with a rousing .596 average and was awarded his trophy by Allen. Tommy Holmes presented Tony Turck of the Yankees with a trophy symbolic of the best pitching record.

Members of the all-star squad which captured the District 4 received special charms, with Allen presenting the charms to the players from the American League teams and Tommy Holmes doing the honors for the Nationals.

The all-star roster for 1951 included Tony Turck, Glenn Newell, Ernie Madison, Lorenzo Giannuzi, Ronald Ashdown, Peter Blanschan, Thomas Davitt, Seymour Semilof, Eugene Negele, Tony Amato, Joseph Hoffman, Willie Cragan, Nick Kearney and Richard Hornbeck.

Wiltwycks, Dairy Score in Y Loop

Form prevailed in the Y Basketball League last night, with Jones Dairy thumping Electrol, 87-42, and the Wiltwyck Motor powerhouse rolling over Hercules, 92-53.

Don Haggerty and Big Bill Kleine, the Wiltwyck sharpshooters, accounted for 48 points, Kleine leading the league with 28 and Haggerty sinking 20 as the Motormen piled up a 44-22 halftime lead.

Bud Scheffel with 16 and Shatton with 14 also aided the Wiltwyck cause. Hooker tossed in 14 points for Hercules, Bones Hampton had 13 and Madajeski and McGrane hit for 11 apiece.

Jones Dairy moved ahead of Electrol, 25-5, in the first period and steadily widened the gap. Scoring power was well distributed with Smith's 19 leading the pack. Schrader, McClusky and Karol were all in double figures. Dederick's 15 paced the Electrol.

Williams' Coach Cites Over-Scouting As Example of Grid's Over-emphasis

Calls for Mutual Restrictions

Williamstown, Mass., Nov. 14 (AP)—Len Watters of Williams has urged his fellow small college football coaches to join in cutting down on scouting to "help deemphasize the big-time aspect of college sports."

Watters said in a statement last night that scouting methods have "badly outgrown" their usefulness in recent years. An agreement to limit them, he added, "would benefit everybody.

"It would not only save money and man hours," he said, "but would help deemphasize the big-time aspect of college sports. We hope our opponents will see it the way we do."

Watters suggested specifically that teams agree to scout each other no more than twice a season. The figure might be cut down even more, he added, by exchange of motion pictures since most colleges make films of their games for coaching use.

"We at Williams have scouted one team five times this season," Watters said, "and we assume that this opponent has done the same kind of job on us. Unless there are some mutual restrictions, extensive scouting is inevitable—and I don't believe it's really necessary."

Football scouts generally are paid a fee said to be as high as $200 for one Saturday's work in some parts of the nation with travel expenses additional. A team often scouts a rival a half dozen times or more in one season.

Watters pointed out he doesn't think "there's anything wrong with scouting in principle. It's a boon to coaches and to spectators because it produces better and more skillfully played games. But it's being overdone."

Rep. Celler Favors Thorough Revision Of OB's Controversial Reserve Clause

Cites Garver Case As Prime Example

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—If Rep. Celler (D.-N.Y.) chairman of the House sub-committee investigating baseball has his way, baseball's controversial reserve clause will be thoroughly revised.

Celler branded the reserve clause "obnoxious" last night while appearing on ABC-TV's program, "On Trial."

The congressman added, however, that the clause "is so imbedded in the fabric of baseball it would be necessary to keep it, but it must be amended. There are certain abuses which must be obliterated."

"It would be ludicrous for Congress to write a code," he said, "but we are not going to give baseball a blank check. We are trying to find a middle ground."

The reserve clause, challenged as a possible violation of anti-trust laws, binds a player to a club for life unless he is sold or traded.

Baseball, in order to be subject to the anti-trust laws, must first be found to be inter-state commerce. Celler said he was "quite certain" that the Supreme Court would so declare.

Cites Garver Case

The congressman cited Ned Garver, 20-game winner of the last place St. Louis Browns as a victim of the reserve clause. Celler claimed that Garver drew $18,000 last year.

"If I were an owner and I had an opportunity of getting Garver I'd give him $90,000 to $100,000 a year."

Celler also disagreed with some statements made by Walter O'Malley, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers. O'Malley, on the same program last week claimed that baseball was not big business and that the Dodgers had lost money in 1950.

"Mr. O'Malley wrote off $167,000 in losses incurred by the football team. This should not have been included. They're two different propositions," he said. Celler disclosed that the Dodgers paid Branch Rickey $730,000 in salary and bonuses from 1946 through 1950.

Veeck Dissents

St. Louis, Nov. 14 (AP) — Bill Veeck, the man who has taught baseball some new tricks in his time, says he doesn't like the idea of outsiders trying to tell baseball how to run its business.

The St. Louis Browns' owner commented after hearing Rep. Celler's (D.-N.Y.) latest opinion concerning baseball's controversial reserve clause.

Celler, chairman of a House subcommittee investigating baseball, said last night that if it weren't for the reserve clause, Brown's pitcher Ned Garver would be making $90,000 and $100,000 a year. Celler said Garver made $18,000 this year with a 20-12 record.

Said Veeck:

"What was Garver's record in 1950; I've never heard yet of anybody paying a pitcher who lost five more games than he won $100,000."

Garver had a 13-18 record in 1950.

"I doubt very much if Mr. Celler knows about the intricacies of baseball," Veeck added. "I certainly wouldn't assume to tell Mr. Celler anything about politics. I suggest he recriprocate."

Baker Unimpressive In Cinncy Draw

Kid Riviera of Chicago, a battler who has had only two fights in more than two years and who carried a lot of excess fat into the ring, held Baker to a 10-round draw here last night before a crowd of only 1,635 fans who rattled around a bit in the big Cincinnati Garden.

The draw came after Baker had won 25 straight professional fights and the Pittsburgh battler didn't show much to indicate that he's ready for such fellows as champ Joe Walcott, Ezzard Charles or Rocky Marciano. He's currently ranked fourth among heavyweight contenders.

Cites Garver Case As Prime Example

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—If Rep. Celler (D.-N.Y.) chairman of the House sub-committee investigating baseball has his way, baseball's controversial reserve clause will be thoroughly revised.

Celler branded the reserve clause "obnoxious" last night while appearing on ABC-TV's program, "On Trial."

The congressman added, however, that the clause "is so imbedded in the fabric of baseball it would be necessary to keep it, but it must be amended. There are certain abuses which must be obliterated."

"It would be ludicrous for Congress to write a code," he said, "but we are not going to give baseball a blank check. We are trying to find a middle ground."

The reserve clause, challenged as a possible violation of anti-trust laws, binds a player to a club for life unless he is sold or traded.

Baseball, in order to be subject to the anti-trust laws, must first be found to be inter-state commerce. Celler said he was "quite certain" that the Supreme Court would so declare.

Cites Garver Case

The congressman cited Ned Garver, 20-game winner of the last place St. Louis Browns as a victim of the reserve clause. Celler claimed that Garver drew $18,000 last year.

"He's an ace," Celler pointed out. "He won 20 games with a poor ball club and a bad infield and outfield behind him.

"If I were an owner and I had an opportunity of getting Garver I'd give him $90,000 to $100,000 a year."

Celler also disagreed with some statements made by Walter O'Malley, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers. O'Malley, on the same program last week claimed that baseball was not big business and that the Dodgers had lost money in 1950.

"Baseball is a $100,000,000 industry," Celler charged. "That is big business.

"Mr. O'Malley wrote off $167,000 in losses incurred by the football team. This should not have been included. They're two different propositions," he said. Celler disclosed that the Dodgers paid Branch Rickey $730,000 in salary and bonuses from 1946 through 1950.

Veeck Dissents

St. Louis, Nov. 14 (AP) — Bill Veeck, the man who has taught baseball some new tricks in his time, says he doesn't like the idea of outsiders trying to tell baseball how to run its business.

The St. Louis Browns' owner commented after hearing Rep. Celler's (D.-N.Y.) latest opinion concerning baseball's controversial reserve clause.

Celler, chairman of a House subcommittee investigating baseball, said last night that if it weren't for the reserve clause, Brown's pitcher Ned Garver would be making $90,000 and $100,000 a year. Celler said Garver made $18,000 this year with a 20-12 record.

Said Veeck:

"What was Garver's record in 1950; I've never heard yet of anybody paying a pitcher who lost five more games than he won $100,000."

Garver had a 13-18 record in 1950.

"I doubt very much if Mr. Celler knows about the intricacies of baseball," Veeck added. "I certainly wouldn't assume to tell Mr. Celler anything about politics. I suggest he recriprocate."

Baker Unimpressive In Cinncy Draw

Cincinnati, Nov. 14 (AP)—Pittsburgh's Bob Baker still is undefeated in heavyweight boxing circles but his record bears considerable tarnish today.

Kid Riviera of Chicago, a battler who has had only two fights in more than two years and who carried a lot of excess fat into the ring, held Baker to a 10-round draw here last night before a crowd of only 1,635 fans who rattled around a bit in the big Cincinnati Garden.

The draw came after Baker had won 25 straight professional fights and the Pittsburgh battler didn't show much to indicate that he's ready for such fellows as champ Joe Walcott, Ezzard Charles or Rocky Marciano. He's currently ranked fourth among heavyweight contenders.

Yonkers, Nov. 14 (AP)—Hunter Direct staved off a late bid by the favorite, Doctor Parker, to win the $2,500 Orlando Pace, before 15,120 at Yonkers Raceway last night. Driven by Tom Wingate, Hunter Direct paid $14.90, $5.90 and $3.60.

Wiltwycks, Dairy Score in Y Loop

Form prevailed in the Y Basketball League last night, with Jones Dairy thumping Electrol, 87-42, and the Wiltwyck Motor powerhouse rolling over Hercules, 92-53.

Don Haggerty and Big Bill Kleine, the Wiltwyck sharpshooters, accounted for 48 points, Kleine leading the league with 28 and Haggerty sinking 20 as the Motormen piled up a 44-22 halftime lead.

Bud Scheffel with 16 and Shatton with 14 also aided the Wiltwyck cause. Hooker tossed in 14 points for Hercules, Bones Hampton had 13 and Madajeski and McGrane hit for 11 apiece.

Jones Dairy moved ahead of Electrol, 25-5, in the first period and steadily widened the gap. Scoring power was well distributed with Smith's 19 leading the pack. Schrader, McClusky and Karol were all in double figures. Dederick's 15 paced the Electrol.

Williams' Coach Cites Over-Scouting As Example of Grid's Over-emphasis

Calls for Mutual Restrictions

Williamstown, Mass., Nov. 14 (AP)—Len Watters of Williams has urged his fellow small college football coaches to join in cutting down on scouting to "help deemphasize the big-time aspect of college sports."

Watters said in a statement last night that scouting methods have "badly outgrown" their usefulness in recent years. An agreement to limit them, he added, "would benefit everybody.

"It would not only save money and man hours," he said, "but would help deemphasize the big-time aspect of college sports. We hope our opponents will see it the way we do."

Watters suggested specifically that teams agree to scout each other no more than twice a season. The figure might be cut down even more, he added, by exchange of motion pictures since most colleges make films of their games for coaching use.

"We at Williams have scouted one team five times this season," Watters said, "and we assume that this opponent has done the same kind of job on us. Unless there are some mutual restrictions, extensive scouting is inevitable—and I don't believe it's really necessary."

Football scouts generally are paid a fee said to be as high as $200 for one Saturday's work in some parts of the nation with travel expenses additional. A team often scouts a rival a half dozen times or more in one season.

Watters pointed out he doesn't think "there's anything wrong with scouting in principle. It's a boon to coaches and to spectators because it produces better and more skillfully played games. But it's being overdone."

Red Sox Ready For Brisk Trading

Boston, Nov. 14 (AP)—Now that the Boston Red Sox have made their first 1952 move—a four player straight swap with the Chicago White Sox—General Manager Joe Cronin and Lou Boudreau, the new pilot indicate they will do much more player dickering during next month's baseball meetings.

They did not need owner Tom Yawkey's fabulous bankroll, obtaining outfielder-first baseman Don Lenhardt and veteran pitcher Randy Gumpert in exchange for young southpaw Chuck Stobbs and rookie infielder Mel Hoderlein.

But they indicate they have their multi-millionaire boss primed to top all rivals for much needed catching strength and a competent second base replacement for the retired Bobby Doerr.

Boudreau paved the way for the deal in a conference with White Sox General Manager Frank Lane yesterday in Chicago.

"It's fine for a starter," Boudreau said in a telephone interview. "And there'll be more deals soon if we can strengthen our catching and infield weaknesses without giving up too much.

Harvard's Jordan Says It's Smoke Screen

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 14 (AP)—Yale's hush-hush decision to drop spring football practice has become public property amid embarrassment to the university and a noticeable lack of enthusiasm in some of her Ivy League rivals.

The Eli Board of Athletic Control made its move towards deemphasis of football last September 15, but decided to bottle up the news pending attempts to reach agreement with other Ivy Leaguers.

The Yale News, undergraduate newspaper, broke the story yesterday, and it was confirmed—with "regret" because of the "premature disclosure"—by President A. Whitney Griswold.

The Athletic directors at Harvard, Princeton, Columbia, Brown, Dartmouth, Pennsylvania and Cornell were told of the decision soon after it was made.

But, said Griswold, Yale had planned to "defer public announcement of the decision pending consultation and, it was hoped, joint action with other members of the Ivy group.

Griswold's statement, issued for him at a hastily-summoned news conference he did not attend, said he was forced to confirm the decision because of the "news leak."

"This in no way affects Yale's desire to work and move in concert with the other members of the Ivy group," he said.

Yale athletic director R. A. (Bob) Hall said the move was "not a step toward the liquidation of football."

"We believe as strongly as ever in football as an American sport and as an extra-curricular activity," he said. "The decision to give up spring practice is part of a long range study of all out-of-season athletic schedules, the purpose of which is to adjust those schedules to the best interests of the players."

What Coach Herman Hickman, currently bearing up under Yale's worst football season in many a year, thought about it all was uncertain. Hickman maintained a discreet silence.

At Harvard, however, Coach Lloyd Jordan, who is also president of the American Football Coaches' Association, exploded with a declaration that it was a "terrific mistake." He asserted:

"I think all this talk about doing away with spring practice is a smoke screen * * *. Spring practice shouldn't be blamed for the evils of football."

There was no comment from Princeton, but statements throwing cold water on the idea of giving up spring practice came from spokesmen at Cornell, Brown, Dartmouth and Pennsylvania. Columbia said the decision was still up in the air.

Bowling

Joe Sangi's 603 and Ada Markle's 526 Highest Triples in Local Bowling

Joe Sangi toppled 603 pins in the Central Rec League and Adabelle Markle pounded 144-202-180—526 in the Friendship for the best triples in last night's bowling in Kingston.

Flemings Rolls 204

Dot Flemings took show money in the Friendship with 204—497 and Rose Mellert clipped 494. Dot Rawding and Bertha Schaller hit 493 and 491 respectively, while Marge Jansen completed the upper bracket with 485.

Rose Chamberland, who started the night with a 127 average, posted a 191 solo and Elsie Dykes, a 138-average keglerette, bashed the first "500" of her career. Kay McCardle, a 116-average performer, also stood out with 199.

J. Provenzano's 560 was second best series in the Central Rec. Other top counts: Earl Sleight 553; Frank Bonacci 204—552; W. Pieper 548; Floyd Crantek 231—547; Allen Hoey 201—527; Frank Grimaldi 253 (high solo for the night) 526; Ronnie Mauro 201—525; W. Hornbeck 524; Carl Lundquist 202—517; W. Lawrence 505; Richard Zeeh 504 and F. Bruno 501.

F. Tackella's 465 took runnerup honors in the Federation International where B. Heins shot 205—461, R. Torrens 457 and F. Mollenhauer 455. In the National circuit, H. Ferguson hit for 509; Ferd Short 498; E. Kittle 469; D. Donaldson 468; R. Lang 467; G. Howland 462 and A. MacDaniel 460.

P. Duffy Hits 416

P. Duffy's 416 trailed A. Miller in the Business Girls wheel. I. Maurer rolled 403, M. Kirtson 397 and J. Saccoman 393 to round out the first five. Sue Heins' 444 was second best in the Hercules Women. Other good pinfall was credited to Joe Webster 435, Jean Fatum 433, Louise Jordan 433 and Rita Amarello 400.

Bill Mohr opened with 222 and closed with 578 in the Silver Palace. Larry Jacobs made a strong finish with 235—557; John Thompson shot 557; Joe Mannello 548; Ralph Mayone 203—554; Vince Noble 530; Ray Otto 522; Frank Russano 208—521; J. Sharot 521; Clarence Herdman 201—514; Elwood Robinson 513; Cosmos Costello 506; Jack Martin 200—504; and Perc Slover 504.

John Letus rolled 523 in the Booster and Don Keyser had 520. Also of note were Form Coughlin's 504; Jim Howard and Roger Grossbohlin 480s. Grossbohlin achieved a 160-triplicate. Bob Tierney posted 474; Bill Leach 472; Bob Goldstein 468; J. Gillen 464 and Dave Ashdown 461.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Poughkeepsie observers, notably George Palmateer, the sports ed., returned from the Blues' Saturday debacle against Newburgh Academy convinced that the Goldbacks are probably the equal of the 1948 KHS juggernaut and maybe the best in more than a decade in the mid-Hudson area.

Palmateer, after watching the ponderous Newburgh line throw Poughkeepsie backs for losses totalling 124 yards, block three kicks and recover numerous fumbles, gave the Goldbacks unqualified praise.

"We've been watching high school football squads for some time," he wrote in his Sports Scene, "but we can't recall a better team than this 1951 Newburgh blend. We weren't in this business when Poughkeepsie teams were chomping through the DUSO previously, so we have no opinion on the relative strength of those powerhouses and the present circuit rulers. But they would have to have been awfully good to be better."

The game left Palmateer with the impression that the boys in the line too often are overlooked.

"Surely, it was the Newburgh line which turned the tide of battle," he wrote. "Unable to hold off the powerful surge of the forward wall, Poughkeepsie's attack, except for brief flurries, was smothered."

Poughkeepsie partisans naturally are hopeful that Kingston can achieve the miracle of upsetting the Goldbacks on Turkey Day. This would enable the Blues to tie for the 1951 football pennant. But they're not too sure.

This ponderous Newburgh line must be a sight to behold. And at right tackle they have playful little Tony Ponessa, a young 240-pound giant who delights in blocking punts and making things miserable for opposing backfield men. In Don Jackson they boast the mightiest high school runner in the district, a dazzling, hard-driving back who has spearheaded Newburgh's brilliant successes. Richie Spreer, the basketball whiz, is an able passer.

This Newburgh juggernaut has resourcefulness, agility, guile and power. What else can you ask?

"Bo" Gill, the part-time waterboy of the Los Angeles Rams, has been making like Gabriel about the Goldbacks since the start of the season. Gill's confidence in Coach Stan Hemingway's boys was apparently not misplaced. He will lead the hungry horde to Kingston to exact its full cup of revenge and the gates of mercy will be closed that day. That 8-1-1 five-year record taunts Newburgh followers who were accustomed to having their teams whip Kingston with monotonous ease. Not so, since Bill Burke came on the scene.

What about Kingston's chances? Anything can happen in a football game as Holy Cross showed Boston College one day.

Bill Burke will do a good job getting the Maroons "up" for the big one. He can sow the seeds of inspiration for what could be a tremendous upset.

If the Maroon gridders don't bounce back from the Port Jervis shambles and gear themselves mentally and physically for Newburgh, well, who was it that once said . . . apres nous . . . le deluge!

• Hot Stove League:

Stan Musial has passed Ted Williams in the race for top life-time batting average among active major leaguers. Musial's figure at the end of the 1951 campaign was .3473 compared to Williams' .3466. Two bad years—.317 in 1950 and .318 in 1951—cost Williams the lead to Stan The Man who batted .350 in 1950 and .346 this year. Richie Ashburn's big year with the Phils—.344—sent his lifetime BA soaring from .304 to .315. . . . Can-Am League directors have important business meeting Sunday in Oneonta. Russ Myer, the temperamental Chicago Cub right hander, rates Ralph Kiner far ahead of Gil Hodges as a hitter. "You can pitch Hodges high and tight, and then curve him outside," says Myer. "But such is not the case with Kiner. I remember one day when I was pitching for the Cubs, and thought I fooled Kiner with a low, ouside curve. Ralph didn't get too much wood on it—didn't hit it good at all, as he was reaching—but still blasted the ball into the left field bleachers." Did Ad Jones receive a bid for the Colonial franchise in the Can-Am League?

HUNTING CASUALITIES CAN BE PREVENTED

IN A SURVEY OF THE 1950 HUNTING ACCIDENTS CONDUCTED BY THE NATIONAL RIFLE ASSOCIATION, IT REVEALED THAT STUMBLES OR FALLS ACCOUNTED FOR 66 OF THE 378 REPORTED CASES OF ACCIDENTAL DISCHARGES! THE NEXT 33 CASES WERE FROM REMOVING FIREARMS FROM A VEHICLE OR BOAT!

OTHER CAUSES WERE: WEAPON FELL FROM INSECURE REST, 20; TRIGGER CAUGHT IN BRUSH, 19; LOADING, 18; CROSSING FENCE, 16; "DIDN'T KNOW IT WAS LOADED" HORSEPLAY, 11; UNLOADING, 9; USING GUN AS A CLUB, 7. CAUSES UNKNOWN, 164.

DON'T LET IT HAPPEN TO YOU!

Red Sox Ready For Brisk Trading

Boston, Nov. 14 (AP)—Now that the Boston Red Sox have made their first 1952 move—a four player straight swap with the Chicago White Sox—General Manager Joe Cronin and Lou Boudreau, the new pilot indicate they will do much more player dickering during next month's baseball meetings.

They did not need owner Tom Yawkey's fabulous bankroll, obtaining outfielder-first baseman Don Lenhardt and veteran pitcher Randy Gumpert in exchange for young southpaw Chuck Stobbs and rookie infielder Mel Hoderlein.

But they indicate they have their multi-millionaire boss primed to top all rivals for much needed catching strength and a competent second base replacement for the retired Bobby Doerr.

Boudreau paved the way for the deal in a conference with White Sox General Manager Frank Lane yesterday in Chicago.

"It's fine for a starter," Boudreau said in a telephone interview. "And there'll be more deals soon if we can strengthen our catching and infield weaknesses without giving up too much.

Newark, N. J.—Tony Gonzalez, 146, East Orange, awarded victory over Arnold Curry, 145½, McKeesport, Pa. (Curry refused to come out for fifth round, claiming he had been fouled).

Harvard's Jordan Says It's Smoke Screen

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 14 (AP)—Yale's hush-hush decision to drop spring football practice has become public property amid embarrassment to the university and a noticeable lack of enthusiasm in some of her Ivy League rivals.

The Eli Board of Athletic Control made its move towards deemphasis of football last September 15, but decided to bottle up the news pending attempts to reach agreement with other Ivy Leaguers.

The Yale News, undergraduate newspaper, broke the story yesterday, and it was confirmed—with "regret" because of the "premature disclosure"—by President A. Whitney Griswold.

The Athletic directors at Harvard, Princeton, Columbia, Brown, Dartmouth, Pennsylvania and Cornell were told of the decision soon after it was made.

But, said Griswold, Yale had planned to "defer public announcement of the decision pending consultation and, it was hoped, joint action with other members of the Ivy group.

Griswold's statement, issued for him at a hastily-summoned news conference he did not attend, said he was forced to confirm the decision because of the "news leak."

"This in no way affects Yale's desire to work and move in concert with the other members of the Ivy group," he said.

Yale athletic director R. A. (Bob) Hall said the move was "not a step toward the liquidation of football."

"We believe as strongly as ever in football as an American sport and as an extra-curricular activity," he said. "The decision to give up spring practice is part of a long range study of all out-of-season athletic schedules, the purpose of which is to adjust those schedules to the best interests of the players."

What Coach Herman Hickman, currently bearing up under Yale's worst football season in many a year, thought about it all was uncertain. Hickman maintained a discreet silence.

At Harvard, however, Coach Lloyd Jordan, who is also president of the American Football Coaches' Association, exploded with a declaration that it was a "terrific mistake." He asserted:

"I think all this talk about doing away with spring practice is a smoke screen * * *. Spring practice shouldn't be blamed for the evils of football."

There was no comment from Princeton, but statements throwing cold water on the idea of giving up spring practice came from spokesmen at Cornell, Brown, Dartmouth and Pennsylvania. Columbia said the decision was still up in the air.

FOR RESULTS — ADVERTISE IN THE FREEMAN

Bowling

Joe Sangi's 603 and Ada Markle's 526 Highest Triples in Local Bowling

Joe Sangi toppled 603 pins in the Central Rec League and Adabelle Markle pounded 144-202-180—526 in the Friendship for the best triples in last night's bowling in Kingston.

Sangi was off to a flying start with 224 and 215 and finished with 164. Miss Markle edged Elsie Dykes by three sticks.

Herm Seelbach was the individual leader in the Silver Palace with 182-210-188—580 and Lorin Auchmoody was the Booster League's best with 191-156-201—548.

Flemings Rolls 204

Dot Flemings took show money in the Friendship with 204—497 and Rose Mellert clipped 494. Dot Rawding and Bertha Schaller hit 493 and 491 respectively, while Marge Jansen completed the upper bracket with 485.

Rose Chamberland, who started the night with a 127 average, posted a 191 solo and Elsie Dykes, a 138-average keglerette, bashed the first "500" of her career. Kay McCardle, a 116-average performer, also stood out with 199.

J. Provenzanc's 560 was second best series in the Central Rec. Other top counts: Earl Sleight 553; Frank Bonacci 204—552; W. Pieper 548; Floyd Crantek 231—547; Allen Hoey 201—527; Frank Grimaldi 253 (high solo for the night) 526; Ronnie Mauro 201—525; W. Hornbeck 524; Carl Lundquist 202—517; W. Lawrence 505; Richard Zeeh 504 and F. Bruno 501.

F. Tackella's 465 took runnerup honors in the Federation International where B. Heins shot 205—461, R. Torrens 457 and F. Mollenhauer 455. In the National circuit, H. Ferguson hit for 509; Ferd Short 498; E. Kittle 469; D. Donaldson 468; R. Lang 467; G. Howland 462 and A. MacDaniel 460.

P. Duffy Hits 416

P. Duffy's 416 trailed A. Miller in the Business Girls wheel. I. Maurer rolled 403, M. Kirtson 397 and J. Saccoman 393 to round out the first five. Sue Heins' 444 was second best in the Hercules Women. Other good pinfall was credited to Joe Webster 435, Jean Fatum 433, Louise Jordan 433 and Rita Amarello 400.

Bill Mohr opened with 222 and closed with 578 in the Silver Palace. Larry Jacobs made a strong finish with 235—557; John Thompson shot 557; Joe Mannello 548; Ralph Mayone 203—554; Vince Noble 530; Ray Otto 522; Frank Russano 208—521; J. Sharot 521; Clarence Herdman 201—514; Elwood Robinson 513; Cosmos Costello 506; Jack Martin 200—504; and Perc Slover 504.

John Letus rolled 523 in the Booster and Don Keyser had 520. Also of note were Form Coughlin's 504; Jim Howard and Roger Grossbohlin 480s. Grossbohlin achieved a 160-triplicate. Bob Tierney posted 474; Bill Leach 472; Bob Goldstein 468; J. Gillen 464 and Dave Ashdown 461.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Poughkeepsie observers, notably George Palmateer, the sports ed., returned from the Blues' Saturday debacle against Newburgh Academy convinced that the Goldbacks are probably the equal of the 1948 KHS juggernaut and maybe the best in more than a decade in the mid-Hudson area.

Palmateer, after watching the ponderous Newburgh line throw Poughkeepsie backs for losses totalling 124 yards, block three kicks and recover numerous fumbles, gave the Goldbacks unqualified praise.

"We've been watching high school football squads for some time," he wrote in his Sports Scene, "but we can't recall a better team than this 1951 Newburgh blend. We weren't in this business when Poughkeepsie teams were chomping through the DUSO previously, so we have no opinion on the relative strength of those powerhouses and the present circuit rulers. But they would have to have been awfully good to be better."

The game left Palmateer with the impression that the boys in the line too often are overlooked.

"Surely, it was the Newburgh line which turned the tide of battle," he wrote. "Unable to hold off the powerful surge of the forward wall, Poughkeepsie's attack, except for brief flurries, was smothered."

Poughkeepsie partisans naturally are hopeful that Kingston can achieve the miracle of upsetting the Goldbacks on Turkey Day. This would enable the Blues to tie for the 1951 football pennant. But they're not too sure.

"A Kingston victory over this hammering horde seems out of the question," said Palmateer.

This ponderous Newburgh line must be a sight to behold. And at right tackle they have playful little Tony Ponessa, a young 240-pound giant who delights in blocking punts and making things miserable for opposing backfield men. In Don Jackson they boast the mightiest high school runner in the district, a dazzling, hard-driving back who has spearheaded Newburgh's brilliant successes. Richie Spreer, the basketball whiz, is an able passer.

This Newburgh juggernaut has resourcefulness, agility, guile and power. What else can you ask?

"Bo" Gill, the part-time waterboy of the Los Angeles Rams, has been making like Gabriel about the Goldbacks since the start of the season. Gill's confidence in Coach Stan Hemingway's boys was apparently not misplaced. He will lead the hungry horde to Kingston to exact its full cup of revenge and the gates of mercy will be closed that day. That 8-1-1 five-year record taunts Newburgh followers who were accustomed to having their teams whip Kingston with monotonous ease. Not so, since Bill Burke came on the scene.

What about Kingston's chances? Anything can happen in a football game as Holy Cross showed Boston College one day.

Bill Burke will do a good job getting the Maroons "up" for the big one. He can sow the seeds of inspiration for what could be a tremendous upset.

If the Maroon gridders don't bounce back from the Port Jervis shambles and gear themselves mentally and physically for Newburgh, well, who was it that once said . . . apres nous . . . le deluge!

• Hot Stove League:

Stan Musial has passed Ted Williams in the race for top life-time batting average among active major leaguers. Musial's figure at the end of the 1951 campaign was .3473 compared to Williams' .3466. Two bad years—.317 in 1950 and .318 in 1951—cost Williams the lead to Stan The Man who batted .350 in 1950 and .346 this year. Richie Ashburn's big year with the Phils—.344—sent his lifetime BA soaring from .304 to .315. . . . Can-Am League directors have important business meeting Sunday in Oneonta. Russ Myer, the temperamental Chicago Cub right hander, rates Ralph Kiner far ahead of Gil Hodges as a hitter. "You can pitch Hodges high and tight, and then curve him outside," says Myer. "But such is not the case with Kiner. I remember one day when I was pitching for the Cubs, and thought I fooled Kiner with a low, ouside curve. Ralph didn't get too much wood on it—didn't hit it good at all, as he was reaching—but still blasted the ball into the left field bleachers." Did Ad Jones receive a bid for the Colonial franchise in the Can-Am League?

Sports of the Day

(IN BRIEF)
(By The Associated Press)

New York—The professional football Giants signed Bosh Pritchard, veteran halfback released by the Philadelphia Eagles.

Boston—The Boston Red Sox traded pitcher Chuck Stobbs and infielder Mel Hoderlein to the Chicago White Sox for pitcher Randy Gumpert and outfielder Don Lenhardt.

Fort Jackson, S. C.—Walter Brukemo of Detroit and Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N. Y., took the first round lead in the Fort Jackson Open with 67's.

Demon Hanover Retires to Stud

Columbus, O., Nov. 14 (AP)—Demon Hanover who won the 1948 Hambletonian and currently leads the money-winning trotting stallions, has been sold to two Ohio attorneys who will put him at stud.

A spokesman for the U. S. Trotting Association said early today Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Hoyt of Bethel, Conn., sold the trotter to Henry and Robert Critchfield of Wooster, O.

The price reportedly was between $75,000 and $100,000.

Demon Hanover was foaled in 1945 at the Hanover Shoe Farms, Harrisburgh, Pa. Hoyt bought him at auction for $2600, and three years later drove him home in the Hambletonian to become the first amateur driver to win that classic.

Named the best trotter of the year in 1948, Demon Hanover won the $50,000 Roosevelt two-mile trot the following year, and took seconds in the 1950 and '51 Hambletonian. This year he won the American Trotting Championship at Roosevelt Raceway.

Ortiz Quits

Los Angeles, Nov. 14 (AP)—Manuel Ortiz, who ruled the world bantamweight division from 1942 to 1950, has decided to hang up the gloves. Ortiz, now a rotund 35, was slated to meet Ray Famechon in Paris Dec. 3 but he told his former manager, Tommy Farmer, yesterday that he is quitting the ring for keeps.

Hague Says He Has Enough Cash For Libel Suit

Camden, N. J., Nov. 14 (AP)—Former Jersey City Mayor Frank Hague admits he has sufficient amount of wealth to cover a $2,000,000 libel suit against him, but refuses to disclose whether he has more than that amount, his lawyer says.

Hague's attorney, former U. S. Senator John Milton, gave the first indication of the size of Hague's wealth at a special pretrial hearing Friday in Superior Court on the suit filed by John Warren.

Milton had been called to answer 80 questions at the hearing before Superior Court Judge Frank T. Lloyd. The questions, submitted in writing by Warren's attorneys, concerned the ex-Democratic mayor's wealth.

Outgrowth of Dispute

Warren's suit, postponed many times, is an outgrowth of a political dispute between himself and Hague in 1941.

Hague's highest position was that of mayor of Jersey City—a position for which he received approximately $8,000 a year.

Written questions he refused to answer will be dealt with at the trial which is scheduled to start Nov. 26 at Freehold before Judge Lloyd.

Proceedings at Friday's hearings were devoted to determining whether Hague should be required to give details of his wealth and holdings in excess of the $2,000,000 figure and how far back in his business dealings the case should delve.

Milton said his client would not answer any questions about his entire property and would admit only that he owned enough wealth to cover the damages sought.

Democrats Draft Plan

Albany, Nov. 14 (AP)—The Democrats today were reported drafting a reapportionment bill that would erase the House seat of Rep. W. Sterling Cole of Bath and "save" the 37th District seat usually controlled by the southern tier GOP leader, William H. Hill of Binghamton. The Democratic minority measure, it was said, would differ drastically on other controversial points in the Republican state organization's plan to reapportion New York's 45 congressional districts into 43. Meanwhile, it was learned, Chairman Pliny W. Williamson of the joint legislative committee on reapportionment, would confer with Governor Dewey here Friday on selection of a date for a special session of the Legislature to act on congressional redistricting.

Port Jervis Chief Starts Court Action

Port Jervis, N. Y., Nov. 14 (AP)—John J. Powrie, suspended acting police chief of Port Jervis, has begun court action to set aside a special grand jury report which charged he permitted gambling in Port Jervis.

An order was served on Corporation Counsel Harry Silvers yesterday asking that the city show cause why the grand jury report should not be set aside. The writ challenged the grand jury's jurisdiction in the case.

The order is returnable Nov. 16 in a special term of Supreme Court at White Plains.

The grand jury report said Powrie's "retention as acting police chief or in any other capacity in the department seemed unwarranted." Later he was suspended pending trial before the mayor and city council on six charges of misconduct in office and conduct unbecoming an officer. That trial has been set for Dec. 3.

Before Kraft made his appeal, Gonzalo Restrepo Jaramillo of Colombia urged UN membership for Italy, Spain and "all other countries which uphold the principles of the United Nations Charter."

Pakistan's Foreign Minister Sir Mohammed Zafrullah Khan delivered a slashing attack on what he called "the assumed superiority of those who choose to describe themselves as the white races, over those whom they regard as the non-white races."

This assumed superiority, he said, found its most familiar expression in colonialism, which Sir Zafrullah called "the biggest political problem of the day."

Practical Proof Asked

Apparently referring to claims by the U. S.-Britain and France to lead the free world, the Pakistani foreign minister said:

"It behooves those who desire to prove both to themselves and to others that they are devoted to the cause of freedom to give practical proof of such devotion by assuming leadership in the cause of the political freedom of dependent peoples. Until this is demonstrated beyond a doubt, their claim will continue to ring hollow and will fail to convince."

He paid tribute to Britain for "a measure of unique political faith unprecedented in constitutional history" in agreeing to the independence of India, Pakistan, Burma and Ceylon. But, he continued, there are vast areas where Britain and other countries have not followed this example.

Colonialism, he declared, is a "false notion, a vicious principle, an immoral relationship which  perisists in fouling the channels of human intercourse and in breeding ills and disorders."

Lions Entertain Enforcement Men

Representatives of all levels of police authority—federal, state, county and local— were guests of the Kingston Lions Club at a law enforcement program at the Governor Clinton Hotel Tuesday at noon.

Main speaker was Special Agent Louis Hurley of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Hurley outlined the growth of law enforcement from the days when a cop with a nightstick beat a confession out of a suspect up to the present, when law enforcement has become a profession, utilizing the latest in scientific methods.

Hurley stressed the cooperation which exists between all enforcement agencies, which, he said, makes it possible for the country to get along without a national police force. The FBI Police Academy, a monthly and a semi-annual publication, and law enforcement schools arranged through cooperation of state and county agencies tend to coordinate the efforts of all police groups, Hurley said.

He called for a public aroused to the fact that it gets the amount of law enforcement it pays for. "Unfortunately, officers of the law have to eat," he said, and the ratio of their efficiency varies directly with their pay check."

Hurley was introduced by Peter Keresman, secretary of the New York State Police Conference. Keresman said that law enforcement is "as efficient as we want it to be, and no better." He also said that laws are not passed to be enforced, but to be obeyed, and called for public cooperation in respecting the country's laws.

Other guests present were Sgt. Arthur A. Reilly of the State Police Bureau of Criminal Investigation; Sheriff Cluett Schantz; Edward Leonard, past president of the Kingston Patrolman's Association, and Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy.

Three Men Burned To Death in Fire; Show Is Damaged

Pryor, Okla., Nov. 14 (AP)—Towering flames from a gasoline pump trapped three men in a service station last night, burning them to death, injuring two others and damaging a $100,000 touring show exhibit.

The three trapped in the station were identified as Cecil H. Strope, Montrose, Mo.; Bill Ellingsworth, Kansas City, Mo., and William D. Odle, Pryor.

Carl Drake of Columbus, O., driver of a truck carrying the $100,000 exhibits of Ripley's Believe-It-Or-Not show, said he escaped through the station window.

Drake said the fire apparently was started by static electricity from one of two trucks being fueled in the station driveway. Drake's truck and part of the exhibit were damaged.

Rank Is Approved

Key West, Fla., Nov. 14 (AP)—President Truman has approved the personal rank of ambassador for Edwin A. Locke, Jr., who will direct the flow of American funds and technical aid in the Near East. The President yesterday named the young New York banker as coordinator of aid for the Near East Arab states, Israel, Iran, Iraq and other countries which will receive aid under the new mutual security act. Locke served as assistant to Chairman Donald Nelson of the War Production Board during World War 2. In 1947 he returned to the Chase National Bank in New York as a vice president, after previous association with that bank.

"sagging and cracking" and its bottom beams and floor are decayed. This, she said, she was informed was due to seepage, but was later told that the water came from overflow of a manhole when its cover was lifted by heavy pressure. She invited the aldermen to investigate.

Settlement Authorized

Corporation Counsel Connelly informed the council that Anna and Nathan Novig, of 87 Franklin street, who had filed claims totalling $6,000, were willing to settle for $250 and the aldermen authorized the settlement.

The claims, $5,000 for Anna and $1,000 for her husband, were filed in June 1949, and were for injuries and loss of services due to a fall on a sidewalk on Fair and Main streets on March 28, 1949.

The council authorized a zoning change on the application of Sam and Mary Lawrence for the enlargement of a dry cleaning establishment at 2-10 Walnut street. The laws and rules committee report said there had been no opposition at a public hearing on the petition last Oct. 11.

A zoning amendment petition submitted through Attorney Abraham Streifer for Alfred and Joseph Horowitz and asking a business designation for 401-03 Hasbrouck avenue, was referred to the laws and rules committee. The property is to be used by the J & A Roofing Co., for warehouse purposes. About 50 signatures accompanied the petition.

A letter and post card from Alderman Charles Cole of the 13th Ward, who was called as a reservist into the U. S. Navy several months ago, was read by City Clerk Bernhardt Kramer to the aldermen.

Misses Colleagues

Cole said he is with an amphibious force flagship and is the leading petty officer of a signal group. He indicated that he missed working with his colleagues in the council and said he had considered it an honor to work "with a group of men who were faithful to their constituents and were fighting for what they believed to be right."

On the point of political differences, he said, "when we fail to differ, we have lost democracy." Both the letter and card were from somewhere in Cuba and the letter was apparently written on the USS Pocono.

Alderman-at-large Kelly suggested that all of the aldermen obtain Cole's address and drop him a line as soon as possible.

Three of the newly elected aldermen John Dolan of the eighth ward, William Golden of the ninth and James Ryan of the 10th ward, sat beside incumbents in their respective wards on invitation of the alderman-at-large.

Dolan will succeed Joseph N. Bruck in the Eighth ward, Golden will replace Paul J. Schatzel in the Ninth and Ryan will take the place of James J. Carroll who was elected supervisor in the 10th ward.

Joseph F. Wenzel, who will replace John Buboltz in the Fourth ward and William J. Parmalee who defeated Madeline C. Cole in the 13th ward are expected to attend the next council session.

Club Members Attend

Members of the Civic Club of the Immaculate Conception School were brought to the meeting as guests of Fourth Ward Alderman Buboltz, to observe Common Council proceedings. They were welcomed by Alderman-at-Large Kelly, and the officers were invited to sit with him on the dais so they might better hear details of the meeting.

The following resolutions were read and referred: Storms: That a street light be placed at the east end of Deyo street, and one at York Place and Harding avenue—Referred to BPW.

Storms: That a no-parking area be designated on the north side of Harding avenue starting at the corner of Albany avenue and extending 30 feet in Harding avenue—traffic control committee.

Storms: That one-hour parking signs be placed on the downtown side of Downs street from Broadway to the railroad and on the uptown side from Broadway to Rienzo's market, and that a loading zone be considered for the market—traffic.

Radel: That a street light be placed at Wood and Van Gaasbeck streets—B.P.W.

Carroll: That a street light be placed in front of 39 Prospect street—B.P.W.

Drinking Pays Off

Columbus, O. (AP)— State Liquor Director William C. Bryant predicts the department's net profit will hit an all-time high of $20 million this year. Ohioans buy liquor through a system of state liquor stores. Bryant says 1951 sales should run between $170 million and $175 million. The previous record profit was $16,943,364 in 1947 on total sales of $137,528,157.

Educators to Meet

Dr. Francis J. Daly, director of the division of Pupil Personnel Services, State Department, Albany, will address school administrators, teachers, and guidance counselors from Dutchess, Orange, Rockland, Sullivan and Ulster counties at a luncheon Nov. 15 at the State University Teachers College in New Paltz. The luncheon is a part of a two-day guidance workshop sponsored by the State Education Department under the program for the Readjustment of High School Education. Approximately 75 school men and women of the area are expected to attend.

Demon Hanover Retires to Stud

Columbus, O., Nov. 14 (AP)—Demon Hanover who won the 1948 Hambletonian and currently leads the money-winning trotting stallions, has been sold to two Ohio attorneys who will put him at stud.

A spokesman for the U. S. Trotting Association said early today Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Hoyt of Bethel, Conn., sold the trotter to Henry and Robert Critchfield of Wooster, O.

The price reportedly was between $75,000 and $100,000.

Demon Hanover was foaled in 1945 at the Hanover Shoe Farms, Harrisburgh, Pa. Hoyt bought him at auction for $2600, and three years later drove him home in the Hambletonian to become the first amateur driver to win that classic.

Named the best trotter of the year in 1948, Demon Hanover won the $50,000 Roosevelt two-mile trot the following year, and took seconds in the 1950 and '51 Hambletonian. This year he won the American Trotting Championship at Roosevelt Raceway.

Hague Says He Has Enough Cash For Libel Suit

Camden, N. J., Nov. 14 (AP)—Former Jersey City Mayor Frank Hague admits he has sufficient amount of wealth to cover a $2,000,000 libel suit against him, but refuses to disclose whether he has more than that amount, his lawyer says.

Hague's attorney, former U. S. Senator John Milton, gave the first indication of the size of Hague's wealth at a special pretrial hearing Friday in Superior Court on the suit filed by John Warren.

Milton had been called to answer 80 questions at the hearing before Superior Court Judge Frank T. Lloyd. The questions, submitted in writing by Warren's attorneys, concerned the ex-Democratic mayor's wealth.

Outgrowth of Dispute

Warren's suit, postponed many times, is an outgrowth of a political dispute between himself and Hague in 1941.

Hague's highest position was that of mayor of Jersey City—a position for which he received approximately $8,000 a year.

Written questions he refused to answer will be dealt with at the trial which is scheduled to start Nov. 26 at Freehold before Judge Lloyd.

Proceedings at Friday's hearings were devoted to determining whether Hague should be required to give details of his wealth and holdings in excess of the $2,000,000 figure and how far back in his business dealings the case should delve.

Milton said his client would not answer any questions about his entire property and would admit only that he owned enough wealth to cover the damages sought.

Democrats Draft Plan

Albany, Nov. 14 (AP)—The Democrats today were reported drafting a reapportionment bill that would erase the House seat of Rep. W. Sterling Cole of Bath and "save" the 37th District seat usually controlled by the southern tier GOP leader, William H. Hill of Binghamton. The Democratic minority measure, it was said, would differ drastically on other controversial points in the Republican state organization's plan to reapportion New York's 45 congressional districts into 43. Meanwhile, it was learned, Chairman Pliny W. Williamson of the joint legislative committee on reapportionment, would confer with Governor Dewey here Friday on selection of a date for a special session of the Legislature to act on congressional redistricting.

Port Jervis Chief Starts Court Action

Port Jervis, N. Y., Nov. 14 (AP)—John J. Powrie, suspended acting police chief of Port Jervis, has begun court action to set aside a special grand jury report which charged he permitted gambling in Port Jervis.

An order was served on Corporation Counsel Harry Silvers yesterday asking that the city show cause why the grand jury report should not be set aside. The writ challenged the grand jury's jurisdiction in the case.

The order is returnable Nov. 16 in a special term of Supreme Court at White Plains.

The grand jury report said Powrie's "retention as acting police chief or in any other capacity in the department seemed unwarranted." Later he was suspended pending trial before the mayor and city council on six charges of misconduct in office and conduct unbecoming an officer. That trial has been set for Dec. 3.

Apparently referring to claims by the U. S.-Britain and France to lead the free world, the Pakistani foreign minister said:

"It behooves those who desire to prove both to themselves and to others that they are devoted to the cause of freedom to give practical proof of such devotion by assuming leadership in the cause of the political freedom of dependent peoples. He paid tribute to Britain for "a measure of unique political faith unprecedented in constitutional history" in agreeing to the independence of India, Pakistan, Burma and Ceylon. But, he continued, there are vast areas where Britain and other countries have not followed this example.

Lions Entertain Enforcement Men

Representatives of all levels of police authority—federal, state, county and local— were guests of the Kingston Lions Club at a law enforcement program at the Governor Clinton Hotel Tuesday at noon.

Main speaker was Special Agent Louis Hurley of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Hurley outlined the growth of law enforcement from the days when a cop with a nightstick beat a confession out of a suspect up to the present, when law enforcement has become a profession, utilizing the latest in scientific methods.

Hurley stressed the cooperation which exists between all enforcement agencies, which, he said, makes it possible for the country to get along without a national police force. The FBI Police Academy, a monthly and a semi-annual publication, and law enforcement schools arranged through cooperation of state and county agencies tend to coordinate the efforts of all police groups, Hurley said.

He called for a public aroused to the fact that it gets the amount of law enforcement it pays for. "Unfortunately, officers of the law have to eat," he said, and the ratio of their efficiency varies directly with their pay check."

Hurley was introduced by Peter Keresman, secretary of the New York State Police Conference. Keresman said that law enforcement is "as efficient as we want it to be, and no better." He also said that laws are not passed to be enforced, but to be obeyed, and called for public cooperation in respecting the country's laws.

Other guests present were Sgt. Arthur A. Reilly of the State Police Bureau of Criminal Investigation; Sheriff Cluett Schantz; Edward Leonard, past president of the Kingston Patrolman's Association, and Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy.

Three Men Burned To Death in Fire; Show Is Damaged

Pryor, Okla., Nov. 14 (AP)—Towering flames from a gasoline pump trapped three men in a service station last night, burning them to death, injuring two others and damaging a $100,000 touring show exhibit.

The three trapped in the station were identified as Cecil H. Strope, Montrose, Mo.; Bill Ellingsworth, Kansas City, Mo., and William D. Odle, Pryor.

Carl Drake of Columbus, O., driver of a truck carrying the $100,000 exhibits of Ripley's Believe-It-Or-Not show, said he escaped through the station window.

Drake said the fire apparently was started by static electricity from one of two trucks being fueled in the station driveway. Drake's truck and part of the exhibit were damaged.

A letter and post card from Alderman Charles Cole of the 13th Ward, who was called as a reservist into the U. S. Navy several months ago, was read by City Clerk Bernhardt Kramer to the aldermen.

Alderman-at-large Kelly suggested that all of the aldermen obtain Cole's address and drop him a line as soon as possible.

Three of the newly elected aldermen John Dolan of the eighth ward, William Golden of the ninth and James Ryan of the 10th ward, sat beside incumbents in their respective wards on invitation of the alderman-at-large.

Dolan will succeed Joseph N. Bruck in the Eighth ward, Golden will replace Paul J. Schatzel in the Ninth and Ryan will take the place of James J. Carroll who was elected supervisor in the 10th ward.

Joseph F. Wenzel, who will replace John Buboltz in the Fourth ward and William J. Parmalee who defeated Madeline C. Cole in the 13th ward are expected to attend the next council session.

Members of the Civic Club of the Immaculate Conception School were brought to the meeting as guests of Fourth Ward Alderman Buboltz, to observe Common Council proceedings. They were welcomed by Alderman-at-Large Kelly, and the officers were invited to sit with him on the dais so they might better hear details of the meeting.

Officers of the club are: Nancy Demski, president; Thomas Mooney, vice-president; Katherine Szymanskie, secretary-treasurer and Paul Sipesy, sergeant-at-arms. The group took notes during the session and the alderman-at-large explained the proceedings.

The following resolutions were read and referred: Storms: That a street light be placed at the east end of Deyo street, and one at York Place and Harding avenue—Referred to BPW.

Storms: That a no-parking area be designated on the north side of Harding avenue starting at the corner of Albany avenue and extending 30 feet in Harding avenue—traffic control committee.

Storms: That one-hour parking signs be placed on the downtown side of Downs street from Broadway to the railroad and on the uptown side from Broadway to Rienzo's market, and that a loading zone be considered for the market—traffic.

Buboltz: That a policeman be placed at the intersection of Hasbrouck and Newkirk avenues for the protection of school children—traffic and police chief.

Radel: That a street light be placed at Wood and Van Gaasbeck streets—B.P.W.

Carroll: That a street light be placed in front of 39 Prospect street—B.P.W.

Drinking Pays Off

Columbus, O. (AP)— State Liquor Director William C. Bryant predicts the department's net profit will hit an all-time high of $20 million this year. Ohioans buy liquor through a system of state liquor stores. Bryant says 1951 sales should run between $170 million and $175 million. The previous record profit was $16,943,364 in 1947 on total sales of $137,528,157.

Educators to Meet

Dr. Francis J. Daly, director of the division of Pupil Personnel Services, State Department, Albany, will address school administrators, teachers, and guidance counselors from Dutchess, Orange, Rockland, Sullivan and Ulster counties at a luncheon Nov. 15 at the State University Teachers College in New Paltz. The luncheon is a part of a two-day guidance workshop sponsored by the State Education Department under the program for the Readjustment of High School Education. Approximately 75 school men and women of the area are expected to attend.

Second Child Dies As Result of Her Mother's Action

Riverhead, N. Y., Nov. 14 (AP)—Sixteen-months-old Mary Hrostoski died last night, victim of her mother's alleged attempt at suicide that also killed her three-year-old brother, Joseph, Jr.

The mother, Mrs. Barbara Jean Hrostoski, 33, an ex-army nurse, was told of the baby's death when she appeared in Islip town court today for examination on a charge of murdering her son.

Sitting on a bench in the courtroom, her husband, Joseph blurted out the news between sobs.

She wept constantly and the examination was waived.

"Honey, thank God we got there (to the hospital) before she died," Hrostoski told her.

"She even opened her eyes and looked at me.

"God is merciful."

Four Bitter Days

In a purported statement to police Monday, Mrs. Hrostoski was quoted as saying she planned to kill herself and the children after four days of bitter argument with her husband over his accusation that she had been unfaithful.

At Suffolk County jail, where she is held, Warden Myron Hanse said he had ordered an around-the-clock guard over Mrs. Hrostoski.

She was reported fighting sleep and refusing food.

State Police Lieutenant John Manopoli said the death of the second child would not figure in today's hearing.

Manopoli and Suffolk County District Attorney Lindsay R. Henry agreed, however, that they would ask a grand jury on Monday for a double murder indictment against the mother.

Among those visiting Mrs. Hrostoski in jail yesterday was a lawyer who quoted Mrs. Hrostoski as saying, "I did not mean to kill my baby. It was an accident."

"I blame it on demon rum," Krupski said.

Police said Mrs. Hrostoski admitted she was drinking Sunday, police said.

Chamber Names Group For Election Work

Clarence H. Buddenhagen of Pardee's Insurance Agency was named chairman of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce committee on elections at a meeting of the board of directors Tuesday night. Other members named are Dr. John A. Cooke, Jr., Hugh R. Elwyn, William A. Evans, Oscar J. Lawatsch, John I. Snyder, and George Svirsky.

A membership report showed that 411 memberships have been paid since the beginning of the budget year May 1, and 16 active members have not expired. This makes a total of 427 active memberships now on the rolls and does not include several prospective members reported by the board.

The possibility of holding a local meeting on Wage Stabilization was discussed. No action was taken, but if any members of the Chamber believe that there would be sufficient interest in such a meeting, it would be possible to get a speaker from the WSB.

President Lawrence J. MacAvery also said that a special meeting of the board of directors may be called in about two weeks to consider the appointment of one or more special committees.

Los Angeles, Nov. 14 (AP)—Mrs. Helen Cosgrove won custody of her grandchild yesterday because the child was fathered by her own husband.

Mrs. Cosgrove, 39, said Vickie Dianne, 3, was the first of two children borne by her daughter, Joan Lee Ervin, 19. Her second husband, Albert Cosgrove, 42, had admitted he was the father of Vickie and of a son born two months ago.

Middletown, N. Y., Nov. 14 (AP)—Middletown City Judge J. Allen Ballman, under suspension for a month and a half because of an assault charge against him, returned to the bench today.

He resumed his duties after Orange County Judge Raphael A. Egan dismissed the assault charge.

Ballman had been suspended in late September when a grand jury accused him of entering the home of his former wife, Gladys Ballman, last June and threatening her with a pistol.

Paltz Shoemaker Is Found Guilty

A Bronx county court jury found Gino Catalano, 52, of (20 North Chestnut St.) New Paltz, N. Y., guilty of first-degree grand larceny.

Judge James M. Barrett set Dec. 7 for sentencing.

Catalano, who wooed and swindled Mrs. Josephine Ferrara, 50, of (2839 Grand Concourse) the Bronx, could get up to 10 years in prison.

The state charged that Catalano, posing as a bachelor real estate man, promised to marry Mrs. Ferrara, a widow, and then talked her into handing over the $3,500 to invest in real estate.

On New Year's eve 1950, he and Mrs. Ferrara were out shopping when they met a woman who knew Catalano's family. Said she: How's your wife and family?"

This broke the friendship club romance, landed Catalano in jail and all Mrs. Ferrara got was his IOU.

Two More Jurors

tally responsible for his act. Defense counsel Whitman Knapp of New York and Howard C. St. John, Kingston attorney, will offer testimony to the effect that at the time of the shooting Kelly was not mentally responsible for his act under the provisions of the Penal Law and that he did not know or understand the nature of the act.

Also Shot Self

Kelly, after shooting Mrs. McHugh, turned the gun on himself and inflicted a slight wound on the forehead as he stood outside the parked car in which he had followed Mrs. McHugh to the scene.

Convicted once of first degree murder and sentenced to electrocution in Sing Sing prison, Kelly obtained a reversal of that conviction and was granted a new trial by the Court of Appeals on an error in the charge to the jury.

Throughout the trial thus far Kelly has remained extremely calm and has displayed no emotion as he sat at counsel table during the examination of prospective jurors. At times he has consulted with counsel during the examination of jurors and when a decision is to be made as to whether a juror is acceptable or not to sit on the panel.

At 9:30 a. m. today another extra panel of 50 jurors was drawn from the county box for attendance Thursday morning.

Two Local Stores Named by Lane As Price Violators

Two Kingston stores were listed by the Associated Press today as among eight in downstate New York against which Attorney Myles J. Lane has filed price control complaints.

The local stores are Esposito Cleaners and Clothiers, Inc.; and the Brother and Sister Shop, now out of business.

The complaints were filed in Federal Court, New York yesterday after a survey by Office of Price Stabilization investigators, the regional OPS office said.

Injunctions were sought in the complaints, the OPS said, to restrain the retailers from conducting business until they file price charts with the OPS.

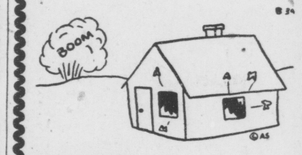

The other stores were in Yonkers, Nyack, Spring Valley and Portchester.

Death Toll Mounts

Milan, Italy, Nov. 14 (AP)—The death toll from northern Italy's flood mounted to 47 today. The waters of the Po—Italy's biggest river—continued to rise, threatening thousands of acres of valuable farmland. Some towns were being evacuated. Men and boys stacked sandbags to hold back the water. Torrential rains of the past few days let up and there was some hope the waters would soon begin to recede. Damage in southern Italy—where more than 100 died—is estimated at 12 billion lire ($20 million).

Paltz Shoemaker Is Found Guilty

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—A married shoemaker was convicted Tuesday of taking $3,500 from a widow he met through a friendship club.

A Bronx county court jury found Gino Catalano, 52, of (20 North Chestnut St.) New Paltz, N. Y., guilty of first-degree grand larceny.

Judge James M. Barrett set Dec. 7 for sentencing.

Catalano, who wooed and swindled Mrs. Josephine Ferrara, 50, of (2839 Grand Concourse) the Bronx, could get up to 10 years in prison.

The state charged that Catalano, posing as a bachelor real estate man, promised to marry Mrs. Ferrara, a widow, and then talked her into handing over the $3,500 to invest in real estate.

On New Year's eve 1950, he and Mrs. Ferrara were out shopping when they met a woman who knew Catalano's family. Said she: How's your wife and family?"

This broke the friendship club romance, landed Catalano in jail and all Mrs. Ferrara got was his IOU.

Two More Jurors

tally responsible for his act. Defense counsel Whitman Knapp of New York and Howard C. St. John, Kingston attorney, will offer testimony to the effect that at the time of the shooting Kelly was not mentally responsible for his act under the provisions of the Penal Law and that he did not know or understand the nature of the act.

Also Shot Self

Kelly, after shooting Mrs. McHugh, turned the gun on himself and inflicted a slight wound on the forehead as he stood outside the parked car in which he had followed Mrs. McHugh to the scene.

Convicted once of first degree murder and sentenced to electrocution in Sing Sing prison, Kelly obtained a reversal of that conviction and was granted a new trial by the Court of Appeals on an error in the charge to the jury.

Throughout the trial thus far Kelly has remained extremely calm and has displayed no emotion as he sat at counsel table during the examination of prospective jurors. At times he has consulted with counsel during the examination of jurors and when a decision is to be made as to whether a juror is acceptable or not to sit on the panel.

At 9:30 a. m. today another extra panel of 50 jurors was drawn from the county box for attendance Thursday morning.

Two Local Stores Named by Lane As Price Violators

Two Kingston stores were listed by the Associated Press today as among eight in downstate New York against which Attorney Myles J. Lane has filed price control complaints.

The local stores are Esposito Cleaners and Clothiers, Inc.; and the Brother and Sister Shop, now out of business.

The complaints were filed in Federal Court, New York yesterday after a survey by Office of Price Stabilization investigators, the regional OPS office said.

Injunctions were sought in the complaints, the OPS said, to restrain the retailers from conducting business until they file price charts with the OPS.

The other stores were in Yonkers, Nyack, Spring Valley and Portchester.

Death Toll Mounts

Milan, Italy, Nov. 14 (AP)—The death toll from northern Italy's flood mounted to 47 today. The waters of the Po—Italy's biggest river—continued to rise, threatening thousands of acres of valuable farmland. Some towns were being evacuated. Men and boys stacked sandbags to hold back the water. Torrential rains of the past few days let up and there was some hope the waters would soon begin to recede. Damage in southern Italy—where more than 100 died—is estimated at 12 billion lire ($20 million).

QUESTION: Some friends of ours in another city had most of their windows broken by an explosion in an industrial plant some distance away. What insurance would cover that damage?
ANSWER: The addition of an Extended Coverage clause to an ordinary fire policy would give the necessary protection.
